British Premier Warns of War Peril

LEADERS URGED TO 'KEEP COOL,' WORK FOR PEACE

Commons Debates Spanish Conflict.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—There is grave danger of a general European war, but the situation is "not hopeless" and with "patience, caution and restraint" the British government hopes to avert such a catastrophe, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today.

Neville Chamberlain.

Defending the government against attacks by Laborites and Liberals for its policy in the Spanish civil war, Chamberlain declared that he will continue the present policy of exerting every effort to prevent the Spanish war from spreading to the rest of the continent. He also said the government will make every effort to appease Germany.

After a bitter debate, which at times became riotous, the house voted, 157 to 86, to support the government's policy.

Soothes Berlin and Rome.

Chamberlain handled Germany and Italy, who have been noisily demanding joint action by all the European powers against what they term the "bolshevist government of Spain," with kid gloves. He urged that they return to full cooperation with the other nations trying to isolate the Spanish conflict.

Urging that the leaders in Europe keep "cool heads," he promised that the British government would not "say or do anything to precipitate a situation which everybody wishes to avoid."

"In the high mountains, conditions sometimes are found when a loud exclamation may start an avalanche," he declared. "That is our position in Europe today. We must exercise every precaution.

"The situation is serious, but not hopeless. If we can exercise patience, caution, and restraint we may yet be able to save the peace of Europe.

"Although it may be true that there are governments which desire to see one side or the other victorious [in Spain], there is no government or country which wants to see a European war.

Admits Interference in Spain.

"The policy of the British government has been directed to only one aim—to keep the peace of Europe by keeping the war within Spain. We intend to pursue that policy as long as there is reasonable hope of avoiding a spread of the conflict.

"It is true that intervention in Spain has gone on and is going on in spite of the nonintervention agreement. Yet it is also true that up to the present time we have succeeded in achieving the object which has been at the back of that policy the whole time."

Chamberlain condoned Germany's cocksure attitude in the matter of the alleged torpedo attack recently on the German cruiser Leipzig off Algeria. The Nazi government has insisted that the European powers accept as infallible and without investigation its allegations that a Spanish submarine launched torpedoes at the Leipzig. Chamberlain said he could understand the German attitude on grounds that the Nazis were excited.

Maj. Clement R. Atlee, speaking for the Labor party, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, speaking for the Liberals, attacked the government. They charged that the nonintervention policy had failed and should be scrapped and the Spanish issue taken to the league of nations. Atlee said the nonintervention policy is a "farce" and charged that the British government is "supporting Germany."

One sensation of the day was a

Slay Painters' Union Official at His Home

Robert A. Shields, 54 years old, financial secretary of the painters' union, local 184, was shot and killed a few minutes before midnight last night in the rear of his home at 3451 West 61st street by an unidentified assassin who fired upon him unawares. He was a brother of Roy [Muckles] Shields, business agent for the union, who has had a notorious career as a labor leader.

The only practical clew to the slayer was a package of cigarets which he dropped near the scene and which will be examined for finger prints. As to motives, police said they were at a loss, but began looking into recent bombings in the city and north shore attributed to troubles within the union.

Assassins Show Skill.

The assassination was carried out with the skill used in old time prohibition and labor gang warfare. Two men were involved, one of whom fired the fatal shots. The other remained in a black sedan parked almost in front of the Shields home.

Shields drove his car to the garage, which is in the rear of his home, at about 10 minutes to 12 o'clock. His wife, Mary, and his daughter, Betty 20 years old, heard the motor of his car. They did not hear the assassin creeping stealthily through the areaway alongside the house.

As Shields stepped to the garage door to unlock it the killer came from behind, leveled his gun, and, so far as is known, without a word fired five bullets into Shields' back. He fell to the ground dead. The killer fled through the areaway as noiselessly as he had passed through it a minute before, hopped into the waiting car, and sped east in 61st street with his accomplice.

Sees Slayers Escape.

John Brown, 3455 West 61st street, who heard the shots, looked out of his window in time to see the murderer get into the car and to hear him command his driver, "Well, let's go!" Brown said he could not identify the men.

The murder of Shields was simply another addition to the many disturbances within the painters' union during the last 20 years, during which shootings and dynamiting were frequent occurrences. The most recent included six bombings in the city and north suburbs last April over wage disputes. Shields' brother, Roy, is a veteran of the union's early scrapes and was once sentenced to jail for extortion, but pardoned.

Other recent headliners are James Dungan, business agent, and George Henneman, secretary-treasurer. Henneman's wife, Elsie, was slain in January, 1936, by gunmen who fired at him. He was subsequently sentenced to six months in jail for gun toting and is now appealing. A gun carrying charge against Dungan in the same case has been continued to Oct. 14 to await the outcome of Henneman's appeal. Dungan has been questioned in several bombings, notably those of 1931.

DAKOTA WIVES WHO GET SPANKED FORM A HAIRBRUSH CLUB

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 25.—(AP)—"Spare the hairbrush and spoil the wife" is the slogan of a new club formed by nineteen Sioux Falls wives, they disclosed today.

"Our club is made up of women who get spanked by their husbands when they need it," cheerfully announced Mrs. Lora Lane, Sioux Falls, the organization's voluntary publicity agent.

"Our husbands don't beat us; they just turn us over their knee and give us a good, sound spanking.

"Some husbands use hairbrushes, paddles, etc., and some their hands. Spanking makes home life happy and it saves lots of homes from the divorce courts. It also makes a woman feel like her husband really cares for her and creates a much better understanding between man and wife."

FIRST OF COUNTY 1936 TAX BILLS ARE MADE OUT

The first of the 1936 county tax bills, all for country townships, were completed yesterday by the tax extension department and sent to the township collectors for mailing. The first of the city bills, which will average nearly 10 per cent above those for 1935, will not be mailed until late next week, according to Mrs. Laura Weibler, head of the extension department.

It is planned that all of the tax bills will be in the mail by July 15 with the penalty date Aug. 15. Originally it was planned that the penalty deadline would be Aug. 1, but bills must be mailed 30 days before the penalty date.

Hurt in Wilds; Crawls 6 Days to Call Help

JASPER, Alberta, June 25.—(AP)—A veteran national parks warden lay badly injured in a hospital today while rescuers recounted his story of six days of agony, three of them spent in crawling just 200 yards to telephone for help after his horse trampled him.

The warden, Edward McDonald, had survived the long days and nights in the cold mountain air, without food and with grizzly bears stalking the vicinity. It was believed he has a broken pelvis and serious internal injuries.

McDonald's story, as rescuers told it, was this:

Last week two grizzlies kept him a prisoner in his cabin for two days after he shot at them. They finally disappeared and he started for Isaac creek after telephoning the national parks headquarters here he would be out of reach by telephone for several days.

Horse Frightened by Bears.

McDonald had gone only 200 yards when the huge bears reappeared and attacked. The horse bolted and trampled the warden.

For three days he lay without moving. His dog kept vigil by his side, but McDonald knew he could expect no hope of rescue for some days because he had told headquarters there would be no word from him.

Finally he inched his way to a water supply a few feet away. The water revived him somewhat and he began to crawl toward his cabin. That took another three days.

Hours to Reach Telephone.

Stretched out in the cabin, he took hours to drag together enough boxes so that he could lift himself to the height of the telephone.

Rescuers got to him that night, Tuesday. He was still conscious. The next day they started out for Jasper, with McDonald on a litter borne by pack horses. They crossed 22 miles of mountain trails to reach the head of Medicine lake and then put the warden in a boat for the four mile trip to Jaspen.

When they lifted him into a hospital bed here he smiled wanly. "The days," he said, "were awful long."

DENIES LETTERS TO MUNDELEIN ON NAZI TRIALS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 25.—Nazi officialdom, seeking desperately to find out who gave information about political and religious developments in Germany to Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago, today accused Dr. Ludwig Sebastian, Catholic bishop of Speyer, and declared his pastoral correspondence was traitorous. Bishop Sebastian denied writing to Cardinal Mundelein.

Last May 18, at a diocesan conference, Cardinal Mundelein called Chancellor Adolf Hitler a "paperhanger, and a poor one at that, I am told." He charged that the Nazi's "crooked minister of propaganda was giving out stories of wholesale immorality in religious institutions in comparison with which the wartime atrocity propaganda was almost like bedtime stories."

Witness at Priest's Trial.

Bishop Sebastian found himself embroiled in this matter when he became a witness in the trial of a priest, the Rev. Josef Schroeder, 67 year old, who was fined $80 for slandering Josef Buerckel, Nazi governor and political boss of the Palatinate.

Gov. Buerckel himself digressed from the question of Father Schroeder's guilt to question the bishop about his own activities.

"Have you," Buerckel fired, "sent letters to a foreign power about internal political developments in Germany?"

The prelate, aware that his reports to the Vatican might be viewed, under Nazi law, as treasonable disclosures to a foreign power, declined to reply.

Tells of Writing to America.

Then the governor made the bishop admit that occasionally he sent letters to friends in America, and that after authorities forbade him to mail pastoral letters to them, he sent word explaining why his usual missives were not forthcoming. Next came the thunderous inquiry:

"Have you written to Mundelein?"

"No," said the bishop.

Gov. Buerckel turned to Vatican correspondence. He introduced what he said was a photostat of a letter sent by Bishop Sebastian in April, 1935, to Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state. The letter related that the Steel Helmets, a war veterans' organization, had been dissolved in the Palatinate [as it was throughout Germany] and that the Nazi Storm Troopers had concentrated in the forest at Saarbruecken because they feared a Steel Helmet uprising.

High Treason, Says Governor.

This statement, Buerckel contended, was untrue and constituted high treason. In his final address he asserted:

"The Mundelein incident resulted from wrong reports such as those issued by bishops. It cannot be tolerated in pastorals regularly sent to America to alleged benefactors of Germany in her times of great distress."

He asserted such statements were a flagrant violation of the concordat of the Vatican and the Reich.

"This concordat," he commented, "was concluded by the state under the self-evident assumption that correspondence among the Vatican and the bishops was accorded immunity solely for the protection of the bishops' pastoral functions.

Concordat Broken, He Asserts.

"Now it has become manifest that such protection was misused by the bishops and the Vatican—for the bishop himself admitted his letter did not elicit a reprimand from the Vatican."

His remarks were interpreted as presaging imminent disavowal of the concordat by the Nazi government.

The Hitler regime struck today at the Protestants, also. Police prevented a meeting of students in a Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] hall in Dahlem and warned the dauntless Confessional leader, the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, that the meeting should not take place.

The gathering in the hall was called off but a group of the more daring students assembled in the small St. Anne's church in Dahlem, where services were conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Vogel Dobrikow, with the Rev. Mr. Niemoeller in the congregation.

Burn 432 CIO Cards in Revolt on Red Union

Four hundred and thirty-two membership cards in the C. I. O. were dropped in a ceremonial bonfire in Michigan City, Ind., yesterday. The cards had been surrendered by employés of the Reliance Manufacturing company.

These 432 cards had enrolled the company's employés in the textile workers' union. The man who organized the union and persuaded the employés to sign the C. I. O. cards is R. L. Crowmer. He was general organizer in Indiana for the C. I. O. It was Mr. Crowmer who presided over the ritual blaze which destroyed the cards and stopped the C. I. O. in the Reliance plant. He said all except three of the 432 signers of cards had approved the bonfire at secret meetings during the last week.

Frankly States Reasons.

Mr. Crowmer frankly stated the reasons for his action last night in his home at 5130 University avenue. He declared he quit his job as an organizer three weeks ago in disgust over methods used in a strike he helped direct at the Morgan Packing company, Austin, Ind.

"That strike lasted for a month, during which time the strikers were permitted to go hungry," Crowmer said. "The C. I. O. refused to appropriate any money for their support, the Chicago regional office taking the position that the hungrier the strikers were, the more inclined they would be to accept a C. I. O. agreement."

After that strike was settled, Crowmer said, the workers received less net pay than before, allowing for deductions for union dues and assessments.

Other Plants Organized.

Crowmer formerly was an industrial engineer in Detroit. Last April 1 he became technical adviser to the C. I. O., which then was beginning its campaign to organize the textile industry. Within a short time he was shifted to organization work.

With a staf of 26 assistants he tried to organize employés of the Reliance Manufacturing company in Michigan City, Columbus and Seymour, Ind., and employés of the Cummins Engine works, the Mooney Tannery, and the Reeves Pulley company of Columbus.

Application cards signed by workers of the Mooney and Reeves company have been returned to them, he said, and the cards of the Cummins Engine works employés will be destroyed.

"My action was the only decent thing to do," Crowmer said. "I have been used as the medium through which these workers were led to a movement of communism—a revolution in our form of government.

True to Labor's Cause.

"The garment workers placed their confidence in me, and I am not going to violate that confidence by leading them any farther into the communistic movement. I have not deserted their cause. I am in favor of organization of all workers to improve working and living conditions, but

THOUSANDS QUIT LEWIS RADICALS FOR STEEL JOBS

Speed Production in Ohio Mills.

Without complaint against wages or hours or working conditions, loyal workers began moving back into the Pennsylvania and Ohio steel plants yesterday after an idleness forced upon them by vagrant armies of C. I. O. communists, radicals and disturbers who provoked riots and murders in an effort to swing the steel industry under the dictatorship of John L. Lewis.

While thousands of loyal employés, residents of the communities in which they work, returned to their posts to attack the debts piled upon them in consequence of their loss of income, the postal committee of the United States senate learned that a demand will be made Monday for an opportunity to question Postmaster General James A. Farley about refusal of the postoffice department to deliver mail to Ohio steel plants.

Public Little Impressed.

Despite the hurricane of propaganda calculated to impress the public with the overwhelming force of the communistic C. I. O., the following happenings were reported last night:

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—All day long reports were widely circulated that 30,000 miners were converging to prevent the opening of the Bethlehem mills. There were in fact many miners and C. I. O. disturbers. But they slowly drifted away as, toward evening, the mill gates were opened and loyal workers began entering. Since a steel mill depends upon continuous operation, several days will be needed to restore all departments. The C. I. O. is considered hopelessly beaten. [Details on page 2.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—In this valley, containing numerous steel plants, the armed siege of the reds first was supported by Gov. Martin L. Davey and the state troops. Yesterday the troops were ordered to protect all men desiring to return to work. The steel plants were reopened and the flying squadrons of communistic shock troops trickled away, completely defeated. [Details below.]

Radicals Driven Away.

These events followed swiftly upon the actions previously taken in Monroe, Mich., where the citizens and steel workers drove away the imported radicals; in Washington, Ind., where nearly 95 per cent of the workers in one plant ordered the C. I. O. organizers to get out of the town; in Perry, N. Y., where an almost unanimous citizenry united to denounce the communistic enterprise, and in Anderson and Muncie, Ind., where the people, under the leadership of the authorities, stopped the incoming reds at the city limits.

OHIO STRIKE BROKEN

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Youngstown, O., June 25.—[Special.]—The steel strike in Youngstown came to a sudden but undramatic end here about noon today. Under the protection of National Guardsmen and local police, thousands of workmen, lunch pails under their arms, began to filter into the mills of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the Republic Steel corporation along the length of the Mahoning river in Ohio's steel valley.

It was a strange finish to what has been one of the bitterest strikes in the steel industry and one of the longest—it lasted 30 days. There was no mass movement to reënter the mills, the men simply began arriving by twos and threes and then by dozens, in private automobiles, buses, and on foot.

Other Towns Follow Suit.

They drifted to the mill gates and passed inside after showing company guards that they possessed pay roll identification slips. This spontaneous decision by the workers apparently was reached in Warren, Niles, Struthers, Campbell, and Youngstown, where the great mills have for the most part lain cold and still, at about the same time.

The shifts changed in all the operating mills here at 7 o'clock tonight. At that time company officials estimated that approximately 5,000 men entered plants in the Youngstown, Niles, and Warren areas. Of this number about 2,800 men entered Sheet and Tube and Republic plants in Youngstown alone, the remainder going to work in the other cities.

There was no disorder at any gate, but strong National Guard patrols continued on duty throughout the "dangerous strike areas" about the mills as the districts around the plants is officially designated. Most of the men in the Youngstown plants expected to work 12 hour shifts, and they were promised time and a half pay for all time over eight hours.

Buses and Street Cars Crowded.

Buses and street cars near the plants were crowded by men returning home from the day shift. More than 1,000 automobiles were driven out of one parking lot for employés of the Brier Hill Sheet and Tube company plant tonight. An equal number of private automobiles were parked there by incoming workers. This lot is less than 50 feet from the C. I. O. headquarters for this plant, and no automobiles had been left there since the strike began until today.

Police tonight said they were seeking to trace a quantity of dynamite and nitroglycerin said to have been stolen from a steel plant in this area.

At 11 o'clock this morning the strike areas were virtually deserted by all save the patrols of guardsmen and of deputy sheriffs. Picket lines had disappeared. And then at noon the influx began. It was slow at first, but as the afternoon waxed the surge back to work increased. "The valley," as the entire strike area is known to steel men, began to come to life.

Stacks Belch Smoke.

Jets of steam plumed from long cold pipes. Stacks above open harth furnaces and the enormous blast furnaces began to belch thick rolling clouds of smoke. The air within three hours began to be gray with smoke and the smell of sulphur, which always is found around blast furnaces, began to be noticeable.

This return to life by the mills meant, of course, the death of John L. Lewis' revolutionary Committee for Industrial Organization and its affiliate, the equally radical Steel Workers' Organizing committee, in Ohio at least. The C. I. O. is finished here.

"We broke the back of that C. I. O. bolshevism right here in Youngstown," said Clarence Coppersmith, veteran city police captain and trafic commissioner for the community, as he watched the quiet groups of returning workers pass through the stop No. 5 gate of the Republic mill here this afternoon.

Scene of Strike Battle.

It was at stop 5 that the three hour battle was fought last Saturday night when police stood off the rushes of a wild throng of enraged pickets. Today the area was well policed and the few persons who apparently came out to see the end of the strike were kept moving and not allowed to congregate.

While several newspaper men were talking to Capt. Coppersmith he suddenly pointed toward a group of five pickets who had been quietly parading back and forth in front of the gates carrying signs which said: "They shall not pass. The C. I. O. must win."

As he pointed two of the men stopped, carefully propped their signs against the wall, and waved to the other three pickets. Then they turned and walked through the gates back to work.

"That's not the first picket who has gone back to work today," the policeman said. "They've been throwing away their C. I. O. buttons and walking in."

Merchants throughout the city echoed the boast that Youngstown steel executives had taken the first fall out of the seemingly all-powerful labor dictatorship created by Lewis. Several of them point out that while the country's greatest steel corporations had quickly capitulated, when Lewis turned to steel to consolidate that bloc he had built up in the automobile, rubber, coal mining, and mass production industries, the Ohio and Illinois independent steel men had stood like rocks against the rising tide of radicalism in the labor movement.

John Owens, C. I. O. director for Ohio who is the one labor leader left in this area tonight, insisted that the strike is not over. "The strike is on and we're going to continue it, striking with the assurance that the men will win," he said. "Our people will not go back in these mills. We intend to persuade our people in every lawful and legitimate way that they must withhold their labor from the likes of Tom Girdler and his organized mob of thugs and gunmen."

Owens was asked if the C. I. O. and S. W. O. C. leaders planned to have their men join the back to work movement and then attempt sitdown strikes inside the mill.

"We're simply going to advise our people not to go in or to sit down," he replied. "The opening of these mills without an agreement with their employés through their representatives demonstrates that the attitude of some groups in this industry will have to be changed by some powers within the government so that they will realize that their employés have rights that must be protected if we are to preserve our form of government."

TRANSIT STRIKE AUTHORIZED BY NEW YORK UNION

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Officers of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit division of the Transport Workers' union were authorized tonight to call a strike of the 12,500 men employed on its rapid transit, street car, and bus lines unless the company on Monday agrees unconditionally to an immediate collective bargaining referendum.

The strike resolution, adopted at a massmeeting attended by 7,000 Brooklyn Manhattan Transit employés, left the date for calling a strike to the discretion of union officers.

Recently the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, after conferences with spokesmen for the union, joined in a request that the city industrial relations board fix a time and place for a referendum and supervise the voting. The board held a hearing at which the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railway Signal Men objected to a referendum on the ground that they had contracts with the company. Objection was also voiced by an independent union group.

Packing House Strike Ends; Closed Shop, Vacations

Eau Claire, Wis., June 25.—[Special.]—One hundred workers, members of the Amalgamated Butchers and Meat Cutters' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, who walked out of the Drummond Packing company here yesterday morning, returned to work this afternoon, following a settlement. The agreement was announced by A. R. Mansfield of Milwaukee, representative of the union. The union, he said, got a closed shop, a guarantee of thirty-two hours' work a week, a week's vacation with pay, and a 2½ cent an hour increase for all workers getting less than fifty cents an hour.

Johnstown, Pa., June 25.—[Special.]—Officials of the Bethlehem Steel corporation tonight prepared to swing Johnstown into the back to work movement of the steel strike by putting the $50,000,000 Cambria plant into operation.

The officials went ahead with the plans for reopening the plant unawed by the march of a squadron of miners on the gates of the plant at the "zero hour" of the lifting of martial law this morning.

Tonight it became apparent no attempt would be made to open the plant until Monday, at the earliest, because of the physical difficulties of placing a large steel unit into operation and because it would be unwise to begin work Saturday only to shut down again Sunday.

The show of force by the C. I. O. failed to come up to advance notices. Although strike leaders had predicted 30,000 to 50,000 workers would appear to picket, only a few thousands came. Union leaders contended there were 6,000 miners in the "invasion" of the city. Chief of Police Klink said there were fewer than 1,000.

Coal Agreement Violated.

A survey of coal fields of this area disclosed 4,565 men who were scheduled to enter bituminous pits had gone on a holiday. In sponsoring the holiday the members of the United Mine Workers of America, mother unit of the C. I. O. movement, made a scrap of paper out of their agreement with mine operators.

The recently negotiated coal agreement provides that when men refuse to report for work at the time the mine whistles blow they are to be considered out on strike.

The march was planned by union leaders, who expected that officials would attempt to open the Cambria plant the minute the martial law imposed by Gov. George H. Earle expired. The expiration of martial law was fixed for 7 a. m.

A similar demonstration planned a week ago led Gov. Earle to impose martial law in the area. The plant closing, purportedly to halt possible bloodshed threatened by the march, brought a storm of censure on the governor for interference with the right to work.

Gov. Earle Contradicts Self.

Yesterday, in direct contradiction to his action of the week before, Gov. Earle announced the lifting of martial law, though strike leaders had made public the plans of miners to invade the city.

The miners began moving into the city at 4 a. m., while martial law was still in effect. As the "zero" hour neared they assembled at the gates along the 15 mile line of the company's property. At the stroke of seven they milled about the gates and then attempted to establish some form of picket lines, but gave up when no one attempted to enter the plant.

The state police withdrew shortly after the miners left. For several hours there was no one at the plant's gates except one or two plant policemen. Maintenance workers entered without molestation.

Late in the afternoon, state policemen returned to the plant gates on receiving word from strike leaders that picketing would be resumed. A few pickets appeared at the gates.

Workers Sign Petitions.

During the day, company officials continued collecting petitions from workers who wish to return to their jobs. The officials said more than 9,000 of the plants' 15,000 workers have expressed their willingness to return to work.

At the same time, union officials said they had more than 6,000 signatures to petitions calling on Gov. Earle to restore martial law.

Local authorities, headed by Mayor Daniel J. Shields, were confident they could handle the situation with full coöperation from the state policemen. There are 200 state policemen remaining in the city.

STRIKERS VOTE TO END DIE CASTING PLANT WALKOUT

Striking employés of the Stewart Die Casting corporation, 4535 Fullerton avenue, voted to end their walkout late last night at a meeting of their union, the United Automobile Workers of America, local 298, which is affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization. The meeting was held in the union headquarters at 2313 North Cicero avenue.

The strike started March 16 as a sitdown, but the strikers walked out on police orders the next day and began picketing. Later 150 of the strikers returned to their jobs, leaving 366 men still out, according to Emerson C. Whitney, attorney for the union. The strike has been accompanied by several violent incidents, including the shooting of a striker and the beating of a foreman.

Attorney Whitney said the company had agreed, in a letter to the National Labor Relations board, to recognize the union as bargaining agent for its members and had granted wage increases, shorter hours, and reinstatement of those strikers for whom work is available. S. A. Hellings, president of the company, said the company's position had not changed, and that all the wage and working policies as stated to the labor board would have been available to the men without a strike. The company employs about 600 men.

Local Founded by Gompers Secedes and Joins C. I. O.

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The oldest New York local in the American Federation of Labor seceded from it tonight to join the Committee for Industrial Organization.

It was local 144 of the Cigarmakers International union, of which Samuel Gompers was a former president and a member until his death in 1924.

The local was formed in 1875 and under the presidency of Gompers in 1883 participated in the formation of the A. F. of L.

I oppose affiliation with any C. I. O. group."

Crowmer recommended that employés of every company form their own unions and cited as examples the organizations in the Allis-Chalmers tractor works at La Porte, Ind., and in plants of the International Harvester company.

Assails C. I. O. Tactics.

In contrast he cited several examples of C. I. O. methods.

"I was assigned to the Sopkins Dress Manufacturing company strike in New Albany, Ind.," he said. "The employer agreed to all demands, yet the C. I. O. repeatedly refused to settle, with the result that the company was compelled to close its plant, throwing 125 persons out of work.

"A number of C. I. O. agreements were secured through fraud. For example, the C. I. O. agreement with the Fine & Sons Shirt company of New Albany was bluffed through with less than 10 per cent of the workers being signed up.

"A delegation of Indianapolis glove workers came to the Chicago regional office to complain they were earning less than before they were organized. The C. I. O. director told them: 'What do you care; you have a closed shop haven't you?'"

Calls Workers Misled.

Crowmer charged that C. I. O. leaders authorized their organizers to make promises they knew they could never fulfill.

"When I questioned the advisability of making such promises," he said, "the Chicago regional director suggested that, although they could not fulfill them, the promises would create the desired result among strikers."

In organizing garment workers, Crowmer said the C. I. O. tries to lead workers to believe that unionization will cost them nothing.

"This is not true," he declared. "The garment worker pays $1 initiation fee and $1 a month dues, plus the 50 cents a month assessment to build up a war chest. That assessment may be increased to $5 a month or more at the will of Dictator John L. Lewis. It has increased from 10 to 50 cents in the last 30 days.

"In my opinion the C. I. O. is not in the least concerned in the welfare of its followers. It is a campaign of terrorism, a back door through which communism may enter. All except one of the 26 organizers assigned to me carried cards of the communist party."

Denies He Was Fired.

At the Chicago office of the C. I. O. textile union committee last night Harold Gibbons, assistant director, said:

"Crowmer used to work for us but we fired him."

When told of this statement Crowmer indignantly replied that he had resigned although Frank Rosenblum, regional director, begged him to stay.

Rosenblum was said to be in Indianapolis last night. He could not be reached at the office of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers or at hotels in that city.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 25.—(AP)—Three miners were killed today in a gas explosion in the Pocahontas Fuel company's mine at Bishop, Va. They were Golden Hill, motorman, Everett Borin, 46 years old, a coal loader, and Herman Bates, Negro brakeman.

ASSERT FARLEY LETS C. I. O. RULE POSTAL SYSTEM

Connivance Is Charged in Republic Suit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—The Republic Steel corporation charged today that the postoffice department is submitting to dictation by the C. I. O. as to what mail it may or may not deliver to loyal workers in the Republic's Ohio plants.

The charges were made in an answer filed in the federal district court here in the suit brought by the company to compel Postmaster General James A. Farley to deliver food and clothing to loyal workers in its picket-bound plants. Farley, in replying to Republic's suit filed June 15, had requested that it be dismissed.

Challenge to Government.

"This is perhaps the first successful challenge to the authority of the American government in securing prompt transportation of the mail," says the Republic answer. "If it be the shameful fact that the C. I. O. has grown to such proportions that it has the power to control the postal system of the federal government, then the time has come to invoke the aid of the government's military forces.

"The postoffice department is indeed accepting the dictation of the C. I. O. strikers as to what it may or may not deliver."

With three Democratic senators backing him Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] on Monday will demand that the senate postoffice committee call Farley for questioning about collusion between the postal authorities and the C. I. O. strike leaders before terminating the investigation of the breakdown of the mail service.

Try to Halt Quiz.

Administration supporters, headed by Senator Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], chairman of the postoffice committee, will exert every effort to squelch the mail investigation, despite evidence already adduced showing that postal authorities in Ohio, with the approval of the department in Washington, agreed with C. I. O. strike leaders not to make parcel post deliveries of food, clothing and newspapers to marooned workers in the picket bound steel plants.

Tom Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, who denounced the C. I. O. as "an irresponsible, racketeering, violent, communistic outfit" before the postoffice committee yesterday, today denounced President Roosevelt's mediation board headed by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, as "both incompetent and unfair." Girdler said the board's efforts have collapsed and that all Republic plants involved in the steel strike would be operating normally in a short time.

Chicagoans Summoned.

The senate civil liberties committee, headed by Robert M. La Follette [Rad. Wis.,] will begin an inquiry next Wednesday into the Chicago Memorial day riot that resulted in 10 deaths. A motion picture showing the closing scenes of the riot and a statement by a Chicago minister will be studied.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Police Commissioner James P. Allman, Supervising Captain James L. Mooney, and Capt. Thomas Kilroy will be called by the committee.

Mooney and Kilroy told the postoffice committee yesterday that the police were forced to defend themselves when 2,000 rioters, singing the communist "Internationale," charged them with a variety of weapons.

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—(AP)—A sitdown strike which has kept 2,500 employés of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation idle here since June 8 was settled today.

TRINIDAD STRIKES SPREAD; RIOTERS BURN SUGAR CROP

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, June 25.—(AP)—Marines from two British battleships guarded against new violence today as strikes spread to new industries on this riot-weary island.

Lightermen, cartmen, and cocoa estate workers joined the general walkout of oil field and sugar plant laborers, whose six day strike has been marked by disorders in which fourteen persons have died and hundreds have been injured.

A sugar plantation was virtually in ruins after strikers burned thousands of acres of sugar cane, cut telephone lines, and stoned overseers' homes.

The strikers are seeking a 40 hour work week and pay increases of from 59 to 100 per cent.

ARTISTS OF WPA SEIZE OFFICIAL; OCCUPY OFFICES

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Six hundred WPA artists, writers, and musicians tonight imprisoned Harold Stein, executive head of their projects, after they had taken control of the central offices of the federal arts projects in East 42d street.

While the artists' demonstrations gathered intensity, Lieut. Col. Brehon B. Somervell, New York WPA administrator, announced 34,000 persons would have to be dropped by Oct. 15.

The sitdown strikers warned Stein he would be forcibly restrained if he attempted to leave before the artists had won their demand that an appeals board be set up to review the dismissal slips given to 2,848 workers on five arts projects. Stein's superiors in Washington rejected this demand by long distance telephone, but the strikers insisted on holding him captive.

INDIANA STEEL MILLS REPORTED READY TO OPEN

Reports were current through Indiana Harbor and East Chicago last night that plants of the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies located there would resume operations early next week. Both plants have been shut down since May 26, the first day of the strike. The opening of the plants, officials said, will depend partly on developments in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Motion picture films taken by the Rev. Chester Fisk of the Memorial day riot at the Republic Steel company were shown to witnesses yesterday in the police department's movie censor's projection room. Only a part of the riot was included in the films.

ALDERMEN WARN CITY UNIONS OF PERIL FROM C. I. O.

Demand Equality for All in Pay Raises.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Danger of a C. I. O. invasion of the city hall, now a stronghold of American Federation of Labor unions, was stressed yesterday by aldermen in justification of their stand that nonunion city employés share equally with union help in pay boosts which the unions are demanding of the city.

John A. Richert, chief of the city council finance committee staf, yesterday gave the subcommittee which is negotiating with the union leaders a tabulation of the cost of the pay increases asked, as applied to all city employés, for the remaining six months of this year.

Cost Set at $1,516,086.

The cost totaled $1,516,086. This city has reasonable assurance of $750,000 of this sum, through diversion of vehicle tax funds authorized by a bill pending in the legislature which Gov. Horner has indicated he will sign. Yesterday the aldermanic group was hopeful that more stringent enforcement of present city license ordinances would yield the remainder of the sum needed.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the finance committee, and Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], James B. Bowler [25th], and Roger J. Kiley [37th] conferred during the day with a number of city department heads on the license collection question. They will continue their investigation of these revenue possibilities tomorrow and Monday, and are hopeful of realizing at least $500,000 from this sources, Ald. Arvey said.

Want Equality for All.

"If we can't find that much," said Ald. Arvey, "the appetite will have to be cut to fit the loaf. We have told the union representatives that all city employés must be treated equally in the matter of pay restorations."

The specter of the C. I.O. is not to be taken lightly, the alderman believe. That organization recently organized an international union of federal employés, which is expected to expand downward through state and municipal offices, paralleling existing A. F. of L. unions.

There already is an embryonic C. I. O. union among city hall workers. In discussions with union leaders, the aldermen have stressed the point that an inequality in restoration of pay cuts would be an open invitation to the C. I. O. to go to work on the disgruntled employés who failed to get raises.

See Break for C. I. O.

Under the Wagner labor act, as it now exists and is administered, they have argued, it even would be possible for the C. I. O., if it recruited a majority of city employés, to outvote craft unionists in a labor board election and set itself up as sole bargaining agent for all city employés.

The unions are asking restoration of a 39 day pay cut, the remaining portion of a 78 day cut imposed in 1931. Half the cut was restored two years ago by action of Mayor Kelly.

The cost of the pay restorations for the remaining six months of this years, as tabulated by Mr. Richert, follows:

	No. of Jobs.	Cost.
Police and firemen	9,339	$ 854,821
6 day week employés	1,350	$1,521
Monthly or 5½ day week employés	4,893	577,855
Weekly basis employés	11	1,889
Totals	15,593	$1,516,086

Of 6,250 city employés outside the police and fire departments, about 1,150 hold clerical positions and some 3,500 are members of various street workers' unions, bossed by Mike Carrozzo, who is opposing diversion of funds from the vehicle tax fund. The remaining 1,600 include not only the city employed building mechanics but also all the inspectors and miscellaneous help in a dozen city departments.

THREAT DENIED BY C. I. O. CHIEF AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—[Special.]—George Heckel, chief plant steward of the United Automobile Workers of America, C. I. O. organization at the Seaman Body plant, denied in Circuit court today that he had threatened 32 employés who were forced to quit by a sitdown strike April 12. All he did was to tell them that if they kept on working, the union men would refuse to work and production would be stopped, Heckel testified.

Sixteen of the group are seeking an injunction to prevent the union from interfering with their attempts to go back to work. Mrs. Evelyn McGinnis, a union steward, testified the union wanted nine girls to quit because they set too fast a pace when the piece work rate was being fixed. She said the other girls could not stand the pace and could not have made living wages if they could not keep up to it.

QUOTES WAGNER ON ROOSEVELT: 'NO THIRD TERM'

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The New York Evening Journal said today it had been informed by Senator Robert F. Wagner that President Roosevelt will not seek a third term.

"The President told me so himself just after Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania made the third term suggestion," the Journal quoted Senator Wagner as saying.

The newspaper said it reached Wagner at the wedding of his niece, Miss Evelyn Wagner, at the estate of former Mayor James J. Walker, at Northport, Long Island. Wagner said the President informed him in speaking of Earle's statement:

LEBANON DUTCH SQUELCH C. I. O. IN PENNSYLVANIA

Refuse to Give Up Jobs in Steel Mills.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lebanon, Pa., June 25.—[Special.]—Unique in its solution of the labor war created by John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization is this little industrial city in the heart of "Pennsylvania Dutch" territory. A C. I. O. strike at the Bethlehem Steel corporation plant here failed miserably some months ago.

Today the C. I. O. is scarcely a problem in the Lebanon valley, in fact, its influence is waning and public opinion has revolted at its terrorist tactics throughout eastern Pennsylvania. This is the inevitable conclusion drawn from conversations with persons in many walks of life which this correspondent has had during a swing around the industrial cities of this section. Even labor leaders admit the C. I. O. crest has been reached.

Sixteen at C. I. O. Meeting.

The experience of Lebanon is a fair gauge of the way the tide is running these days. Last Saturday night the local steel lodge of the C. I. O. here could muster only 16 members for a meeting, in contrast to some 200 at the peak of the disorder in April.

The strike was called on April 8. With the usual C. I. O. genius for such things the walkout occurred at 7 o'clock in the morning when the night "turn" went off and the day shift was entering the Bethlehem plant. An estimated 100 men suddenly started to yell, "Shut down the plant," then they began to throw the switches in the finishing department and the company shut off the motor in other sections of the plant.

Officers and men of the employés representation plan, an 18 year old coöperative organization for ironing out employé-employer squabbles, pleaded with J. H. Edmonds, general manager, that they be allowed to work. Some did go back to their posts and worked out the day despite occasional showers of nuts, bolts and rivets hurled by the roaming C. I. O. gangs. Meanwhile, agitators stood outside the plant exhorting the departing men to join the C. I. O.

The following day the company closed the plant because it feared the disorders would continue and nonstriking employés might be injured. The shutdown lasted three weeks with an estimated pay roll loss of $300,000.

Protect Loyal Workers.

Lebanon merchants and the nonstriking men talked of forming a vigilante group, of taking drastic measures.

Mayor William Meiser and county authorities agreed to furnish ample protection for the men in Lebanon who wanted to go back to work and when the plant gates swung open on April 29, 2,054 employés out of the normal total of 2,327 went inside.

The C. I. O. campaign has continued with little success. Organizers have developed a new technique. On pay days when the employés come into the corner taverns for their "pudders" [whisky with beer as a chaser], the organizers buttonhole them at the bar. But the solid, thrifty old Dutch stock workmen here, many of whom own their homes, can't be persuaded they should ladle out a portion of their pay checks in tribute to John L. Lewis and the C. I. O.

STRIKES CAUSE LOSS OF NEARLY 11 MILLION MAN-DAYS IN QUARTER

Washington, D. C., June 25.—(AP)—Strikes caused 10,851,706 man-days of idleness in industry during the first quarter of this year, labor department statistics showed today.

Beginning with January, when 262 strikes were in progress, the number increased sharply for the first three months, going to 334 in February and to 762 in March. In April the total decreased to 750.

"In March there were more strikes than in any single month in the last twenty years," commented the monthly labor review issued by the department.

TWO EX-STATE'S ATTORNEYS URGE PAROLE REFORM

Hoyne and Swanson Ask Horner to Approve Bill.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Two former state's attorneys—Maclay Hoyne and John A. Swanson—yesterday urged that Gov. Henry Horner allow the Ward Schnackenberg parole reform bill, now before him after passage by the legislature, to become a law. Speaking from their experience they declared the measure would mitigate parole scandals that have been prevalent for years and would be a deterrent to crime.

E. J. Schnackenberg.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and his first assistant, Wilbert F. Crowley, a few days ago in a conference with the governor advanced the reasons why they thought the bill should become a statute. The indosement by Mr.. Hoyne and Mr Swanson gives the bill the backing of four experts versed by years of experience in the difficulties the present parole system raises in the battle against crime.

Knows Abuses in System.

In the eight years he served as state's attorney, from 1912 to 1920, Mr. Hoyne had a wide reputation as a fearless prosecutor. While in office he fought abuses in the pardon and parole system.

"I strongly favor the Ward-Schnackenberg bill," said Mr. Hoyne. "In my opinion it would eliminate evils and abuses which now impair the work of the courts, the prosecutors and the police in combatting crime.

"The bill empowers the trial judge in criminal cases to fix the minimum and maximum sentences for the convicted offender. This would be a common sense reform.

Calls Parole a Weakness.

"For protection of society, the people elect judges and prosecutors, they are taxed for support of the courts and maintenance of the police and other peace officers and for jails and prisons. Then, irony of ironies, this elaborate system for the protection of the public against malefactors is weakened at a vital spot, by allowing a parole board to determine the amount of time to be served by persons committed by the criminal courts. In cases where leniency is justified, the prosecutors can always make recommndation to the court."

Mr. Swanson, who was state's attorney from 1929 to 1932, has had experience not only as a public prosecutor but as a judge and a lawmaker. He served in the house and the senate at Springfield, was a municipal judge and then a circuit court judge from 1921 to 1929.

Finds Criminal Favored

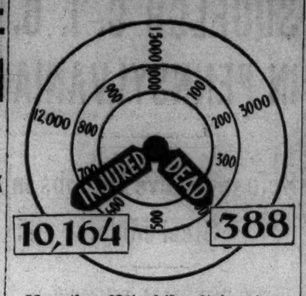
"I'm entirely in favor of the Ward-Schnackenberg bill to empower trial judges to impose minimum and maximum sentences," said Mr. Swanson. "Close observation and experience lead me to the conclusion that the parole system as at present constituted is more of a protection for the criminal than for the public and society in general.

"It's self-evident that a judge who has sat in a case and for weeks has listened to the witnesses and the evidence should know more about it and be more fitted to fix a definite minimum sentence when the case is fresh than a parole board five or six years later when the case is cold.

"My observation as state's attorney was that malefactors with money to hire lawyers seemed able to get action on paroles. But the poor dub without funds and friends, the first offenders and accidental criminals who would not be in crime if they had a job, found it more difficult."

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1937 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

DIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED WHEN STRUCK BY TRUCK

Stanley Wojcik, 59 years old, 2136 Charleston street, died last night in St. Mary's hospital of injuries suffered yesterday morning when he was struck by a north bound truck in Elston avenue at Webster avenue. The driver was Francis Berger, 21, of 1712 Girard street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 500 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. Of this number 388 were killed and 10,164 injured in trafic accidents in Chicago.

PICK DEATH JURY TO TRY PHYSICIAN IN ABORTION CASE

Three Witnesses Heard Against Dr. Trainor.

Selection of a jury qualified to inflict the death penalty was completed yesterday in Judge Rudolph Desort's court for the trial of Dr. Morgan L. Trainor, former coroner's physician, who is charged with murder by abortion of Mrs. Frances Link, 37 years old, of 5528 Drexel avenue. Three witnesses for the state were heard as the trial got under way.

Dr. Morgan L. Trainor.

Dr. Trainor, 57 years old, who in 1932 was an independent candidate for coroner, was arrested on April 18 at his home at 6248 University avenue, after the coroner's office found that Mrs. Link died of septicemia following an illegal operation.

Nurse Tells of Death.

Mrs. Charlotte Witort, a nurse, in whose home at 2843 Pearl street, Franklin Park, Mrs. Link died, told the police that Dr. Trainor had performed an abortion and sent Mrs. Link to the Witort home for convalescence. When she grew worse, Mrs. Witort declared, she summoned Dr. Trainor, but he was unable to save Mrs. Link's life.

Dr. Trainor admitted treating Mrs. Link, but denied performing the operation. He said that the patient died while he was administering a stimulant for a fluttering heart.

The first witness yesterday was Patrick Murphy, 5608 Emerald avenue, brother of Mrs. Link, who merely testified that his sister had died at the Witort home.

Testifies to Treatment.

Miss Emma Vondrak, 824 West 62d street, who at the time was employed as a nurse by Dr. Trainor, testified that on April 13, three days before Mrs. Link died, she was in Dr. Trainor's office and was treated by him. She was not permitted to describe the nature of the treatment.

Miss Margaret Edler, 3042 Gustave street, Franklin Park, who lives next door to Mrs. Witort, testified that she saw Dr. Trainor attending Mrs. Link in the Witort home on June 16. It is expected that Mrs. Witort will be called on Monday and that her testimony will complete the state's case.

BALK MOVEMENT TO VOID BILL FOR PAROLE REFORM

Amendments Dropped by the House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—Amendments to the pending Adamowski-Schnackenberg parole bill which would have nullified the objectives of the Ward-Schnackenberg indeterminate sentence bill, which is now before Gov. Horner, were dropped in the house of representatives as the new bill was prepared for final action in the rush of the closing days of the session next week.

These amendments, which would have prohibited trial courts from exercising the power to fix minimum and maximum sentences under the indeterminate sentence act as provided in the earlier Ward-Schnackenberg, or Loesch, bill had been prepared as the result of a conference of opponents to the Loesch plan with Gov. Horner last Monday.

Directed by Governor.

But today they were dropped from the list of changes presented and adopted by the house and their elimination was said to have been directed by Gov. Horner to whom the question of their omission or inclusion was submitted last night.

It was at his direction also that the biggest change by this new bill was struck from it. This was the provision for the creation of a court of pardon and parole to replace the present parole board, the favorite project of Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court of Cook county, Howard V. Tracy, president of the Citizens' association, and the rest of the little group that has been putting obstacles in the way of the reform program supported by the Frank J. Loesch committee.

Most of the series of amendments adopted on the motion of Benjamin S. Adamowski, majority floor leader, with the agreement of Elmer J. Schnackenberg, minority leader, therefore had to do with the elimination of the court features of the bill. As it now reads the outstanding features of the bill merely extend the terms of office of the members of the parole board to fourteen years and increase their salaries to $9,000 each.

Fatten Up Some Political Jobs.

Some legislative sponsors of the Loesch plan say that the chief effect of this bill would be merely to fatten up some political jobs and that it should be defeated to prevent it being used as an argument that the Loesch bill is unncessary and should be vetoed.

Because of this feeling, there is a possibility that the secondary bill may be lost next week because of the lack of time for its passage before the sine die adjournment Wednesday night.

Idleness Insurance Bill Passed by Illinois House

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—Without debate the Illinois house of representatives today passed the unemployment insurance bill drawn and agreed to by representatives of labor and employers. The action took less than one minute inasmuch as the same roll call by which the preceding bill had been passed was applied with objection.

Since the agreed amendments were adopted in the house after the bill had been passed by the senate, the upper chamber must concur in the changes before the measure is ready for Gov. Horner's signature. Concurrence, it is believed, will be voted on Monday night when the senate reconvenes for the final three days of the session.

The bill provides that beginning July 1, all employers in the state employing 8 or more persons shall pay 3.6 per cent of their annual pay roll for the remaining six months of 1937 and 2.7 per cent for each succeeding year until 1942. A merit rating is set up, however, under which those with a well-stabilized employment record may have their payments reduced for the years subsequent to 1942.

The money will be allowed to accumulate in the unemployment trust fund in the federal treasury for two years before benefit payments begin. These benefits will range from $5 to $15 weekly, depending upon the salary of the unemployed person, and compensation would continue for not more than 16 weeks.

Each employer's rate would be determined at the beginning of each year, in the following manner:

If the total of his contributions to the fund shall exceed by 7½ per cent the total benefits paid from it, his payment for that year would be reduced to 1.8 per cent.

If the excess of contributions over benefits totals 10 per cent, the rate would be .9 of one per cent.

If the excess is 12½ per cent, no contributions would be made for the year.

Should the benefits exceed the contributions, the employer's rate would be 3.6 per cent unless he could convince the director of labor that such experience "was due to an act of God, fire, or other catastrophe or act of civil or military authority, directly affecting the place in which individuals were employed by him." Should he so convince the director, his rate would remain at 2.7 per cent.

REPORT AND DENY ACCORD ON AUTO DRIVER LICENSE

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—Eleventh hour efforts to enact a drivers' license law were enlivened today by reports, both confirmed and denied, that a compromise had been reached in the Democratic factional fight for patronage which has impeded the legislation five months.

F. Lynden Smith, the governor's campaign manager and director of public works, who has actively participated in an aggressive lobby in the patronage row, discounted rumors that a deal had been made wherein the Nash-Kelly senators were to agree to a compromise on the driver bill in return for the state administration dropping its opposition to bills sponsored by Mayor Kelly of Chicago.

"I believe that a compromise will be effected on the driver bill but it will not concern any other legislation," said Mr. Smith.

Gov. Horner last night caught a late train from here to Chicago and refused to discuss his errand. A confidential news source close to the governor's office said that Mr. Horner was to confer with the Chicago Democrats on the driver bill and on Mayor Kelly's bills to authorize the council to use wheel tax and gas tax to pay trafic police salaries.

Representative Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski], who has headed the Horner group in the driver license patronage battle, this afternoon issued a statement implying that the governor was willing to accept a compromise whereby the new jobs to be created by the safety law would be shared by the governor's highway department and by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

3 Motorists Sentenced to Jail in Safety Court

Frank Lemke, 42 years old, 2052 Lincoln avenue, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail by Judge George B. Weiss in the Safety court yesterday for driving while drunk, and Victor Duvell, 27 years old, 4710 West 54th street, to five days in jail for reckless driving. Bruno Zielinske, 24 years old, 2532 South Kedzie avenue, was sentenced to five days for leaving the scene of an accident.

ROCKFORD GIRL ACQUITTED BY ARKANSAS JURY

Brockelhurst Given Death in Chair as Slayer.

Lonoke, Ark., June 25.—[Special.]—Miss Bernice Felton, 18 years old, Rockford, Ill., home girl, was acquitted tonight by a jury of the murder for which another jury yesterday convicted her lover, Lester W. Brockelhurst, a triple killer. Less than 30 minutes before Brockelhurst fainted as he heard the trial judge formally sentence him to death in the electric chair at Tucker prison farm on Aug. 27.

Climax of Day.

The acquittal of Miss Felton and the formal sentencing of Brockelhurst climaxed a day of drama in which both took the stand, Miss Felton to assert any share she had in Brockelhurst's crimes was inspired by fear of harm at his hands, and Brockelhurst to plead that everything he did was for Miss Felton's benefit. Brockelhurst freely recited his crimes.

Brockelhurst, a former convict and former Sunday school teacher, took Miss Felton with him on a honeymoon, unlegalized by marriage. At the start he shot and killed Albin Theander near Rockford, then a few days later killed Victor A. Gates of Little Rock, Ark., and some time afterward murdered Jack Griffith of Fort Worth, Tex. The Gates murder was the one for which both were tried.

The Girls' Story.

Brockelhurst was tried first. The jury deliberated only 22 minutes yesterday before decreeing the death penalty. Miss Felton had refused to testify against him. Her trial was begun immediately afterward, but Brockelhurst showed no inclination to withhold evidence against her.

Miss Felton told her story first. She told of her romance with Brockelhurst, and how they had left on a honeymoon, and how he killed and robbed. "But I never assisted him in any of those crimes, never knew beforehand that he intended to commit them," she said. "I wanted to go home, but I feared his threats." She was simply an unwilling dupe, she said.

Antagonistic to Girl Friend.

Brockelhurst, openly antagonistic to his ex-sweetheart, told in detail about the three murders. "I always turned the money over to her," he said. He asserted he committed the crimes to purchase new finery for her. He didn't love her now, he added, and "wouldn't be fool enough to marry her now." He explained his appearance on the stand as due to a wish to tell the whole story rather than to help convict Miss Felton.

After the jury was given the girl's case, Judge W. J. Waggoner called Brockelhurst to the bar, Brockelhurst demanded a new trial, but the judge ignored the request, and said, "Without warning or excuse you shot Victor A. Gates in the back of the head. You left his body in a ditch at the mercy of beasts of the forest. You claim to be a Bible student. I wonder if you ever read that part which says, 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

Girl Fights Rescue

Mrs. Frank G. O'Connor, who unsuccessfully resisted efforts of seven men to prevent her suicide by drowning.

The girl who was rescued against her will from the north branch of the Chicago river at the Cortland street bridge yesterday was identified last night at the Central police station as Mrs. Frank G. O'Connor, 20 years old, wife of a street car worker who lives at 665 Montrose street. O'Connor put up a $25 bond for the release of his wife who was being held on a charge of disorderly conduct. Two bridge tenders, four policemen, and a watchman rescued the woman who gave two fictitious names to the police, and refused to tell her reasons for wanting to end her life.

135 IN CONGRESS, CABINET, PICNIC WITH PRESIDENT

Annapolis, Md., June 25.—[Special.]—Isolated from the cares of a strife-torn nation, President Roosevelt today picnicked with his cabinet, 25 Democratic senators and 110 representatives of his party on a small island in Chesapeake bay. Two more contingents, each representing a third of the huge Democratic majority in congress will be ferried out to the island tomorrow and Sunday.

The gathering has been widely advertised as a harmony meeting to straighten out some little difficulties which have arisen between the White House and capitol. Judging from a speedboat deck view of the island this afternoon the merry statesmen were concentrating more on the social than political aspects of the occasion.

A late arrival was James A. Farley, postmaster general. "We ought to have a swell time," he said with enthusiasm.

SWEARS J.W.HUNT CAST $10,000 TO CULT FAITHFUL

Says Noisy Rites Annoyed Lionel Barrymore.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—(AP)—Portly John Wuest Hunt, accused of seducing a girl 17 years old by persuading her she was to be the mother of a new "redeemer," once threw $10,000 on the floor and watched others scramble for it, a co-defendant, H. B. Smith, 67 years old, testified today at their Mann act trial.

Smith, a retired engineer, who like Hunt became votary of Father Divine's sect, said the money scene was in Hunt's Beverly Hills home. There Delight Jewett of Denver charges Hunt betrayed her last December.

Makes Room for Delight.

Smith testified he moved at Hunt's Beverly Hills home to make room in that leader's bed chamber for the girl. There, Miss Jewett testified, Hunt first became intimate with her. At another time today, Smith swore, "We had the best of everything. You see, we had to have the best clothes, the best food, and the finest automobiles, because we were striving for perfectness."

The money flinging occurred at an exuberant cult meeting last fall which caused Lionel Barrymore and other film colony neighbors of Hunt to file peace disturbance charges.

"Hunt was talking," Smith testified. "He put his hand in his pocket and happened to find $10,000 there.

"He was in such a state of religious emotion that he threw it on the floor disgustedly—said he wanted to get rid of worldly affairs.

Scramble for Money.

"Everybody started falling on the floor and calling Hunt 'Lord' and 'Shiloh.'"

Mrs. Elizabeth Peters, "Peaceful Martha" to Father Divine's follower, also testified.

"Did you see any lights around Delight Jewett?" Attorney Macbeth asked Mrs. Peters and she replied:

"No, but I did see lights around Mr. Hunt. I saw them in my own room."

About 200 persons created a scene of wild disorder today by shoving their way into the courtroom before court convened. That demonstration followed the statement of Hunt's colored attorney, Hugh Macbeth, that Father Divine might fly here to Hunt's defense. Those who could not find seats were ousted.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FROM TOBACCO TO—

By CALEB

IT was in a great tobacco warehouse where the sing-song of the auctioneer and the shuffling of the group about him beat tattoo against the barren walls. The parade of price slips left upon the piles of sere tobacco were unimpressive. "Twenty cents," "Thirty cents," or "Thirty-five cents a pound," they read. Straggling loosely behind the focal clump of men who moved almost as one, tenant farmers and tobacco raisers came and went.

Four rows away a young man stood, talking earnestly to a group of men. Now and again a curious idler, catching a few words of the conversation, would pause and finger the smoother, fuller-leafed, and clearer tobacco, which obviously was the young man's.

Even to the novice, here was a better, finer looking leaf. These lots would bear watching as to price.

Slowly down the aisles the rhythmic seller and his coterie of buyers crept. Lots were going thirty cents, nineteen cents, twenty-eight cents, thirty-two cents, and twenty-nine cents. At last the neatly dressed young man's first stack was reached.

Ten seconds and the lot was sold. The paper record of the sale fluttered to the pile and the price read "Forty-four!" In ten seconds more another lot was gone. "Forty-eight." In another minute the fruits of months of effort had been appraised and an average price of forty-six cents was paid.

Fifteen seconds later, back to prices of twenty to thirty cents, the group had dropped.

"What is the secret?" we asked. And this is the answer.

"This young man deliberately set out to raise the best tobacco he could. Before he started he learned all he could about how to do it. Because there were certain uncontrollable factors such as vagaries of the weather, he elected to control carefully factors that were controllable. Many others of these farmers could do as well or almost as well, but they will not pay the price. It is one thing to establish standards. It is another to have the courage and perseverance to stick by them."

It is a fascinating thing to us that in every field of endeavor—from raising tobacco to operating a store—there are some people who plan high standards and then meet them!

SPANISH COASTAL TOWN IS SHELLED BY 'FOREIGN' SHIP

Houses Are Wrecked by Mystery Vessel.

MADRID, June 25.—(AP)—The Febus [Spanish government] news agency reported today that a warship, "believed to be foreign," shelled the town of Arenys de Mar, on the northeastern Spanish coast, last night.

Although a government communique described the bombardment as a "recurrence of rebel naval activity," the agency report said the ship must have been foreign.

Of "great size," the ship had two funnels, so it could not have been the rebel cruiser Canarias, which has only one funnel, the report said.

Shells Destroy Houses.

Three houses were reported destroyed at Arenys de Mar and two other houses along the coast were said to be shattered.

Reports from Barcelona said the Canarias stopped several fishing boats in the Barcelona region. A Febus dispatch said the rebel cruiser Baleares sank a Spanish boat in French waters near Cape Creus.

The Madrid newspaper Claridad mentioned an often expressed fear that "Germany and Italy will seek to hamstring government war activities by cutting off supplies."

Fernando de Los Dios, Spanish ambassador to the United States, told Gen. José Miaja, government commander, that public opinion in the United States has swung strongly in sympathy with the government cause.

Rebels Push On to Santander.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, June 25.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel headquarters reported tonight that his troops had occupied a number of villages and important heights in a push westward toward Santander, 45 miles from Bilbao.

The rebels said they had cleared all government forces from the west bank of the Nervion river and captured the coastal settlement of Ciervana, at the river's mouth.

3 JUDGES OPEN CONTEMPT TRIAL OF ATTY. ZAZOVE

Three judges of the Circuit court executive committee, sitting en banc, yesterday began the contempt trial of Attorney Irving G. Zazove. Zazove is charged with contempt of court in two petitions filed by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes arising out of a personal injury case.

Irving G. Zazove.

On the basis of new evidence purporting to show Zazove's client was not injured as he maintained, Mr. Hodes obtained a new trial after Judge William J. Wimbuscus, a country judge, had allowed a verdict of $35,000. Zazove then made counter charges accusing Mr. Hodes' assistants of conniving in the settlement of other personal injury cases.

Under examination by Zazove, Assistant Corporation Counsel Alexander J. Resa, who handled the damage suit, said he never had heard Zazove called a shyster. Judge Harry M. Fisher, one of the examining judges then remarked to Zazove: "This questioning opens the door wide to an investigation of your character and conduct." The trial was continued until Monday.

TYPES 141 WORDS A MINUTE AND RETAINS TITLE

Albert Tangora of New York successfully defended his championship as the world's fastest typist in the Hotel Sherman last night, but he had to break his own world's record to do so. It was his sixth annual winning of the title.

Competing against 26 challengers from 12 states, Tangora pounded out 141 words per minute on his flashing typewriter. The best previous record was 135 words per minute, and was established by Tangora last year. The runnerup, Cortez Peters of Washington, D. C., also broke the old record with 138 words a minute.

The winners in two amateur contests were Miss Lenore Fenton of Snohomish, Wash., who tapped out 87 words a minute in the dictaphone test, and Miss Marjorie Eisenegger, high school student of Cleveland, O., who copied 113 words a minute from a printed sheet.

The contest, watched by 1,000 spectators in the grand ballroom, was sponsored by the international commercial schools.

OPPOSE COLORED UNIT TO REPLACE THORNTON CCC

Churches, civic organizations, and public officials of the southern part of Cook county made protests yesterday to an order converting the Citizens Conservation corps camp in Thornton into a colored unit. For the last three years the camp has been occupied by white men.

The order was for the present CCC unit, located in the Thornton forest preserve near the village of Thornton, to disband by June 30—next Wednesday. A force of from 100 to 200 colored enrollees would then move in.

Telegrams were sent to Senator J. Hamilton Lewis and Congressman Edward A. Kelly in an effort to have the order rescinded. Among those opposed who have expressed opposition to the colored camp are Everett Toeffer, Thornton village president; James Igoe, Thornton preserve superintendent, and Carl Carlson, county commissioner.

LABOR CHIEF TELLS GERMANS THEY HAVE NO PRIVATE AFFAIRS

COLOGNE, Germany, June 25.—(AP)—Dr. Robert Ley, German labor chieftain, told food industry workers here today that if any one in the third reich did not want to march on the "Adolf Hitler road, we will step on his heels until he falls in line and keeps step."

Dr. Robert Ley.

"Since Adolf Hitler seized power," he said, "private affairs exist only when you sleep at night. The moment you have awakened and gone to your place of work you must know you are a soldier of Adolf Hitler. We won't have any one making up his own company or setting up his own rules."

Ley said also that "nowhere in the world is politics conducted without asking Germany," and that "Germany today can give the right answer to any bolshevist attempts."

EUROPE PERILED BY WAR! BRITISH PREMIER WARNS

vicious attack on Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini by David Lloyd George, wartime premier of Britain. Lloyd George, who recently visited Hitler, challenged Prime Minister Chamberlain to "stand up to these clever dictators" and cease letting them force Britain back from one position to another. Shaking his finger at Chamberlain and Eden, he answered the premier's "keep cool" admonition in these words:

"Any fish can keep a cool head. What Britain now needs is a stout heart."

"Crack Down on Fascists."

Britain is strong enough now to crack down on Germany and Italy, Lloyd George said, and if it is not, it has two strong helpers in France and Russia. He pictured the nonintervention policy as farcical and amused the house with a description of how Count Dino Grandi and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Italian and German ambassadors to London, thought it the greatest joke they had ever taken part in.

He said nearly 100,000 Germans and Italians are fighting for the rebels, whereas foreign troops on the loyalist side numbered only 12,000, including Russians.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden closed the debate by also taking a conciliatory tone toward Germany. Replying to Lloyd George's charges against the Nazis, Eden said:

"We know this [nonintervention] policy has not worked satisfactorily. But Mr. Lloyd George has kept Russia well in the background. There is no doubt that war materials, airplanes and tanks, supplied to the [Spanish] government side from Russia, have been very large, indeed. Everybody knows it."

Opposes Belligerent Rights.

Eden's most important disclosure perhaps was his statement that one of the main directives in the British policy was to avoid a grant of belligerent rights to either side in Spain.

Eden admitted that it might be impossible to maintain the nonintervention agreement, but refused to discuss the prospect further until an exchange of views between Paris and London has been completed.

One proposal under consideration is for French and British warships to replace those of Germany and Italy in the Spanish neutrality patrol. Another is for the German and Italian portions of the patrol to be taken over by some smaller power, such as Sweden or the Netherlands.

RARE EXHIBITS ARRIVE AT ZOO IN LINCOLN PARK

Eighteen crates of rare animals, birds, and snakes arrived at the Lincoln park zoo yesterday. Among the more unusual specimens are a pair of black spiral horned deer, a black female llama, an alpaca, two axis deer, a pair of black necked swans, a jabiru, a variety of stork, and a false cobra, which spreads its head like the deadly hooded snakes of India. All except the axis deer, which are from India, are South American animals. The new arrivals were purchased from a New York dealer for about $5,000 by Director Floyd S. Young.

Wally's First Husband Will Be Wed Shortly

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Norma Reese Johnson, who will be married to Commander Earl Winfield Spencer, first husband of Wallis Warfield, the duchess of Windsor, appeared at the marriage license bureau today and obtained papers preparatory to filing notice of intention to wed. She said she would forward them to Commander Spencer, who is undergoing treatment at the naval hospital in San Diego. He will come here for the license on or before June 29, she said.

Birth of Baby Makes for Happiness in Sarga Home

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 25.—All is happiness again at the household of Dr. Franz Sarga, the duelling doctor who fought several of his enemies after he said they insulted his wife because of her marriage to him. The birth of a daughter recently is said to have brought about a reconciliation between the wife and her parents, who disowned her after she married the doctor.

GERMANY CHEERS 'FRIENDLY SPIRIT' OF CHAMBERLAIN

But Nazi Confidence in Neutrality Is 'Shaken.'

BERLIN, June 25.—(AP)—German officials today praised the "conciliatory spirit" of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's reference to German moderation over the Leipzig incident. They awaited the full text of the British premier's address in the house of commons before making other comment.

[The German cruiser Leipzig was alleged to have been attacked by a Spanish submarine recently.]

The newspaper Lokal Anzeiger said Chamberlain "acknowledged the German standpoint in a measure not accorded by a single English newspaper nor any declaration in commons during the entire treatment of the Leipzig affair."

A foreign office spokesman said, however, that German confidence in the policy of nonintervention in the Spanish civil war was shaken badly. Britain and France must give positive proof of impartiality to restore the reich's faith in its efficacy, he declared.

Demand Action Against Madrid.

Initiative in devising effective nonintervention control measures now lies with Britain and France because the German navy cannot be expected to do anything except protect German ships from "acts of piracy," he stated.

The spokesman said the reich had demanded that the international nonintervention committee take steps to prevent foreign arms and volunteers from reaching Spanish government forces.

Official circles declined to comment on a Franco-British proposal to fill out the naval patrol of Spain with their own warships following the withdrawal of German and Italian vessels. Whatever Germany may say, it was indicated, will be left for the Berlin delegate to the nonintervention committee.

A foreign office spokesman said only that it was gratifying that Great Britain and France continue to adhere to the principle of nonintervention "for which Germany already has sacrificed so much."

Rome Sets Patrol Terms.

ROME, June 25.—(AP)—Official Italian sources asserted today that both Italy and Germany must be consulted before any steps are taken to reorganize the international naval patrol around Spain or effect the recall of foreign volunteers in Spain.

A government spokesman said both nations had remained on the nonintervention committee although recalling warships from the patrol and would look with disfavor on any independent steps to fill the gap in the patrol.

[France and Great Britain pressed Germany and Italy for approval of a proposal that French and British ships take over the entire neutrality patrol around Spain.]

Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist writer, in the Giornale d'Italia today admonished Italy to "be calm" and said "nothing dramatic will happen unless new and intolerable complications ensue."

FOUR AMERICANS JAILED BY SPAIN IN SPY ROUNDUP

VALENCIA, Spain, June 25.—(AP)—Two Americans who had been detained for questioning during an espionage roundup in Catalonia were released today. Four others were held for further questioning.

The two released gave their names as Villar J. Findley of Washington and Mrs. José W. Escuder. Findley said he was a newspaper man. Mrs. Escuder is the wife of a Spanish citizen who writes for American newspapers. Her husband also was released. The four still detained were said by authorities to be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orr of North Branch, Mich., Edward Hugo Oehler, and Wolf Kupinsky [home addresses not given.]

Orr Employed by Valencia.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Orr, mother of Charles Orr, said today he was engaged in radio work for the Spanish government. Mrs. Orr said the young couple left the United States two years ago. Orr formerly was a teaching fellow in the University of Michigan economics department and had held a similar position on the University of Louisville faculty. His wife is a member of a commission which has been seeking aid in the United States for child victims of Spain's civil war, his mother explained.

ITALIAN STEAMER SUNK BY SPANISH SHIP IN COLLISION

GENOA, Italy, June 25.—(AP)—The Italian steamer Capo Pino was rammed and sunk last night by the Spanish government freighter Magallanes off Nagara Point in the Dardanelles, the Genoese Navigation company, owners of the sunken vessel, reported today.

The sinking has believed to be an ordinary shipping accident.

The twelve passengers and thirty crew members aboard the 5,000 ton Capo Pino, bound with a cargo of wheat for Genoa and Marseilles, France, were saved. The Magallanes, 10,000 ton freighter which carried a cargo of munitions from Mexico to Spain recently, proceeded toward Russia.

Queen Mother Aids Kipling Memorial $1,250,000 Drive

LONDON, June 25.—(AP)—Queen Mother Mary and her brother, the earl of Athlone, announced today that a fund of £250,000 [$1,250,000] will be raised for a memorial to Rudyard Kipling. The announcement said £30,000 [$150,000] already had been subscribed. The earl is president of the council of the Kipling Memorial fund.

BOOKS

Variety Offered in Short Story Fare This Week

Current Collections Win Praise of Reviewer.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

TWO volumes of short stories were published this week, one sharp, clear, ironic, brilliantly written, the other as gay as the flip of a duck's tail in the sunny sparkle of a lagoon.

An Exceptional Group of Ably Written Tales.

"I Asked No Other Thing," by Cora Jarrett. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published Monday. Selection of the Discoverers.

Eighteen short stories, some of them as brilliant as any you've read of late, some of them delving deep into human relations, some of them "scary" and psychologically phenomenal, like Cora Jarrett's memorable novels, "Night Over Fitch's Pond" and "The Ginkgo Tree," one or two deeply touching, are here bound together.

The last of the book, "Between Men," is meant to twang a heartstring. It is the tale of a pitiful old man who "understood" his irascible boss. There is pathos, too, and also irony in many of the women in these pages who have had to face the discovery of love's impermanence.

The stories that are supernatural, like "The Candle of Shallows," are either a little ironic, or simply unexplained, like "The Map." "The Man With Nine Fingers" is grim and with a surprise ending that has been planted so cleverly by the author that it is no surprise at all to the reader, but almost a pat on his back for being so perceptive.

A few of the stories are plain grim, like "The Screw" and "A Cock to Asclepius." All of them are far above the average of popular short stories both in material and in technique.

Wodehouse as Funny and Cheery as Ever.

"The Crime Wave at Blandings," by P. G. Wodehouse. [Doubleday-Doran, $2.] Published yesterday.

There should be a literary verb "to wodehouse." "To wodehouse" should mean to tell a tale amusingly intricate with absurd chance, amusingly ironed out in the end so that everything always comes out right for the right people [which isn't at all to be confused with the "happy" ending], with a rich, rare, and juicy sense of the English language, its idiom and slanguage.

To date no one except P. G. Wodehouse himself does it to perfection—and he sometimes bogs down a little. But if there were a well established verb there might in time be other practitioners of the art and we should all be better men and women for the guffawing that would result.

"The Crime Wave at Blandings" is as funny as the famous tale about the same Emsworth of Blandings and his prize pig. An air gun is the weapon, assorted posteriors are the targets, and love triumphs over both.

Of the other six tales the longest, if not the best, is "The Medicine Girl," the story of a woman doctor who mashied her way to marriage. "The Masked Troubadour" is one of the famous Drones club tales and very funny in spots, as is "Buried Treasure," which concerns two old coots who grew rival mustaches. "Romance at Droitgate Spa" is forgivably far fetched, and "All's Well With Bingo" [another Drones club yarn, about a fellow who thought he could beat the bank at Monte Carlo] and "Tried in the Furnace" are concerned with the funnier side of the relationship of man to maid.

All the stories are as light as gray dandelion heads and almost as ephemeral. But they are as cheering as a sunny June breeze.

Selections of O'Brien for the Best in 1937.

"The Best Short Stories, 1937," edited by Edward J. O'Brien. [Houghton-Mifflin, $2.50.]

Edward J. O'Brien's annual selection of what he regards as the year's best short stories contains reprints of twenty-nine tales which interested him for "the fresh living current which flows through the best American work." It also contains his "Yearbook of the American Short Story" in which list he stars, double stars, and triple stars the stories which have any merit at all. Those which "fail in my opinion to survive either the test of substance or the test of form" are not listed.

Of Ernest Hemingway's "The Snows of Kilimanjaro"—the story of a man dying of gangrene in the African wilds and remembering how basely he has used his youthful passion to write—Mr. O'Brien says: "The story marks the beginning of a new and far more important cycle in Mr. Hemingway's work. Its publication is one of the four or five landmarks in the history of the American short story since Stephen Crane."

Book Views in Brief

Frank and Fascinating Story of Woman Hobo.

"Sister of the Road," by Dr. Ben L. Reitman. [Macaulay, $2.50.]

Fifteen years as a woman hobo—riding in box cars, living in railroad jungles, taking her lovers where she found them, running with a gang of thieves, learning to understand the pathology of the underworld and the political extremists—is the story of Box Car Bertha as she tells it to Dr. Ben L. Reitman in "Sister of the Road."

For a generation Dr. Reitman, former associate of Emma Goldman, philosophical anarchist and criminal ecologist, has been the friend and student of the underdogs of life. A Chicagoan himself, he writes vividly of Box Car Bertha's life here in the older days of the near north side Bohemia when the Dill Pickle club flourished.

Her story is far from pleasant, but it is frank and fascinating. She was the sweetheart of a man hanged for the murder of a cashier in the Drake hotel robbery, she was the mistress of a noted Socialist agitator, and she worked for two months in a house of prostitution, turning over the money earned from 1,500 men to her own man. J. H. T.

Ford Madox Ford's Portraits of Authors.

"Portraits from Life," by Ford Madox Ford. [Houghton-Mifflin, $3.]

As one of the most important figures in an English literary generation that is bowing itself off the stage, Ford Madox Ford [whose last name once was Hueffer] knew rather intimately Henry James, Joseph Conrad, Thomas Hardy, H. G. Wells, Stephen Crane, D. H. Lawrence, John Galsworthy, Ivan Turgenev, W. H. Hudson, Theodore Dreiser and Algernon Charles Swinburne.

In this book Mr. Ford has set down his impressions of their goings and comings and his criticism of their work.

Ford tells of the loud and furious arguments that Dreiser used to start, and of his own more fundamental war with H. G. Wells. Thomas Hardy comes out of these pages as a man with a most remarkable memory for Latin verse who was constantly badgered by his wife and the archdeacons. D. H. Lawrence was torn between the influence of a jovial father and a Puritanical mother, but never doubted for a moment that he would make a great fortune by writing. And so in the other sketches, too. Ford always affords an intimate glimpse into personality. E. K.

A Sensible Biography of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

"Harriet Beecher Stowe," by Catherine Gilbertson. [Appleton-Century, $3.]

This is a sensible work that neither beatifies nor crucifies Harriet Beecher Stowe. Since the woman herself knew no middle ground, it would appear that a middle course biography might be fairly dull reading; therefore, it is not the intention to deny that the going is a bit heavy during the early chapters that deal with the colorless, repressed childhood of Harriet Beecher.

But here lies an explanation of the fire, the desire and the hysteria born of frustration that went into "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "an emotional spree," Mrs. Gilbertson calls it. It was more than propaganda; it was a powerful instrument that helped cause a war. And Mrs. Stowe made no bones about her next two books, "A Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Dred, a Tale of the Great Dismal Swamp." She gave them as anti-slavery propaganda after critics of Uncle Tom had aroused her to a fighting mood. But they had only the hysteria—not the power—of the first.

There are generous glimpses of Mrs. Stowe's life with the eccentric Prof. Stowe and the book takes leave of her in her last days as an around-the-corner neighbor of Mark Twain in Hartford, Conn. C. L.

Alice Grant Rosman's New Novel Delightful.

"Truth To Tell," by Alice Grant Rosman. [Putnam, $2]. Published yesterday.

Alice Grant Rosman has written nine novels to date, each one of them as fresh and crisp and gay as a June day [one of those that prompted Mr. Lowell to his famous lines about "what is so rare?"]. Each one has found a large and enthusiastic audience among those who frankly want a book to titillate rather than uproot mind and emotions. Miss Rosman is unlike most writers who have their peaks and their crevasses of writing. She sails along, like a bird on the wing, from gay treetop to treetop.

Alice Grant Rosman.

"Truth To Tell" repeats its eight predecessors' pleasant charm. It is destined for a cozy summer afternoon . . . or, as many of her admirers declare, as a perfect convalescent's dish.

There is much truth untold and left to tell to the two principal characters, an orphaned boy and girl who have lived with their aunt and uncle and grandfather and grandmother, respectively, for all except three and six of their young years. Uncle and aunt are darlings, grandma a lady who gets her own way by fancy ruses; grandpa, crochety but henpecked. The children have been kept apart so thoroughly that the girl doesn't even know of her brother's existence or her real name.

Miss Rosman has a merry scalpel for those who do not give youth its chance, and a happy but matter of fact sympathy for the young themselves whom she depicts.

Characters Well Drawn in "A Mighty Fortress."

"A Mighty Fortress," by Le Grand Cannon Jr. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.] Published last Monday. A selection of the Discoverers.

"A Mighty Fortress" is about a New Hampshire farm boy who apprenticed himself to a revivalist and decided he wanted to be a preacher himself. He had deeply loving and understanding parents who permitted him to go his own way, although they yearned to have him till his native soil.

So he went to Andover and became a Congregational minister . . . at first an assistant in a large Boston church, and then, by the almost life wrecking connivance of his wife's father, head of the church at 19. Those were fiery days in Boston, and almost accidentally he became involved with the Abolitionists. An ignominious dismissal, grueling months of looking for another job and his final work in a little country church in Connecticut map his life.

Zeke the hero is well depicted, but the memorable characters in "A Mighty Fortress" are Zeke's father and mother and Mr. Watling, the very wordly revivalist. F. B.

. . . started a movement of eager summer homesite seekers for this secluded lake property, resembling a gold rush on a small scale. They came from everywhere, it seems—arriving, many of them, as early as 7:30 Sunday morning. It was not long before a steady stream of automobiles, converging from all directions on the main highways, formed an endless procession over the road that turns toward Forest Lake Estate. The serious minded summer home seekers stuck to the task of making their selections and pulling tags right through the numerous rain showers, and not until what seemed a combination cyclone and cloudburst almost turned day into night, in the midst of the greatest activity, did the buying orgy cease.

TODAY AND TOMORROW—

the Big Parade to FOREST LAKE will start again. Come out early today or Sunday sure, secure your lake site, and enjoy your own cottage this summer.

With your location selected, you very likely may wish to build at once and enjoy nature's own advantages this summer—away from humdrum city life, noise and dangers; where the children can romp and play in the open, on the beaches, in the playgrounds, or can rove the forests as the Indians did in an earlier day; where you can breathe pure, fresh air, fish, swim and canoe, or acquire that much needed and postponed comfortable rest, distant from traffic. We will render our building services without charge and furnish architects' plans for a number of most attractive cottages.

HERE'S THE ROUTE

TAG PULLING PERMITTED

Upon arriving at Forest Lake, you will find all lots staked and tagged. If our representatives are too busy to give you the service you feel you require, just drive around, make your own selection, and if you want to insure getting your choice, pull off the tag and take it to the office on the property.

CHICAGO POLICE BEFORE THE SENATE COMMITTEE.

Capt. James L. Mooney of the Chicago police, supported by Capt. Kilroy and Assistant Corporation Counsel W. V. Daly, told the senate postoffice committee in Washington what happened at the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel company on May 30, when ten persons unfortunately were killed or fatally hurt and nearly 100 injured. Capt. Mooney was in charge of the police line which successfully stood off an attempt of rioters to break through and reach the steel company employés who were inside the plant.

It is a shrewd and false figment of radicalism repetitiously used that all persons injured in a conflict between the police and armed rioters were innocent of any intent to do any wrong and were assaulted in a peaceable gathering which had none but the most innocent purposes. This, in most instances, is on its face a most absurd statement, but it gains weight in public opinion and violent men constantly use it to undermine the law enforcing officials and to make the victims of their own designs the martyrs of a cruel society. Their success in imposing this opinion upon the people is largely due to the fact that the accused law officers are seldom given a chance to tell their story and sometimes are not believed.

The senate committee before which Capt. Mooney appeared was appointed to investigate the interference and stoppage of the mail by government supported C. I. O. insurgents. It immediately began to pay more attention to an incident in which the mails were not involved than to the subject supposed to be that of its inquiry. Senator La Follette's committee on civil liberties also has the South Chicago incident on its schedule and the Chicago police will be under fire twice.

It was not to be expected that Capt. Mooney's auditors on the senate committee would be very sympathetic. Some of the senators were prepared in advance, and are still, to believe that the fatalities and casualties in South Chicago were caused simply by the police brutality in charging peaceful people on an innocent walk. There are other senators, including Senator Bailey of North Carolina, who seem to be at least of an open mind. Capt. Mooney said the mob surged forward, hurling slabs of concrete, bricks, stones, and other missils, and attacking the police with clubs and lengths of pipe.

"Did any one threaten the police," asked Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana.

"One had a club with a meat hook on the end of it and he said he'd put it through my skull," Capt. Mooney replied. The insurgents, the captain remarked, had been warned and had been asked to disperse and not bring on the conflict. The leaders of the rioters yelled in reply that they were going "to get the finks in the plant and the police couldn't stop them."

The chairman of the committee, Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, objected to the submission of pictures showing the start of the conflict. These are the very pictures which explain the situation and give its cause. The first pictures show how the fight began, the persons responsible for it, the provocation, and the danger in which the policemen were suddenly involved.

Senator Ellender, with a pretense of innocent inquiry, asked Capt. Mooney what interest outsiders would have which could bring them into an attack upon a plant in which they were not employed. The question would indicate that the senator has kept his mind carefully closed to the admitted tactics of the insurgents. He apparently has never read of recruiting of outsiders for violence at spots selected by John Lewis and his general staf.

What the hostile senators are relying upon to sustain the legend of unprovoked police brutality is the picture of the final dispersal and pursuit of the rioters.

The situation may be laid before the common sense of the country. Do men inflamed by inciting speeches approach a police line with meat cleavers, boat hooks, slingshots, and steel missils, on an innocent mission? Are they merely Sabbath strollers when in a great mass they approach a line of police who are on duty because a plant and its working employés are endangered?

Regardless of what the C. I. O. sympathizers in the federal government will endeavor to make of it, the advance on the police lines and the plant was intended to teach the workers a lesson. If the rioters had broken through the line or if it had not been there, Illinois would have had another disgraceful massacre and the law officers would be held responsible. At Herrin, where John L. Lewis sent a message before the massacre, the state authorities fearing to offend him refused to heed warnings of what was about to happen, and the most hideous butchering in American national industrial strife resulted.

The stage was set at South Chicago May 30 for a repetition of this slaughter. Herrin was, or should be, enough for all time for this state.

OUR GOLD FOLLY.

The general level of prices in the United States is 10 per cent lower than in 1929. But one commodity, gold, is 60 per cent higher than in our last great boom year. The price is $35 an ounce because the United States treasury holds out the offer to pay that much for all the gold that is sent here from any place in the world, without restrictions upon quantity.

It is not because it cannot get all the gold it desires at a lower price that the government makes this unvarying daily bid. The treasury has more gold than it has any use for, more than it can pay for without difficulty, more than it could conveniently store in the previously available storage space.

Supply and demand dictate the price of a commodity. When the price goes up the explanation is found in a decline in output, a falling off in the accumulated stock, or an increase in demand. Which of these conditions would account for the willingness of the treasury to pay $35 an ounce for gold, or nearly $15 more than the 1929 price?

It certainly is not a failure in production. The world output of gold in 1929 amounted to less than 20 million ounces. The figure for 1936 was 33 million ounces. This year will, judging by the first four months' record, run far ahead of 1936. And there is no mystery about this increase. Our high price has stimulated gold production all over the world. Since costs of mining are substantially less than in 1929 a profit can be made out of working sources which previously were submarginal.

Some commodities have gone up this year because the previously accumulated inventories have been used up. That isn't the situation with gold. Gold is durable. Each year's output is added to what there was before. The total world stock was 500 million ounces, now there is 650 million ounces.

Meanwhile the demand has declined. When corn is high and wheat is low farmers use wheat instead of corn for hog feed. And when the United States government ran the price of gold up from $20.67 to $35 an ounce other metals were substituted which had not advanced as much in price. One source of demand for gold, the age old use of gold for hoarding, has, by law, ceased to exist in the United States and as a result of official discouragement elsewhere.

In the face of a 60 per cent increase in output, a 30 per cent increase in the accumulated stock, and a definite falling off in demand, we are continuing to buy all the gold anybody anywhere wants to sell at 60 per cent above the 1929 price. That we are pursuing this policy alone and without aid is seen by the fact that we bought last year an amount of gold equal to the entire world output. This year for the first six months our purchases are even greater.

From time to time there are intimations that we have a deal with England, and that the English are coöperating closely with us in every move. The coöperation seems to consist of England taking the profit and letting us take the gold, for nearly 60 per cent of the gold produced last year came from British colonies.

With the present quantity and output gold is not worth $35 an ounce. Sooner or later we shall be obliged to take cognizance of that fact. And the sooner we do the less will be the loss to the treasury. Right now the price could be reduced to $20.67 with a loss of only about four and a half billion dollars, including the paper profits we took in writing up our inventory in 1934.

Every day increases the loss that must be taken. For every day gold continues to rain upon us. A billion dollars' worth, equal to a big year's production, has arrived in the six months since the government decided that the addition of any more gold to our monetary stock would have a harmful effect upon the country. A billion dollars of the national debt represents money borrowed to carry metal the government has no use for.

The government which has been unable to find revenues to maintain those on relief in the style to which they had been accustomed has assumed the impossible task of maintaining, single handedly, the price of gold at $35 an ounce. He is an optimist indeed who believes that a collapse can be averted if this folly is not soon terminated.

THE NAVY'S MASS FLIGHT.

How air navigation can knit the United States to its outlying posts was well illustrated on June 22 when a mass flight of twelve navy bombers flew nonstop from San Diego to the Panama Canal Zone. The distance of 3,085 miles was negotiated in twenty-seven hours and fifty-eight minutes through considerable bad flying weather but without losing formation. Eighty-four officers and crew comprised the flying force. In comparison, a hop from Panama to the mainland of Florida or flights to Alaska and thence to Attu, the most distant of the islands of the Aleutian chain, would be a routine matter.

As far as the navy officers are concerned it merely meant a transfer of twelve planes with their complementary flying crew from the San Diego base to the Panama Canal Zone, so that there were no previous announcements and little publicity. The incident, however, cannot fail to inspire assurance in the minds of Americans. The eyes of the fleet are functioning in accordance with the best traditions of the navy.

Editorial of the Day

NOT ONE CENT FOR BALLYHOO!

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

The administration is not averse to publicity about most of its activities but has not said much about its employment of press agents. Now, through the work of the Brookings institution studying federal reorganization at the behest of a committee of which Senator Byrd is chairman, it is getting publicity on this particular enterprise, also.

More than $500,000 was paid to these press agents in 1936, the institution reports. The law specifically says that no money shall be expended for publicity unless directly authorized. None has been appropriated for that purpose. Thus, money intended for other uses has been diverted for ballyhoo. These funds have been utilized to spread propaganda about this or that department or agency of government which thought it was not getting enough public attention.

Yet with the aggregation of correspondents that the newspapers and new agencies maintain in the capital no real news goes unnoticed. These trained men follow every thread and ferret out every fact. Nothing of any importance to the voter is neglected.

Here is one spot in which the government can save. It is little, but in this day of sway back budgets it is something, and every bit helps. It would be a good idea to put the press agents on the WPA writers' project if they need help. There they could still exercise their talents toward the public good and it would be cheaper for the taxpayer. Not one cent for ballyhoo should be a motto of the investigating senators.

The landlord comes; a chariot of fire
Would awe me less than his new shiny car.
I know the weeds are daily mounting higher—
I know he makes complaints because they are—
But what does he expect when God has turned
(I mean it); even God has turned his back.
Last year the suns of heaven burned and burned—
This year my corn is puny from sun's lack.

Drive up, you greedy fool, and scan and scan
The slopes, all gully-fretted, count your gain!
Do you have any pity for a man
Who bends above his hoe and sees the rain
Tear up the roots of plants which in a way
Are body flesh? You will not starve; I may.

THE KILLING PACE.

This is the age of hustle and bustle, hurry and scurry. But now and then the intense activity can't be maintained. There was, frinstance, the corporation president who pressed a button in his New York office and told the assistant who flurried in: "Go out and inspect our new factory in Chicago; they say the construction is proceeding at a killing pace, but I want the truth." When the assistant arrived he found things not so good and wired: "The pace is killing Old Father Time."

WHICH END OF THE LAKE IS UP?

The Ancient Mariner Himself is hereby nominated to arrange a conference of the city fathers from the head of Lake Winnebago with Chicago's hardworking council committee on name changing and general confusion. Too bad Pere Marquette didn't name the place in 1673; it would then be, properly Tête du Lac; for he recorded that he remonte (went up) the river to Lake Winnebago after baptizing the natives of Green Bay. Fond du Lac was settled by some New Yorkers about 1835 and New Yorkers unfortunately know nothing about Wisconsin or other midwestern names. If you doubt, here's a clipping from the New York Times which listed among the governors attending the Louis-Braddock go. . . . "Koehler of Wisconsin and Davis of Ohio."

Both got cash; one, renown:
Sun next day, rose, went down—

SEASONED REASON.

Much of the strife that marks our present so-called civilization seems to have no tangible issues on which to base itself. Settlements, with the use of reason, should not be more difficult than in the case of the porter and the chef in Rabelais. The porter, as you may remember, stuck his bread above a roasting goose and the delicious smoke permeated and improved it. When the chef demanded payment for the aroma the porter, by order of Seiny Jhon the Fool, who was made arbitrator, clinked a coin on the table. The sound of the metal, said Seiny Jhon, was a fit reward for the smoke that had been consumed. The thing that raises the incident from fact to fiction is that, according to the robustious François, all involved admired and were satisfied with the decision.

CLEAR THE TRUMPET.

THE apparatus with which we hear is much more complicated than many of us realize. There are numerous sections, each with its special job. While most of the business of hearing is carried on inside the skull, nevertheless the noise gathering shells which adorn the head are essential. Regardless of their utility as hatracks and points of departure for women's coiffures, they serve to direct sound waves into the ear canals, where they set in vibration the drum which lies inward about one and one-quarter inches.

This latter affair may be regarded as a partition wall separating the middle ear from the outside of the body. It serves as a dam, preventing foreign bodies from reaching the sacred precincts within. In structure it is thin, much like parchment, and under normal conditions there are no perforations. Only when the space inside becomes infected with pus, demanding exit, will it rupture or require opening surgically.

As most of us learned in school, vibrations are transmitted to the nerve of hearing and thence to the brain through a delicate mechanism, one part of which consists of the three bones called commonly the hammer, the anvil, and the stirrup.

Collections of wax in the outer canal sometimes form plugs which press directly against the drum. These may be sizable in extent—one-half inch or more in length and one-quarter inch in diameter. Their presence is a common cause of deafness. If they exert pressure—as many will—dizziness, ringing noises, and occasionally nausea may ensue. As a rule this material is dry and hard, and most of us have experienced the phenomenon of a dark brown, waxy ball rolling out of the ear. Whenever water reaches the bottom of the canal, however, as it is bound to do following swimming, the mass may swell with increasing deafness and pain.

We are frequently cautioned as to the importance of cleaning this avenue of sound, and it is an excellent practice to place a bit of white vaseline or a drop of liquid petroleum in the canal to soften the wax and facilitate its removal. Pins, hairpins, paper clips, etc., should not be employed, as there is considerable danger of injury.

On the whole, children are far better supervised than they were a generation or two ago. There seem to be fewer instances in which beans, peas, or pebbles are tucked into the orifices. But occasionally physicians are called upon to extract these foreign bodies. If the object is hard and resistant to water there will be little trouble in syringing the ear in such a way that the article is forced out; but a pea or bean, if moist, will swell and cause great pain. Frequently a local anesthetic is of help, as greater manipulation is thus permitted.

Cases have been reported in which seeds of grain have been harbored for months before deafness called attention to the situation. Certain glass beads or round buttons could relate horrific tales about their sojourn in some child's ear.

For the next several months youngsters particularly will be out of doors most of the time and camping or hiking trips will be the order of the day. Bugs or flies may crawl into the hearing passageway, become imbedded in the wax, and thus be unable to escape.

Freshly ensconced insects can be removed easily by filling the canal with warm hydrogen peroxide solution. The bubbling oxygen usually will float out the bug, whereupon the difficulty is over. This is worth a trial in any event, but the best method is the use of a syringe, employing boric acid solution in the washing process. Too much force must not be used, although after the patient is accustomed to the swish of the water the power of the stream may be increased if it is directed against the side of the space—not toward the drum itself. The object is to allow the stream to create a suction—a partial vacuum—so that the obstruction will follow the return flow as it leaves the channel.

DIZZY SPELLS.

M. L. M. writes: What would cause dizzy spells in a woman 56 years old? She has them when she wakes up during the night, on arising in the morning, and at intervals during the day, especially when she bends over. She says she feels top-heavy during the spell. She has also had periods of being very warm, and she even perspires when other members of the family are comfortable.

REPLY.

If the menopause is over the cause of the vertigo may be some difficulty with the circulation supplying the inner ear. Sometimes the retention of fluids is responsible and a brisk, saline cathartic may be helpful. Another possibility is trouble with the eyes. A complete physical checkup is advised. The sensation of warmth is an accompaniment of the change of life.

LEUCOPLAKIA.

C. M. writes: For about five years I have had a small patch inside my right cheek. About two years ago I had it burned out with an electric needle. Later I had a tooth extracted which I thought might be responsible. I am now receiving injections of gold. I have never been told what it is.

1. Could this be leucoplakia?

2. Is there a possible cure in these injections?

REPLY.

1. It may be. Leucoplakia buccalis consists of irregular, smooth, bluish-white patches on the tongue and sometimes on the inside of the mouth.

2. It is resistant to treatment. Silver nitrate and chromic acid have been recommended for local use. The electric cautery is of value.

DISCHARGING EAR.

J. D. M. writes: I am 50 years of age and since childhood I have a discharge from the right ear. There is no pain. My twin sister also had this trouble in her right ear and neither one of us can hear on that side. What treatment would help?

REPLY.

You have a chronic otitis media [inflammation of the middle ear]. Such a condition is exceedingly difficult to cure after so long a time. The ear should be cleaned out daily with an antiseptic solution. You should be in the hands of a good ear specialist.

SORE EYES.

E. F. writes: Do puffed and scaly eyelids mean an internal disorder? Urine is negative. My eyelids have been that way for about ten years.

REPLY.

You may have conjunctivitis, or what is commonly termed granulated eyelids. A good eye specialist can help you.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile.—Is there a change at hand in the United States' politico-economic policy? This is a question asked today with increasing hopefulness by the "forgotten man" of the "good neighbor" era—the American trader, who has borne the brunt of this novel experiment.

So far as he is concerned, the good neighbor policy during the last four years has cost him scores of millions of dollars in lost trade every year. His claim for damages is backed up by American commercial attachés and consuls in every part of Latin America.

Revived hopes of a change in state department policy are based on the introduction of a little more frankness in official references to trade relations with southern powers and increased publicity for complaints from the business man and official on the spot.

The change in official feeling is not spectacular, but nonetheless it is perceptible. And the American trader and investor, like the drowning man, is ready to clutch at any kind of straw. For him the "good neighbor" has turned out to be the "soft neighbor."

So far as this correspondent's investigations go, the principal complaint is that Washington's overwhelming anxiety not to offend the Latin American temperament was carried to an extreme, with the result that diplomats and consuls, through no fault of their own, failed adequately to protect the legitimate interests of their citizens and to stand up solidly for what hitherto were accepted as permanent American ideals.

Contrasting with the aggressive diplomacy of Europe, which enforced harsh trading pacts—of the compensation variety—with South America, American representatives, apparently acting under orders, seemed loath to take up protests, and when these were forced upon them, were so anxious to avoid the impression of being anything but the "good neighbor" that their failure was discounted in advance.

Great Britain's trade pact victory over Argentina, dramatically sealed on the eve of the Pan-American peace conference, and Germany's jump into first place among exporting nations to Chile, a position occupied by the United States for twenty years, were two concrete cases of European realism, against which American interests found it difficult to contend.

American business men frequently complained that they were not receiving the customary support that would certainly be obtained in similar cases in any non-Latin American sphere. There was also said to be a lack of interest in their complaints among American officials, which could only be explained by reason of policy.

Half-hearted protests against unfair allocations of dollar exchange, discriminatory embargoes and quotas, increased tariffs, cornered investments, and treatment of American owned utilities mounted up and were pigeonholed in Latin chancelleries, while rival trading countries, unhandicapped by "good neighbor" idealism and negotiating on ordinary international give and take bases, got away with every privilege to be had.

Washington's practice of "turning the other cheek" has definitly failed. Proof of this is contained in the voluminous reports submitted by official trade experts in every capital south of Panama. It can be detected between the lines of recent statements by departmental chiefs in Washington.

American traders, encouraged by signs of action, do not advocate any dramatic switch-over from the "good neighbor" to the so-called "big stick" policy. They welcome good neighborliness so long as it is mutual and realistic. But, so far as they can see, Washington has made generous economic and political concessions and received in return only the editorial panegyrics of the continental press.

DESIRES CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, June 20.—[Friend of the People.]—I entered the United States from Canada in 1920 and did not pay a head tax. I now desire to take out citizenship papers and am wondering if I will have any trouble in doing so, or will I be sent back to Canada. B. K.

It is assumed that the inquirer has not been out of the United States since his entry, as stated, in 1920. Under the facts stated, it does not appear that he would be subject to deportation. Under existing legislation, aliens who entered the United States prior to June 3, 1921, and have not been absent therefrom since that time, and of whom there is no record of arrival, may apply for legalization of their residence here. If and when the inquirer's immigration status has been adjusted he may apply for citizenship papers. He may call at room 718 new postoffice building for further information and appropriate application blanks.

NEIGHBOR'S RADIO.

Chicago, June 18.—[Friend of the People.]—The people living next door to our house have their radio on so loud that it is impossible to sleep, and it is an every night occurrence, lasting until 1 and 2 a. m. I would like to know how to go about putting a stop to this as we all work in the day and don't think they have a right to keep us up all hours of the night with their noise. I called the police once and that put a stop to it for a few days, but now it is just as bad as ever. Please see what you can do to cease this nuisance. A. P.

Officers interviewed the party complained of, who states that he works nights and plays his radio, but not loud. He also stated that his lease expires and he intends to move before another two weeks. He promised there would be no further cause for complaint. JAMES P. ALLMAN,

SOMETHING ABOUT A BARN.

Chicago, June 25.—The public soon forgets . . . so do editors, it seems.

In all the noise the administration is making about tax avoidance [legal], with comments leveled at one's questionable patriotism who avails himself of the law's loopholes, I have been wondering when some alert editor would dig into the morgue and drag out the prize example . . . set for the nation by none other than F. Details slip me, too. But the gist of the thing concerned Mr. Roosevelt's smiling explanation of his cleverness in avoiding a tax on a barn on his Hyde Park estate. Dig it out again. It should look swell in print—especially now!

THE MOTORIST'S SIDE.

Chicago, June 22.—"Taxpayer" in Sunday's TRIBUNE complains that the Chicago Motor club opposes diversion of gas taxes to pay police salaries, asserting that the police are helping motorists, consequently, the motorist should contribute to paying police salaries.

This loose thinking is responsible for the piling up of taxes on one class of citizen, the motorist. The motor club opposes diversion because it is unfair to tax one class of citizen for the benefit of all.

The motorist, too, pays a real estate and personal property tax, in addition to various taxes he pays on his automobile. He pays a vehicle tax to the city of Chicago, he pays a license fee to the state, a gas tax of 3 cents on every gallon of gas, which goes to the state, city, and county. He also pays a federal gas tax of 1 cent, a tax on oil and a tax on his new car and any parts he may buy. The money he pays in taxes benefits all citizens in improving real estate values.

The motorist now pays for many improvements which benefit the general public; for example, car owners' money builds bridges, which carry the general public; roads built out into the country facilitate the movement of milk and other products into the city, enabling the public to buy such products at a lower cost. The motorist builds roads in rural areas, permitting children to go to school at all seasons of the year.

The heavily burdened car owner, however, does draw the line at paying a gas tax for the building of roads and having this tax spent for municipal operations.

RECENT EVENTS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Chicago, June 22.—Certain recent events in Pennsylvania have served to give birth in me to a truly brilliant idea for the prevention of one of our most serious crimes, namely, bank robbery.

Whereas the burglarizing of a bank presents no grave social problem, the holdup and robbery thereof leads to violence and bloodshed and the disruption of society,

While governments have tracked down and killed the perpetrators of the crime, they have made but little headway in preventing it. To them I present my great idea, magnificent in its simplicity: Just have the President close all banks.

RUSSELL BERRY.

FREE ENTERPRISE.

Chicago, June 23.—No true American, who believes in and loves our democratic system of government and our free economic structure, can fail to thrill at the courageous fight that Tom Girdler is making to save this country from a form of Fascism. But does he come before the court of public opinion with clean hands? I believe that is an essential requirement for a plaintif in a court of equity, and the two courts are identical in that respect.

Is he willing to take the Republic Steel out of the Steel institute and make it a free independent competitive company governed by the natural laws of free competition? If he does not subscribe to monopoly in labor in the steel industry he cannot consistently subscribe to the monopolistic tendencies fostered by the Steel institute. When the great steel companies time after time come out with identical bids on submitted specifications it is obvious that they are subscribing to artificial price fixing and not to free competition. When they artificially maintain prices they naturally restrict the use of steel and thus the number of jobs available to steel workers. We know that two wrongs will never make a right, but under an artificially limited system it is human nature for labor to counter with artificial limitation, also.

Why will not our great industrial leaders realize what a crisis we are facing and admit the errors of their monopolistic tendencies and get back to free competition so that they can face this attack upon our system with clean hands? Business can be ever so big and ever so prosperous under natural, free competition. If our leaders believe in our free system they must stand for it 100 per cent. There is no possible compromise between our true system and Fascism. Our attempts so far have all led to confusion and more confusion and are driving us headlong toward the seemingly inevitable crash.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

San Diego, Cal., June 20.—I am quite old now and I immigrated long before the depression in the good old times. A lot of people smile when one talks of the good old times; still I am not so sure that we are much better off than at that remote time when immigration was free and we did not have any high tarif.

If we had a population of 240 millions instead of 120 we would not need to worry about who uses our cotton, our grain and other products, and there would not be so many flats vacant; also competition in industry and art spurs us on towards progress.

Excellent workingmen of every trade landed here from every country and showed us many a trick.

Radios and motorcars would be good inventions if they would not be abused. Hogs make our streets unsafe and hogs abuse the air. Between bars of music we have to listen to the praise of toothpastes and coffee.

STALIN PLANTS BIG KISS ON LIPS OF POLAR FLYER

'He Men' Take Down Their Hair in Moscow Reunion

MOSCOW, June 25.—(AP)—Dictator Joseph Stalin, "the man of steel," yielded to impulse today when he greeted the heavily-bearded Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, homecoming leader of the soviet union's north pole expedition, with a kiss full on the lips.

Dr. Otto Schmidt. [Acme Photo.]

The kissing was not confined to Stalin and the chief of the band from the north pole. Klementi E. Voroshilov, commissar for war; Premier V. M. Molotov, and other government leaders exchanged embraces and kisses with several members of the expedition besides Schmidt.

This was the climax of a spectacular welcome by the nation's leaders for the 31 men who last month flew to the north pole, landed there and established an observation base for the soviet union at the top of the world.

Fly In From Archangel.

The homecoming went off like a well-timed theatrical performance. The expedition, flying non-stop from distant Archangel, was due in Moscow at 5 p. m. Just at that hour the four planes—three huge 24-ton craft and a smaller pathfinding plane—appeared in the distance.

Ten minutes earlier, Stalin, riding alone in a big American-made automobile and followed by two cars full of guards, arrived at the Frunze military airfield on the outskirts of Moscow. The Russian dictator was greeted jovially by members of the political bureau and the government, most of whom also had arrived in American-made automobiles.

Marshal Semion Budenny, chief of the Moscow garrison, kept close to Stalin at all times, but the latter moved about freely in close proximity to more than 1,000 persons allowed near the official stand. He appeared in robust health.

When the polar adventurers alighted from their planes, open, flower draped, American made cars carried them to where Stalin and others awaited them.

Greet Their Families First.

Instead of mounting the government stand, however, they swarmed into one adjoining, where their relatives were grouped. There the returning heroes seized wives, children, mothers and others in the most demonstrative meeting foreign correspondents ever had been in Russia.

Stalin entered into the spirit of the affair. Some of the flyers took their children into the official stand, where Stalin picked up several, hugged them and posed for photographs with them.

Col. Philip H. Faymonville, United States military attaché, and Wing-Commander Charlton Hallowell of the British embassy were the only foreign attachés invited. It was explained this was because Valery Chekalov and his two companions passed over American and British territory in their recent flight from Moscow to Vancouver, Wash.

NEW ASHLAND AV. BRIDGE TO OPEN NEXT NOVEMBER

The new Ashland avenue bridge over the south branch of the Chicago river will be opened to trafic next November, Thomas Pihlfeldt, city bridge engineer, said yesterday. Steel work on the bridge has just been started. The bridge will cost $1,375,000, 30 per cent of which is being provided by the Public Works administration and the remainder by the city.

During construction, trafic is being routed over a temporary bridge.

The new bridge, with its 90 foot roadway, will remove the last bottleneck on the 100 foot Ashland avenue thoroughfare joining the north and south sides of the city.

Forest Preserve Swimming Pools to Be Opened Early

President Clayton F. Smith of the county board announced yesterday that because of the heat swimming pools in the forest preserve will open earlier this year. The Cermak pool in Lyons and the Green Lake pool will open tomorrow morning. The Emmett Whealan pool at Milwaukee and Devon avenues opens Monday. The pools may be used, for a nominal fee except on free days, from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m., except on Sundays, when they open at noon.

KISS DESCRIBED

Mrs. Lillian Hawes Carter Younghusband, who gave her husband's French business partner a five minute kiss, according to testimony in divorce suit.

It was a continental kiss lasting five minutes that his wife asked for, and his French business partner gave her in Paris, on their honeymoon. The husband objected and then he punshed her nose because she threatened to return to her pre-marital sweetheart in Chicago.

Thus spoke the husband, J. Leslie Younghusband, wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, yesterday in the court of Judge John C. Lewe where he is contesting the divorce suit brought by his fourth wife, the former Mrs. Lillian Hawes Carter, on grounds of cruelty. Except for the one punch, Mr. Younghusband maintained he was a pacific husband.

Judge Lewe also issued a third subpena to summon Charles Abbate, 922 East avenue, Oak Park, a commission merchant at the next hearing July 6 as a witness, when Younghusband's attorney said he had ignored two others. Abbate has been identified in testimony as the John Doe with whom Younghusband charges his wife had an affair before and after their marriage a year ago.

FLIES SEAPLANE NONSTOP FROM COAST TO COAST

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—The first nonstop transcontinental flight in a seaplane was completed this afternoon when Richard Archbold, sportsman pilot, and four companions arrived at North Beach airport from San Diego.

The elapsed time for the trip was announced as 17 hours 3 minutes and 30 seconds by timers of the National Aeronautical association. The plane left San Diego at 8:51 p. m. Thursday.

Mr. Archbold, a research associate of the American Museum of Natural History, who bought the 34,000 pound flying boat, a Consolidated PBY-1, for $250,000, plans to use it across the Pacific on his way to an exploration trip in New Guinea later in the summer.

CONVICT PORTER IN GET RICH QUICK STOCK SCHEME

Jurors Find Him Guilty of Using Mails to Defraud.

Waterman William Porter, former broker who operated an extensive get rich quick investment business until it was halted by the government in 1935, was found guilty yesterday by a jury in federal Judge Charles G. Briggle's court of using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Porter was accused of causing losses totaling $1,500,000 to his 2,000 clients.

The jury deliberated 5 hours before returning a verdict of guilty on only one of the 15 counts on which he was indicted. Each count was based on the sending of one letter. A verdict was reached at 10:30 Thursday night, sealed, and returned yesterday morning. It carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $1,000 or both.

Promises Are Told.

During the two weeks of the trial, witnesses testified that Porter operated a chain of investment houses which employed high pressure salesmen who borrowed securities from clients for use in stock operations. The clients were promised the return of their securities and interest from 6 to 15 per cent.

In his own defense, Porter attempted to shift the blame for his shortage to Harold A. Crisman, former general manager of his companies and general sales manager, who testified against him.

Porter maintained that his business was properly conducted, but that Chrisman made unauthorized promises.

Also Puts Blame on SEC.

Porter also charged that the collapse of his business largely resulted because the Securities and Exchange commission started an investigation of him in February, 1935.

Following the return of the verdict, Judge Briggle ordered Porter's bond raised from $5,000 to $10,000 and announced that the date for the hearing of a motion for a new trial, presented by Defense Attorney James C. Leaton, will be set in the next two or three weeks. Porter was permitted his liberty pending the scheduling of more bond.

33D DIVISION VETS GATHER AT REUNION; FIRST SESSION TODAY

An advance guard of several hundred members of the 33d division War Veterans' association gathered at the Hotel Sherman last night for their eleventh annual reunion. Two thousand more veterans are expected to be on hand when the first session opens this afternoon.

Of the 43,000 men who served in the division about 32,000 are still alive. Forty per cent of them live in Chicago and another 40 per cent elsewhere in Illinois. Large out of state delegations are arriving from California, Texas, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York. John H. Neuman, who served in a machine gun battalion, made the longest trip of any of the veterans—he came yesterday from Santos, Brazil.

Miss Rita Lane, 20 years old, who said she came from a small town near Des Moines, Ia., died in the County hospital yesterday of poison she took earlier in the day in the basement of a State street department store. She told police her fiance was killed in an auto accident two weeks ago and she had come to Chicago to forget.

CHINESE EXPECT ROOSEVELT TO PAY THEM VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 25.—Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, former Chinese ambassador to the United States, who is conferring with Dictator Chiang Kai-shek at Kuling, informed the generalissimo, according to Chinese papers, that President Franklin Delano Roosevelt is planning to visit Hongkong, Canton, Shanghai, and Nanking in the autumn. The trip will follow a journey to Manila, the papers declared. They asserted the President is eager to visit places on the Chinese coast where his grandfather, Warren Delano, engaged in early Chinese-American trade. Mr. Roosevelt's oriental voyage was suggested by Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippine commonwealth, but Washington dispatches said the President would make it only if congress adjourned before too late in the summer.

HONOR INVENTOR OF STEEL PLOW AT GRAND DETOUR

Monument Is Dedicated to Leonard Andrus.

Grand Detour, Ill., June 25.—[Special.] — This colorful little village nestled in a great horseshoe bend in the Rock river was host today to some 8,000 persons who crowded its dusty streets to pay homage to Maj. Leonard Andrus, founder of the town and inventor of the first steel plow in America.

Guests who were present at the dedication of a monument to Andrus were former Gov. Frank Lowden of nearby Oregon and John P. Devine, former speaker of the assembly. Dean Chris L. Christenson of the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin was the principal speaker at the program which preceded the dedication of the monument erected by Leonard Andrus III. of Portland, Ore., grandson of the founder of this quaint hamlet. L. R. Clausen, president of the J. I. Case company accepted the memorial and promised perpetual care for the plot.

Pageant Portrays History.

Music for the ceremonies which included a pageant directed by Sidney Breese of Chicago and depicted the events leading up to the invention of the steel plow 100 years ago, was furnished by the Kable Brothers 129th Infantry band of Mount Morris. Father B. Norman Burke of St. Luke's Episcopal church of Dixon gave the invocation before the ceremonies.

The world's first steel plow factory was started by an old mill race on the Rock river here. The site of this pioneer factory was presented to the J. I. Case company, which later acquired the business built by Maj. Andrus and John Deere, by Leonard Andrus III.

Changed Farming History.

The coming of the steel plow changed the agricultural and economic history of the upper Mississippi valley. It was John Deere, a Vermont blacksmith, who moved to Illinois in 1837, who saw the possibilities of this innovation and went into manufacturing with Maj. Andrus.

Before that time the American farmer working the gumbo soil and buffalo grass of the great valley was not far advanced in methods from the Russian plowman or the ancient Egyptian.

Deere one day took a steel mill-saw blade and hammered it into a moldboard. He ferried it across the river to a neighboring farm and tried it out. It worked, scouring the soil and shedding a clean furrow. It was not the first steel plow, but it was the first time that it had been pushed into manufacture, and by 1846 Deere received his first steel plow from Pittsburgh.

COLIN CLIVE, 37, OF STAGE, FILMS IS DEAD IN WEST

Hurt at School, Turns Actor at 19.

Hollywood, Cal., June 25.—[Special.]—Colin Clive, well known stage and screen actor, died today. For several days he had been seriously ill of pulmonary and intestinal ailments. He was 37 years old.

It had been Clive's early ambition to follow the footsteps of his father, Colin Clive-Grieg and become a soldier. He set out on this path but suffered a broken knee at military academy which ruined his hope for a commission in the British army.

The young man then turned to the stage and later entered pictures where he enacted the military rôles of which he had been deprived in real life.

After a short study period at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, Clive made his first appearance when he was 19 years old at the Garrick theater. His first vehicle was "The Eclipse."

Other pictures in which he played included "Clive of India," "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," "Jane Eyre," "The Key," "Christopher Strong," "Lily Christine," "The Stronger Sex," "The Right to Live," and "Frankenstein."

His latest movie work was in "History Made at Night."

Clive was born at St. Malo, France, Jan. 20, 1900. His education included attendance at Stonehurst college and the Royal Military college at Woolwich, England. He was married to Jeanne de Cesalis, French actress.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The great Shakespeare feud between NBC and CBS, which some say was conceived as a sequel to the Jack Benny-Fred Allen battle of the kilocycle, is getting louder and funnier. Next Monday Elaine Barrie will join her now-he-is-now-he-isn't-or-is-he? husband, John Barrymore, in streamlining "Richard III." NBC thought up that cute title—"Streamlined Shakespeare"—for its Monday evening series, while CBS, which announced its Monday night Elizabethan drama plan a month in advance, unimaginatively entitled its offering simply "Shakespeare." Of course there still are two weeks before CBS gets its project under way—and it may yet be named "Airflowing the Bard of Avon."

A Minnesota network blanketing the north woods section is putting on—of all things—a fish story contest. Listeners who tell the biggest fish stories—true, please—are awarded cases of beer and other prizes by the sponsor, a beer concern. Just to keep fans honest, the fish stories must be verified by the nearest dealer, who weighs the catch and measures its length. There must be a witness, too. Week of June 17 Ed Kurilla of Rhinelander, Wis., headed the list of winners with a forty pound muskie.

Here's a double feature: Queen Mary and the Archbishop of Canterbury participating in a corner stone laying ceremony at Church House, Westminster Abbey, at 8:55 this morning, via WBBM and WMAQ.

News Notes—Sheila Barrett, mimic, Graham McNamee, and Joe Rines' orchestra are reported signed for a watchmaker's series over NBC Sunday afternoons starting Sept. 26. . . . Ted Weems' Sunday Serenades, sponsored over the Mutual network, will fold after tomorrow's broadcast until next fall. . . . Robert Armbruster will become musical director of the Fields-Ameche-Bergen show on July 4. He has been musical director on the Coronet series with Deems Taylor which ended its run last night. . . . Joe Cook's show winds up for the summer tomorrow night. . . . Tim Ryan and Irene Noblette have signed for 13 more weeks on their Sunday Mutual airing. . . . Amelia Earhart is expected to tell the story of her around the world flight on Radio Theater broadcast of Monday, July 5.

A group of motor dealers are launching a new summer show on WBBM tomorrow entitled "Rhythm at Noon," featuring Doug Hope in crackpot interviews, Cheri McKay, the Three Notes, and a swing band. . . . Joe Kelly, m. c. of the National Barn Dance, is visiting New York. . . . Joan Blaine has turned down several movie bids and will return to radio from New York in the fall. . . . Harriet Brewer, contralto of the CBS Hymns of All Churches program, has been engaged to appear with the Chicago City Opera in the fall. . . . Betty Wragge of "Pepper Young's Family" has been signed for No. 1 road company of "Dead End."

HOLD RITES TODAY FOR R. M. MAGILL, INSURANCE MAN

Funeral services for Robert M. Magill, 62 years old, prominent Chicago insurance dealer for forty-five years, who died Thursday in his summer home at Michigan City, Ind., will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 716 Washington street, Michigan City. Burial will be in Pine Lake cemetery, La Porte, Ind.

Mr. Magill was a member of the insurance firm of Wiley, Magill & Johnson in the Insurance Exchange building. In recent years he spent most of his time in Michigan City.

Mr. Magill was a member of the Chicago Athletic association and the Bob o' Link Golf club, and was a former treasurer of the Chicago Board of Underwriters. He is survived by his widow, Harriet; a daughter, Mrs. Norman Johnson, and four sisters.

SCHOLAR'S WIFE KILLED BY GAS IN HER KITCHEN

With gas escaping from four open burners on the range, Mrs. Nelle Lucas Forsythe, 47 years old, was found dead yesterday afternoon on the kitchen floor of her apartment at 1018 North State street. She was the wife of Robert H. Forsythe, chief bibliographer at the Newberry library and former assistant professor of English at Northwestern university.

Forsythe, grief stricken, told Chicago avenue police of finding his wife's body when he came home for luncheon. He said she had been suffering from bronchial asthma for many years, but that he knew of no other motive for her to take her life.

Debut Plans, Engagements Hold Interest

Added Topics for Chat at Weddings Today.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEWS of engagements and impending debuts will vie with the brides themselves today as topics of conversation among the guests at the last big weddings of June.

This will be especially true in Winnetka, where Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Harris' daughter, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmid's daughter, Diantha Birdsall, are to become brides this afternoon.

One newly engaged young woman, Mis. Barbara Ann Sargent, and the two debutantes whose plans are being announced today, Miss Margot Webbe and Miss Nancy Craft Wolcott, all live in Winnetka.

The news of Miss Sargent's engagement to William Herman Wieboldt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Wieboldt of Highland Park, was announced at a luncheon yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester F. Sargent. The wedding is to take place in September and Mr. Wieboldt and his bride will live on the north shore.

Miss Sargent, who was introduced in 1933, is a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school and of the school of speech at Northwestern university. Mr. Wieboldt is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Sargent has just returned home from the east where she went to see her second daughter, Miss Peggy Sargent, receive her diploma from Smith college.

Another Party for Holidays.

The Christmas holidays already have a full schedule of parties for the debutantes and their beaux, but into the list of events is being crowded yet another party and a delightful and different kind of one, too. Mr. and Mrs. Albion S. Webbe and Mr. and Mrs. Ryland A. Wolcott are going to give a breakfast at the Indian Hill club on Wednesday, Dec. 22, to introduce their daughters.

Miss Webe, a Smith student, and Miss Wolcott, a student at Vassar, will return to college in the fall. The former and her brother, Scotson Webbe, a Williams senior, will spend the summer at home, but Miss Wolcott will go to Gloucester, Mass., next week to spend two months at the Gloucester school of theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Loeber will give a tea dance at the Knollwood club on Friday, Sept. 17, to introduce their daughter, Miss Ann Loeber. Mr. and Mrs. Loeber have taken a cottage on the grounds of the Knollwood club for the summer.

Reveal Engagement of Susanne Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Carleton Wilson of Evanston are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Susanne, to W. Baldwin Sinclair of Evanston, son of Walter A. Sinclair of Omaha, Neb. Miss Wilson is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Franklin Wilson who were pioneer Evanston residents.

Miss Wilson is a graduate of the Roycemore school. Her fiancé is a graduate of the Phillips-Andover academy and is engaged in business in Chicago. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Miss Harris to Wear Aunt's Bridal Gown.

To return to the brides. Miss Harris, whose bridegroom is Albert Willard Adcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Y. Adcock of Evanston, is to wear the lovely gown in which her aunt, the former Pearl Harris, was married to M. Haddon MacLean at Lake Geneva in 1910.

Miss Elizabeth Davidson of Menlo Park, Cal., will be the maid of honor, and the bride's two sisters, Mrs. John R. Moulton and Miss Cynthia Harris, and their cousin, Miss Valeria Harris, and the bridegroom's cousin, Mrs. Walter B. Rowe, will be the bridesmaids.

John Sloan of Peoria will be best man, and ushering will be Stanley G. Harris Jr., Huntington Harris, cousin of the bride; Mr. Moulton, and Mr. Rowe. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock at the Winnetka Congregational church, with a reception following in the gardens of the Harris home.

Schmid Wedding at Christ Church.

Miss Schmid's wedding to George Northrop Malinette of New York will take place at the same hour in Christ church, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating, and a reception will follow at the Schmid home. Miss Jane de Peyster will be the maid of honor and Mrs. Talbot Wegg Jr. of Washington, D. C., will be the matron of honor.

Miss Harriet Daughaday, Miss Marion Green of Rockford, Ill.; Miss Korleen Metzger of Schenectady, N. Y., and Miss Virginia Selkirk of New York will be the bridesmaids. John Sloatman of Norwood, Pa., will be the best man, and ushering will be the bride's brothers, David S. and Warren G. Schmid, Frank Wood of Schenectady, Carl Marshal of Troy, and John Kruesi of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Following a wedding trip to the Pokonos mountains, Mr. Melinette and his bride will be at home in New York. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Melinette, are here from New York for the wedding.

Many Dances Will Be Held This Evening.

Weather permitting, a full moon will lend its enchantment to the dances that will make this evening a gay one both in town and in the country. At the Stevens hotel the junior board of the Northwestern University settlement will hold a bargain ball to raise money for the support of the House in the Wood, the settlement's summer camp for

For Town and Vacationing

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

For town and vacation wear you hardly can beat this tailored dress. It is easy to make and just as easy to wear. Linen-like cotton made the original, and all types of wash fabrics are suitable and appropriate. The original is in a bittersweet shade and trimmed with white bias binding.

The neckline has just a brief suggestion of revers. The shoulder yoke is cut straight across and develops into brief sleeves. Below the yoke is an interesting bodice, you will notice. The waistline is a slim, flat panel which acquires the lines of a sash in the back. Two wide pockets are not only useful but decorative as well. Notice that the skirt has no bothersome plaits. Paneling, cleverly styled, creates the necessary width for comfort and grace.

If you like rickrack braid it makes a charming trimming for this model. It is inexpensive, available in a wide color range, and easy to apply.

Style No. 2506 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with 4½ yards of binding.

AN out of town visitor inquired of a fellow passenger on a bus what was the nature of the improvement along Lake Shore drive where men are at work. The other woman was quick to explain, and Martin K. Ash overheard her. She said that for the convenience of bathers comfort stations were being built all the way from the Drake to Lincoln park.

IN the morning mail: "For heaven's sake lay off that afternoon tea stuff before the boss gets the idea. I worked in one of those places once. The catch is you have to stick on the job every other second of the day. No sneaking down to the lobby for a lemon coke about 3. How would Bill manage to get down to the cigar counter for the baseball scores? And Jim couldn't make a date with two of the stenos down at the fountain where he buys them a soda most every day. . . . That fifteen minutes out for tea is supposed to take care of all the necessary recreation for the whole afternoon and for all of us at once. . . . There's a big kick in snooping off by yourself and meeting a half a dozen truants from other offices. Stolen fruit is sweetest. . . ."

FROM the column headed "This and That," by J. P. H., in the Hutchinson [Kas.] News:

"One night last week an old coupe slithered its way across a pasture in the Flint hills in a driving rain, following a faint road that led from a stripper oil well to the highway. Its headlights finally exposed a barbed wire fence gate. A man in breeches, laced boots, stained leather jacket, and battered felt hat, the sole occupant of the car, got out and opened the gate. There were no headlights to help him now and only flashes of lightning to direct his hands feeling through the grass for the strands of wire. There was a barb in the wire where he finally located the gate and it cut his finger. Perhaps he swore as he held his hand up to wait for another crack of lightning to see how badly he had hurt himself. Then suddenly his expression changed and he began chuckling softly: 'One year ago tonight,' he thought to himself, 'I was nominated for President of the United States.'"

A WELCOME little hot weather note from the Humane Education society came in the mail. Through the courteous coöperation of one of the big oil companies the society has been able to place drinking troughs for dogs in a number of service stations throughout the city. Made of galvanized iron, they are stenciled "Water your dog" and the strays of the city also will profit from them as well as pets of station customers. The troughs are furnished gratis to any station owner who will take them, the only obligation being that the owner promises to keep them clean and filled with water.

Offer Lingerie, Hand Made, at Bargain Prices

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's not often that a cruising shopper can find exquisitely hand made summer lingerie at low prices. So, when such good looking loot does appear, it's just good shopping sense to buy while the assortment is complete.

Complete lingerie sets are available . . . in cool white flat silk crêpe and the slightly more expensive sheer white ninon. The ninon wears unbelievably long, launders smoothly and stays snowy white. This because it has a linen thread base, so the designers report.

You can select the lovely sleek fitting pieces in two colors—tea rose pink with shallow scallops and bindings of soft blue, or the white with contrasting trim of scarlet. You choose a super fitting slip, or combination or nightgown or French panties or take the entire set.

The most expensive piece in the flat silk crêpe stuff is the nightgown which is yours for about four dollars. The ninon nightgown is the most expensive of the four pieces but is unusually low at about six dollars.

When you see the beautiful hand work, the simple, expertly cut streamlines, the faultless seaming and hand bindings and the effective scallops that edge the vee necklines of the nightgown and edge the other pieces you'll realize what a grand find this summer showing of cool pink or white thin lingerie really is.

Sally to Give Guest List in Sunday Paper

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Tomorrow will bring an end to suspense, boys and girls! THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE will carry the good news, and all the youngsters who wrote in for invitations to my first big party of the season will learn the winners.

The names and addresses of the fifty boys and fifty girls who wrote the winning letters will be printed in my column. The winners will be delighted, I know, because seeing your name in print means that the mailman will soon bring an invitation from me to our party at Comiskey park, where we'll see the White Sox play the Detroit Tigers. It's going to be a swell party, and well worth your effort to win.

Naturally, some boys and girls will be disappointed. Many of you forgot to include details I requested, and your letters had to be discarded. But you needn't feel bad for long, because in the same column which announces the winners you'll find news of our second party. It's one that I know will please all you youngsters, but I'm not going to tell you about it today, you'll just have to wait till tomorrow, and I assure you it's worth waiting for!

Youngsters who missed out on news of our first party will have a chance to try for the next one, and those that didn't win invitations to the game will have a splendid chance to try again. So don't miss tomorrow's TRIBUNE.

Miss Wurster Will Be Bride at Lake Forest

Doering-Triggs Nuptials Take Place Tonight.

Milwaukee and Chicago social circles are interested in the wedding that is to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the gardens of the Lake Forest home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kieckhefer, where their niece, Miss Dorothy Wurster, will become the bride of Walter E. Jahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jahn of Milwaukee. The Kieckhefers are former Milwaukeeans, but have been occupying Col. Noble B. Judah's estate for several years.

Every one hopes that the sun will be shining for the service and that the moon will cast its glow on the picture before the dancing at the reception is ended. Many of the guests are coming from Milwaukee, and the hosts expect that the young people will linger on long after the bride and bridegroom depart for a honeymoon in Honolulu.

Mrs. William A. Wurster of Buffalo, N. Y., will be her sister-in-law's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Eleanor Kelley, Miss Norma Timberman, Miss Dorothy Olson, Miss Nancy Kieckhefer, and Miss Virginia Ott of Milwaukee; Miss Mary Louise Renton of Maplewood, N. J.; Miss Harriet Beaton of Omaha, and Miss Mona Janes of Racine.

Robert H. Kieckhefer, the John Kieckhefers' son, will be best man. Ushering will be the bride's brothers, William and Albert J. Wurster of Plymouth, N. C.; James Crittenden of Sewickley, Pa.; A. H. Eller of Winston-Salem, N. C.; John Horton of Buffalo, Wyo., and Harold Young and William Messinger of Milwaukee.

After Oct. 1 Mr. Jahn and his bride will be at home at El Rancho Robles at Oracle, Ariz.

Miss Peggy Lou Doering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Doering, and Charles Warren Triggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Triggs, all of Wilmette, will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth. A reception will follow at the Shawnee Country club.

Among the bride's attendants will be her 7 year old cousin, Jerre Lou Church of St. Louis, as flower girl. The bride's sister, Miss Betsy Ann Doering, will be maid of honor. The bridegroom's sisters, Miss Jane and Miss Lollie Lou Triggs, and another of the bride's cousins, Miss Kathryn Streiff of St. Louis, and Mrs. William McKinnon Jr. of Milwaukee will be bridesmaids.

After a month's honeymoon in Mexico, Mr. Triggs and his bride will live in Evanston.

Miss Barbara Macpherson Sincere and Roy Tyler Miles will be married at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Sincere, in Highland Park. The Rev. William F. Weir of the Deerfield Presbyterian church will read the service in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Miss Jean Sincere will attend her sister, and H. Richard Miles will be his brother's best man. Mr. Miles and his bride will sail next Tuesday on the Bremen to spend two months on the continent. They will live in New York.

The George B. Masseys, Loren J. Massey, and Miss Henrietta Boal, all of Winnetka, are in Mexico City for the wedding today of George B. Massey Jr. and Miss Louise Atherton, daughter of Mrs. John C. Atherton and the late Mr. Atherton. Loren Massey will be his brother's best man.

In the gardens of the Woods Hole, Mass., home of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Warbasse this noon Charles W. Spooner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Spooner of Glencoe, and Miss Vera Warbasse will be married. The bridegroom's sister Miss Polly Spooner, and her fiancé, John T. Hays, are to be attendants. Mr. Spooner and his bride will make their home in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Miss Marion Elizabeth Barnum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Barnum of Evanston, will be married today to Dr. Charles F. Ingersoll of Grand Rapids, Mich., at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston. Dr. Ernest F. Tittle will officiate, and a reception will follow at the Barnum home.

Retired Actor Returns.

Hollywood, Cal., June 25.—(AP)—Tully Marshall, veteran stage and screen actor, could not resist the lure of the camera. He retired two years ago and took a leisurely world trip. B. P. Schulberg asked Marshall to accept a rôle in "Accidents Will Happen." Marshall accepted.

Hinsdale Horse Show

Miss Catherine Decker is a member of the junior committee for the Hinsdale Horse show to be given today and tomorrow at the Oak Brook Polo field. The Hinsdale Horse Show association and the Hinsdale Junior Center of the Infant Welfare society are sponsoring the event.

Buffet luncheons will be served on both days, and there will be a cocktail tea at the Polo club following this afternoon's events.

This evening a paddock dance will be held at the Hinsdale Golf club. Among those entertaining at dinner before the party will be the James A. Hannahs, the Edward P. Brookses, the Walter P. Saunders and the Frank J. Schaefers. The judges will be guests at the dinner.

A polo game between the Oak Brook team and the Rising Sun ranch team, a major contest in the Central League championships, will climax tomorrow afternoon's program.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Proportions of sugar and water were exchanged in a recent recipé for marmalade which appeared in the cooking column. Here is the corrected recipe.

CARROT AND ORANGE MARMALADE.

4 lemons.
8 cups sugar.
5 cups water.

Remove peel from oranges and two of the lemons. Chop or slice it thinly. Soak overnight in cold water and drain. Cut oranges in small pieces. Add soaked peel and oranges to carrots and cook until tender in as little water as possible. Add sugar and water and cook until thick and clear. Add lemon juice and cook five minutes longer. Pour into clean jars and seal.

Splendid Cast Keeps Secret of Mystery Movie

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Do you like to get all keyed up over a mystery film? And NOT be able to guess the answer at the first gong? Okey. Then I recommend "The League of Frightened Men" to your attention.

If, in a current periodical, you have read with interest of the sleuthing adventures of fat Nero Wolfe—whose hobby is orchids!—you'll be pleased to learn that this movie has been adapted from one of those stories.

Once upon a time, you are informed, a certain chap had been hazed at Harvard by ten companions. The hazing had resulted in his crippling. From then on Paul Chapin, who becomes a famous mystery story writer and a most bitter and revengeful man, has had to walk with two canes.

One by one the hazers meet with tragic and unexpected deaths. After three have been suddenly and unaccountably assisted into the hereafter, leaving no clews that PROVE Chapin the murderer, Nero Wolfe is called into action. . . . In due time he, of course, uncovers the identity of the killer. . . .

The action moves swiftly and suspensefully from arresting start to exciting climax.

Should future Nero Wolfe pictures be screened—and I hope they will be!—may Walter Connolly be retained in the character of the detective! He is to Wolfe what Warner Oland is to Charlie Chan and William Powell is to Nick in "The Thin Man" series. His portrayal is a brainy and believable one.

"The League of Frightened Men" is splendidly acted throughout, was directed with a sure, strong touch—and a twinkle!—and, in all ways, I would say, rings the bell as program "button button" film.

See you tomorrow.

La Rabida Benefit.

The junior auxiliary of La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium will hold a benefit beach supper this evening on the grounds and beach of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Kratz's summer home at Ogden Dunes, Ind. Mrs. Joseph T. Cochran heads the group, which already has raised its entire 1937 quota for the sanitarium.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

LONDON.—[Special.]—In Ireland we found that lavender is the most popular scent, even as it is in England. But the Free State has put a terrific tarif on the English lavender and is experimenting with its own.

They're doing some interesting things, too. There is, for example, a washing powder scented with that perfume, which is much like our soap flakes and powders with lavender added. The idea is to invest the fabrics laundered with the delicate perfume that all the women over here are so crazy about. Whether it works we don't know because we had no opportunity to try it out, but the idea of perfumed washing powders for lingerie and fine fabrics appeals to us enormously.

Then, also in Ireland, we came on, of all things, a floor and furniture polish scented with lavender. That's really going to some perfuming lengths, isn't it? But it gives you an idea of how lavender conscious the women of the British Isles really are.

Women who use the polish tell us that they like the faint, fresh scent it gives to their rooms and to their furniture. It isn't at all strong, but there is a definite air of clean sweetness about it. Maybe there's a brainwave in this for some American manufacturer.

There is also a flock of wave-setting lotions in the same scent. Since women in this part of the world are not inclined to go to the hairdressing establishment as regularly or as casually as we do much of this is sold for home use, plus combs and curlers. The women have become remarkably deft at using them, too.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

"Smooth SKIN DEW gently into fine lines and wrinkles"

"It is the finest, smartest facial oil I've ever found. Women are grateful for it because it gives them thrilling results for so little money; for so little time. It even helps you to smooth out fine lines and wrinkles; helps you to get and keep a lovely, soft lustrous skin, a skin like that that youngsters have. Soon, you'll have a healthier skin, with blemishes gone, and pride in your heart. I know you'll love it."

Miss D'Orsay Contradictory in Handwriting

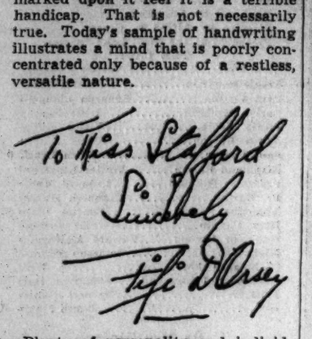
BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

Versatility and poor concentration often go hand in hand. You are almost an exception if you find one marked upon your chart without the other.

Many readers who have sent for a chart and find "Poor Concentration" marked upon it feel it is a terrible handicap. That is not necessarily true. Today's sample of handwriting illustrates a mind that is poorly concentrated only because of a restless, versatile nature.



Plenty of personality and individuality here! Notice the artistic touches in the printed capitals and circle "i" dots. The capital "M" is the "sophisticated M" as well as having an artistic flare.

Miss D'Orsay writes with extreme rapidity, as all fast thinkers do. She is sometimes so active her ideas become slightly confused. I asked her if she minded my mentioning her weakness and she said she didn't at all, because it was true.

How does the lack of concentration show? Notice those long, long "f's" that run into the next line so that neither line is absolutely clear cut. Such long under loops are made by those who find it difficult to settle down to one thought, discarding all others.

An interesting thing to note in this case is that Miss D'Orsay makes her "y's" and "f's" very differently at the end of a word. I had her write three times to make sure it wasn't an accident the first time. The "y" in "sincerely" and the "y" in her name are completely unlooped and not long like the other lower loops. This is an absolutely contrary indication to the overlong loops in the middle of her words.

The conclusion is, of course, that, like all those who make the circle "i" dot, Miss D'Orsay is contradictory and hard to understand. Her restless thoughts confuse her at times, but in the end she always comes out with a clear cut, direct idea.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, post-office box 1720.
2. Inclose 10 cents (carefully wrapped) for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.
3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

Age Becoming Big Asset to Movie Careers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 25.—[Special.]—In the early days of motion pictures, when studios built their stories around pretty little girls and handsome young men, the stars jealously guarded their youth even to falsifying their ages and employing various artifices to stave off the inevitable day when maturing features would make it impossible for them to pass as youthful romantic leads.

These subterfuges are still practiced, but players who really know their art and appeal to movie goers on more than looks alone no longer have to worry that a few wrinkles and locks of gray hair will render them useless to the screen.

For as motion pictures have developed as a finished form of drama, plots are no longer concentrated on ycuthful players alone, but require the performances of a variety of players to give them depth and realism. Actors and actresses who can give convincing interpretation to older rôles are more in demand than they were in the days when they played younger parts.

Adolphe Menjou, the sophisticated lover of former days, has graduated into the ranks of mature man-about-town and begins a new picture as quickly as he ends another.

Lewis Stone had an enormous fan mail as a matinée idol of bygone years, but he is still in great demand for his character rôles.

Lionel Barrymore, of course, is one of the best examples that a really fine actor goes on playing indefinitly.

Among the feminine actors none had a greater following than Alice Brady when she was an ingénue, but her fame in present character parts threatens to eclipse her former reputation.

Billie Burke has few equals in the fluttering matronly parts which keep her constantly in demand.

No greater proof of the popularity of older actors is needed than that of the late Will Rogers and Marie Dressler.

SYNOPSIS.

INSTALMENT XII.

A LIFE THREATENED.

Katharine had turned white.

"Do you mean that Amos Newton believes that John Millis would be capable of killing Michael?" she gasped.

"Now see here, Kit," Terry said reassuringly, "I don't believe it. Not for a minute."

"Your uncle soberly believes that?" Katharine pursued relentlessly.

"O, absolutely."

"Your uncle is still in Alabama?"

"No," Terry said reluctantly. "Uncle Amos got home last night."

Katharine was on her feet instantly. The other two rose too.

"Sit down," Katharine ordered. "And sit right there until I come back. I am going to talk to Amos Newton, and I am going alone."

The Japanese house boy who admitted Katharine seated her in a coldly formal reception room, while he went to announce her to his master. Newton ladies looked down upon her from the walls, austere, slightly disapproving. Katharine's heart sank.

The boy returned shortly with a penciled note.

"Absurd, but I had gone to bed. Don't reproach yourself. I was wide awake and sadly bored. Please look around while I get dressed. A. N."

"Mr. Newton says will you please go into the library," the Jap suggested respectfully.

Even in her troubled and distracted mood, Katharine gasped with delight at the room into which she was ushered. It was a room of noble proportions, softly lighted, softly carpeted, with flickering firelight falling on endless rows of books. There had been three generations of book lovers in the Newton family, and their collection was well known, but never had Katharine seen a famous library so much a beautiful integral part of its owner's study. Books lay about everywhere, in a most casual and inviting fashion. The whole room was full of intimacy and charm.

At one side of the room was a fine old desk, used and much worn. It was flanked on both sides by shelves of books of unusual beauty, evidently chosen because they were the most perfect examples to be found of the bookmaker's art. On the desk stood a huge copper bowl, with a marvelous patina, as if it had been polished through the long years by the patient palms of willing slaves. It was filled with a riotous mass of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Over the desk, skilfully lighted so that one was conscious only of the picture itself, was the portrait of a man. A member of the Newton family, Katharine decided, but not quite true to type. The face was highly intelligent and strong willed, as were they all, but it had besides a suggestion of enormous vitality and love of life. It was a gay challenging face. One was loath to turn away.

"Terry's father, my brother Charles," said a quite voice at her elbow.

Amos Newton was standing beside her. He was looking at her with a keen and friendly interest. She wondered how she could have been afraid.

"I should be very happy," he said lightly, "that you have come to see me, if I were not quite sure that you have come because of some trouble. Shall we sit on the couch by the fire, and will you tell me what you wish me to do?"

"It's Michael," she said simply. "Terry says that you soberly believe that John Millis would be capable of killing Michael."

Newton looked attentive—deadly sober, uncommunicative.

"Are you going to tell me why you think that—if you do?" Katharine said pleadingly.

"Do you think I should?"

"I wish you would."

"Am I to be guilty of passing on to a steadily widening circle a fear that I cannot fully justify?"

"Will you wait until a man is caught redhanded in the act before you try to prevent murder?"

"We do, you know."

"Do you?"

"I made my attempt, Katharine. It is not I who chose to wait."

"I, too, made an attempt. That very night I went as far as I dared in trying to tempt Michael to run away with me. He—he was pretty stern with me. But it doesn't make me love him any less. At least I am not ready to say: 'Very well. Stick to your horrible family and get killed. Serves you right.'"

Newton frowned. "That would be a little Spartan," he admitted. "Do you think he is more ready to leave them now than then? Or have they attached him permanently?"

"No. He is getting discouraged. He will be disposed to make some change soon. Will it be sensible just to wait?"

"You should not have waited this long, Katharine," Newton said gruffly. "Every sign of growing restlessness and discontent will increase Michael's danger. As long as he is docile and content, Millis may be satisfied. I don't know."

"What is it that Mr. Millis wants?"

Newton looked at her in surprise. "Are you really stupid, or do you merely wish me to commit myself. Millis wants Michael's millions. Has Michael made a will?"

"I don't know."

"Your virtues are your weaknesses," he said, almost angrily. "Michael would be safer if he had a doughty little defender like you who was also a prying puss. You are little help to me, Katharine, nor am I any help to you. I can only repeat my former advice. By any hook or crook get Michael away. That means entirely out of reach of Millis' unscrupulous power."

Katharine rose, white faced and resolute. She knew that she had been dismissed. As she held out her hand in bidding him good-by, he looked down into her eyes still mutely questioning, then drew her hand through his arm and led her across the room, to stand beside him before the man with the gay challenging face.

"When I was a boy," he said quietly, "I was a discouraging proposition. I was ugly and defiant and I had my hand against the world. At the age of fourteen, I became utterly unmanageable. My brother Charles, recently married, took me from my doting mother to live with him. For ten long years it was touch and go whether I was to land on the rocks or make good. The one thing that saved me was my brother's patient love and understanding. Naturally, from the time that I came to myself I had but one eager desire, and that was, to make good for Charley. He was pleased with me, but I had little recognition from the world until recent years. They tell me that fate has treated me kindly, Katharine; that I am young to have received so many marks of respect. I feel that I have little for which to be grateful. I have gained most of what I set out to get, and it is dust and ashes."

He looked down at her with all the bitter sadness in his face of which, as a rule, she caught but a haunting suggestion. Then he raised his face to the picture over the desk.

"This brother of mine," he said, "who in every act of his life followed gaily and warmheartedly a doctrine of selflessness, was for the sake of a few million dollars and the wicked control of a helpless boy deliberately, almost casually, snuffed out by John Millis."

Amos Newton drove Katharine home. They had exchanged scarcely a word since Amos had made his astounding assertion as to John Millis. Amos was calm, but unsmiling; Katharine, stunned and silent.

Miss Elizabeth Buchen, Mrs. Joseph W. Sharp, Miss Gretchen Onderdonk, Mrs. Edward M. Tourtelot Jr., Miss Jane Hoover, Miss Barbara Ann Sargent, Mrs. J. H. Sheldon Lee Jr., Mrs. C. Hunter Lindsay, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Spencer are among those bringing guests to the party.

Guests will wear everything from overalls to sport dresses for the barn dance this evening at the Dunham Woods Riding club. Dinner will be served at the clubhouse and there will be dancing afterward in the hayloft of the old Dunham mare barn half a mile from the clubhouse.

Expect Large Crowd at Knollwood Club.

With 550 expected to attend its Night at Coney Island this evening the Knollwood club yesterday stopped accepting reservations for the dance, the first large party of the season. A merry-go-round, wheels, side shows, and a weight guessing man will lend the appropriate carnival atmosphere to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Cushman Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David J. Molloy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Mitchell, and the junior Edward F. Hamms are among those who are planning to attend the party.

The Chicago Town and Tennis club formally is opening its outdoor pool for the season this evening. Water polo, swimming, and diving events will be followed by dinner and dancing on the terrace.

The Evanston Golf club also is holding its June dinner-dance this evening.

Miss Betty Armour and Miss Mary Gardner are in the east today for the debut of their friend, Miss Elizabeth Cushing, daughter of the Charles G. Cushings. Her parents, who are former Chicagoans, are giving a dinner-dance for the debutante tonight at the Piping Rock club in Locust Valley, N. Y.

Miss Cushing is coming west in September to visit her grandparents, the Albert W. Goodriches, and some of her parents' old friends, who doubtless will entertain for her at that time.

Miss Armour and Miss Gardner are returning to Chicago Tuesday.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE MATHEMATICS OF REDOUBLES.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

A redouble is a double of a double. It is the "you're another" answer to the opponents' assertion that they think they can defeat the contract.

If a player redoubles and makes his contract he gets four times the undoubled value of the trick score. For any overtrick he makes he gets 200 points not vulnerable and 400 points vulnerable. On the other hand, if he is defeated at his redoubled contract, he loses heavily, the regular doubled penalty points being doubled again.

TODAY'S HAND.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: This hand occurred in ordinary rubber bridge. It is sent to illustrate how a little imagination and the asking bids, even in the hands of an average player, would have uncovered a sure vulnerable grand slam.

East, dealer.
North-South, vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	Double [1]	1 heart	1 spade [2]
2 clubs	4 spades [3]	Pass	Pass
Pass

"As South, I give my repentant comments:

"1. With 4 sure, and 5 probable losers, and the fact that the hand could be played in spades only, a take-out double, which asked for a spade fit, seemed preferable to the risky game forcing two clubs, even with four and a half honor tricks. Moreover, the double at minimum risk virtually assured me another chance to bid.

"2. Against West's heart overcall North keenly inferred that the double cried for a spade fit and preferred one spade to two diamonds even with si.. diamonds.

"3. My error. I felt that the spade fit insured game and rubber and failed to visualize that even with only five and a half-plus honor tricks in combined hands second round club control and diamond ace would yield a small slam. And West's one heart suggested that North had diamond ace instead of heart king. Moreover, a club asking bid would have tested the question without forcing the bidding above four spades. Thus:

"Four clubs, asking for second round club control and a first round control outside. I assume that four clubs would be earmarked as an asking bid and not to be mistaken for a 'genuine' club bid, especially in view of East's two clubs.

"Four diamonds, showing second round club control, and, in view of my singleton king, almost certainly diamond ace, not void, thus insuring the small slam.

"Five clubs, asking for third round club control for the grand slam, as my losing heart would be discarded on diamond ace.

"Five no trump, showing third round club control and making seven spades a laydown on the bidding!

"Yours truly,

"E. H. A. Jr., Cambridge, Mass."

My correspondent's afterthought as to the proper bidding of the hand would have worked out beautifully. I do not agree, however, with his previous comment that North's spade bid was correct. The disparity of six diamonds to four spades was too great. Two diamonds was the correct free bid. South would then bid spades strongly, and North would support. Asking bids then would show the way to the laydown grand slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following: ♠ K Q J 10 8 5 ♥ A ♦ A K 10 9 7 6 ♣ None.

Answer: Two spades.

Three Receive Doctorate at School Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Climaxing a three day celebration of the seventieth anniversary of its founding, the Chicago Musical college held its annual commencement exercises in Orchestra hall last night and conferred on three distinguished contemporaries the degree of doctor of music.

Present in person to receive the honor were Henry Eichheim and Frederick Benjamin Steven. Emile Jacques-Dalcroze was awarded the degree in absentia.

Mr. Eichheim is the American composer who has made a specialty of oriental music. He happens to be an alumnus of the Chicago Musical college and to have played in the school's commencement concert forty-seven years ago. Mr. Steven heads the school of music of the University of Illinois. M. Jacques-Dalcroze is the originator of the widely known Dalcroze Eurythmics and a potent force in present day pedagogy.

The presentation speech in each case was made by Rudolph Ganz, president of the Chicago Musical college. Following the conferring of the doctor of music degrees, members of the graduating class of 1937 received the awards of master of music, bachelor of music, bachelor of music education, and teachers' certificates.

The invocation was made by the Rev. Gardner A. MacWhorter, the address to the graduates by Dr. George Alan Works of the University of Chicago.

Preceding and following this central ceremony was a full length concert presented by the Chicago Musical College Symphony orchestra and by advanced students from the classes of various members of the teaching faculty. These soloists were Jacobeth Kerr, pianist; John Scott, baritone; Ruth Trump, violinist; June Goethe, pianist; Virginia Kinney, pianist; Eleanor Klonder, soprano, and Jean Williams, pianist.

Leon Sametini, vice president of the college and chairman of the violin department, conducted the orchestra, surrendering his baton to Mr. Eichheim for a performance of the latter's "Burma" suite.

The question of whether butter, vegetable shortening, lard, or other fat is preferable for cookies is one which seems to trouble many inexperienced cookie makers. There seems to be an advantage of butter or margarine, that of flavor. This is important in a light colored, delicately flavored cookie, but unimportant in a cookie containing spices, molasses, honey, fruit, or other ingredients which impart flavor.

Vegetable shortenings are flavorless and are extremely easy to use because of their plastic consistency. Lard has a slight flavor which often is desirable in cookies. The answer to the original problem is simply this: Use your own judgment. You'll have good results with any good shortening. Butter is rather inexpensive at this time of the year, so its use in sugar cookies or similar types is to be recommended. Margarine, less expensive, will do equally as well.

Spicy, gingery cookies which contain molasses may be made successfully with any type of shortening convenient to use.

Spiced Fruit Bars.
[Three layer pans.]

⅔ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 beaten eggs
¼ cup coffee
1 cup molasses
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts
2 cups raisins

Cream shortening and brown sugar thoroughly. Add eggs, coffee, and molasses. Sift flour, salt, baking powder, soda and spices together and add gradually to first mixture, stirring well. Add nuts and raisins and spread the mixture evenly in pans lined with waxed paper. Bake at 350 degrees until firm and slightly brown. Cut in squares while hot and remove from pan. These cookies may be iced with uncooked or boiled frosting if desired.

Ginger Creams.
[About 5 dozen small cookies.]

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 beaten eggs
⅓ cup molasses
4½ cups flour
1¾ teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt

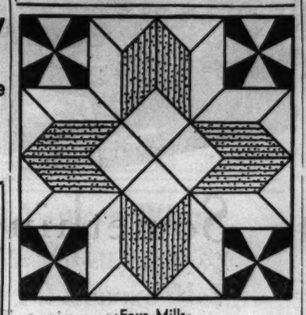
Cream the shortening, add the sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add beaten eggs and molasses. Sift the dry ingredients together and add gradually to the first mixture. After 1 cup of the sifted dry ingredients have been added, beat the mixture until smooth. Add the remaining flour and spices, and shape the dough into rolls. Wrap in waxed paper and chill in the refrigerator until firm. Slice thinly and bake at 350 degrees.

Crisp Ginger Cookies.
[About 4½ dozen medium cookies.]

½ cup shortening
½ cup molasses
¼ cup hot water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 cups flour
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar

Mix shortening, molasses, and hot water until smooth and creamy. Add vinegar. Sift flour, spices, salt, and soda together and add sugar. Add dry ingredients to first mixture, making a soft dough. Chill in the refrigerator until firm. Break off bits of the dough, roll into balls and place on a greased baking sheet. Flatten with a fork and bake at 350 degrees.

Simple Quilt Has Effect of Being Intricate Block



Four Mills.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

It is most amazing to consider the simplicity of the patches used in the "Four Mills" block and the ease with which it is pieced to appear as a most complicated quilt design. Combinations of materials easily can change the character of this pattern to such an extent that the use of certain types of printed material, combined with plain, affords diversified effects of one simple design. The block measures 12 inches square when completed, and 30 are set together with three inch bands of white between the blocks and surrounded by a nine inch white border. The finished coverlet measures 90 by 105 inches.

Adolescent Needs Taste of Freedom

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Will you tell me what you think? My mother and father say they will abide by your decision." So have ended several letters that I have received from young girls.

That is a spot for a columnist to be in. I don't like to decide between mother and child, and yet, in a number of cases the scales have gone down, plop! on the side of the young advocate, and I have frankly said so.

Many young people write into this department about one subject or another, but the matter about which I am asked to decide in the letter I have quoted and in a number of others has to do with the girls going out with boys—to movies, to parties, and with having them as friends.

"My mother doesn't think I should have anything to do with boys until I am through high school," writes a girl of 17. "I don't ask to go out a lot, but I can't study all the time. And I do get good marks."

"My father forbids me from having boys come to the house," writes a girl of 16. And one of 18 says: "My father is so disagreeable to the boys I know when they come to call for me to go out that I am embarrassed. I would like to invite them to stay for the evening every now and then, but although my father knows they are fine fellows he wants the house quiet. Do you think I should have to meet them outside, or should I give up seeing them?"

It is obvious that these fathers are in the wrong. There is no better way for a girl to see boys or young men than in her own home.

The mother with the high school daughter is unwise in forbidding her all friendships with boys. Here, again, the wise thing is to have the home open to both boys and girls, with the restrictions that a daughter's general considerateness and a parent's good sense dictate, placed upon hours and places of amusement.

Gloria Swanson's Loveliness Seems to Be Perennial Kind

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's perfectly amazing the way the girls do hang on to their silhouettes and their slender ankles these days.

I saw Gloria Swanson the other day in an interview and that amazing woman hasn't an inch more of waistline [and she has the same exquisite ankle girth] than she had when I interviewed her years ago. Her eyes are the same rare and brilliant Mediteranean blue. And she still maintains the old Swanson glamor, although she'll tell you of the lovely 16 year old daughter who came upon the scene after Gloria entered the movies.

An interesting thing happened in this recent interview with La Swanson, indicating how color affects even the glamor girls. I hope she'll forgive me for saying that when she appeared first wearing a certain shade green [which may be only my personal distaste for the particular shade] combined with black skirt and dusty apricot blouse and hat of same green shade, my reaction was that all the Swanson color had fled.

It was undoubtedly a smart outfit, according to the designers' tag. Anyway, I thought the color fearfully unbecoming. It so happened she changed into another costume in which a gray-blue navy and scarlet figured, and there was the girl we used to know as one of the screen's most interesting. Color works magic like that. Even a reputation for being best dressed won't survive some modiste's experiments to be different. She was wearing her hair in a page-boy bob, which maybe you'd like and maybe you wouldn't. But the girl is there in facial and figure contour just as attractive as ever she was. In fact, viewing some old time photographs of herself, she said: "I know darned well I'm better looking today than then!"

She says her figure has been improved immeasurably since she cut out cocktails and champagne. Although she falls off the exercise wagon, even as you and I, she does usually try to have her ten minutes' workout in the morning. One of her best recommended exercises for hip and thigh slenderizing is to lie on floor on the back, lift the legs to knee height, and swing the legs [together] from one side to the other dozens of times. Another exercise she recommends is to sit on the floor or chair and work the legs up and down quickly, one after the other, keeping the legs off the floor, however.

Pickford Discards Gown She Bought for Wedding Today

Hollywood, Cal., June 25.—(AP)—Mary Pickford changed her mind tonight about her entire costume for her wedding tomorrow to Charles [Buddy] Rogers.

She chose her gown several days ago, and tried it on, with full accessories today. Then she discarded the whole costume.

Instead of ice blue crêpe, she will wear sky blue crêpe. Her hat will be modern empire felt, rather than the halo type. Instead of blue to match her dress, her gloves will be dregs of wine to match her hat. The dress, hat, and jacket carry out the empire motif.

The ceremony will be performed at 3 o'clock in the garden at the home of Louis D. Leighton, a film producer. Fourteen persons, not including the Rev. James Hamilton Lash, will witness it.

Toe the Mark in White whether you're playing, going to town, or dressing up

$7.75

The interesting thing about our white shoe collection here at Carson's is its versatility. Perhaps you have been accustomed to think of white for dress only. Well, it's as smart as can be for that, but it is equally suitable for street if you choose the more tailored styles and echo the white accent with white elsewhere in your costume. And for play, along comes white again in sporty low heel styles that go perfectly with your fun clothes. Ties are featured here, some in white linen, some in service calf, others in white mesh with kid trimming.

Shoes, Third Floor.

The jacket makes this washable frock feel perfectly at home in town. It is casual enough to be an excellent country club dress, too, and it fits in beautifully to suburban life. Navy, brown, black, with a white linen jacket. The jacket can be worn with other dresses. 12 to 20.

Sports Shop, Fourth Floor.

This tucked sheer coat-and-dress costume has detachable pique accents all the way down the front giving smart and flattering length of line. In navy, black. 12 to 20. Priced at $22.95.

Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.

Once upon a time plaid gingham was but a country belle. But for this new season it "cuts a dash" in town. This one-piece style is square necked and accented with scalloped buttons and white pique. In washable and cool multi-color Scotch clan plaids. 11 to 17.

Teenya Shop, Fourth Floor.

Gypsy colors do a "heel and toe"! A brand new idea in hosiery—fine multi-color stripes on the toes and heels of your stockings to dress up the openings created by your toeless and heel-less sandals. The stocking is a fine three-thread silk chiffon, priced at $1.35.

CUBS ROUT DODGERS, 11 TO 2; SOX WIN, 7 TO 6

GALAN WALLOPS TWO HOME RUNS TO LEAD ATTACK

Carleton Pitches 5 Hit Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs, with the rampant Cardinals in hot pursuit, yesterday thrashed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11 to 2, to retain their one game lead over the St. Louisans, who were playing equally rough with the Giants, fading defending National league champions.

In support of Tex Carleton's five hit pitching the Cubs fashioned an 11 hit attack which included two homers and a single by Augie Galan, a homer by Rip Collins, three doubles by Bill Herman, and a triple by Gabby Hartnett.

The first Galan homer was off Freddie Fitzsimmons, a smack into the right field bleachers. The second one was off the left handed Ralph Birkofer, a fly over the new scenic laboratory fence unveiled yesterday in left field. Collins' effort was into the right field bleacher and was off Fitzsimmons.

Tex's Fourth Victory.

Carleton might have had a shutout but for the fact that he pitched home run balls to Babe Phelps and Gilly Brack. The other hits were an infield single by Jack Winsett with two out in the second inning, a single by Joe Stripp in the fifth and a single by Woody English with two out in the seventh. It was Tex's fourth victory of the season.

The Cubs have won 20 of their last 25 games, but this has not done much by way of shaking off the Cards, who have grabbed 17 of their last 20 engagements.

The Cubs and Cards will meet in St. Louis after the Cubs finish here with the Dodgers and the Cardinals wind up with the Giants. The series, which promises to be a whiz, will be played next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

A Contest For Two Innings.

Yesterday's game was a contest in the first two innings. Galan scored in the first inning on an infield single, stolen base, Lavagetto's error, and Hack's long fly with the bases loaded.

The Cubs celebrated a swell drop in the temperature by hammering across three runs in the third. With one down, Herman doubled against the new scenic fence in left field, paused while Collins popped to Bucher and scored on Demaree's single to right. Hack walked, then Hartnett tripled over Cooney's head to the scoreboard, Demaree and Hack scoring. Marty flied to Manush.

Fitzsimmons Finally Excused.

Fitzsimmons proved himself a glutton for punishment by coming back for more torture in the fourth. The inning opened with Jurges being hit by a pitched ball and advancing on Carleton's sacrifice. Galan then socked his No. 10 homer into the right field bleachers, scoring behind Jurges. Herman doubled to center and Collins drove Bill home with his No. 8 homer, also a shot into the right field bleachers. Birkofer replaced Fitzsimmons and walked Demaree, but easily disposed of Hack and Hartnett.

The Cubs didn't make a hit off Birkofer till the eighth inning when they scored three runs on a single by Jurges, Galan's No. 11 homer, Herman's third double, and a single by Demaree.

Budge, Grant, Parker Win at Wimbledon

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 25.—Three of America's Davis cup stars—Donald Budge, Frankie Parker, and Bryan Grant—advanced to the quarter final round of the men's singles competition in the all-England tennis tournament today. Playing with an injured ankle, Grant put up the best battle of the fourth round as he defeated Alan Stedman, New Zealand, 4-6, 6-8, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

Budge, favorite to reach the final round, disposed of Czechoslovakia's Ladislow Hecht, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, while Parker eliminated Daniel Prenn, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Mako Faces Von Cramm.

Two other fourth round matches will be played tomorrow, Gene Mako, Los Angeles, facing Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, and Charles E. Hare, England, meeting Heinrich Henkel, Germany.

The quarter final matches will be held Monday. Budge's opponent will be Vivian McGrath, Australian champion. Grant will meet Henry W. Austin of England, while Parker will oppose the winner of the Hare-Henkel match.

Mrs. Andrus Advances.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., reached the fourth round of the women's singles, defeating Miss F. S. Ford, England, 6-4, 6-1. However, Katherine Winthrop, Boston, was eliminated by England's Kay Stammers in a third round match, 6-2, 6-3.

SUTTER, CAMERON ENTER FINALS OF COLLEGE TENNIS

Haverford, Pa., June 25.—(AP)—Ernest Sutter of Tulane, defending champion, and Gerin Cameron of Tulsa university gained the final round of the national intercollegiate tennis tournament today.

Sutter was extended to five sets to conquer Richard Bennett of California, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5, 9-11, 7-5.

Cameron defeated 18 year old Julius Heldman of the University of California at Los Angeles, national junior champion, 7-5, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Bennett was so exhausted he was not able to play his semi-final doubles match with his partner, Paul Newton, against Robert Kamrath and Lindsay Franklin of Texas. The match was postponed until tomorrow.

One doubles team, however, entered the final. Bickel and Burgess of the University of Chicago defeated Morey Lewis and Donald McNeill of Kenyon, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

TRIBUNE CHARITY FUNDS GO TO 20 ORGANIZATIONS

$15,500 Divided Among Youth Groups.

Twenty organizations, devoted primarily to the welfare of Chicago youth, have just received a total of $15,500 from the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The idea behind the selection of this type of organization was that the funds should be used insofar as possible in the promotion of gymnasium and outing facilities for Chicago boys who otherwise would be without them.

Thus, in some measure, the Tribune Charities reciprocates the interest shown by the various youth aid groups, many of which have sent representatives into the Golden Gloves bouts. Following are the clubs which benefitted:

Chicago Boys' club.
North Side Boys' club.
Union League Club Foundation for Boys.
Catholic Youth Organization.
Jewish Peoples' Institute Boys' club.
Young Men's Jewish Charities Boys' club.
Off the Street club.
Northwestern University Settlement Boys' club.
Association House Boys' club.
Lincoln Center Boys' department.
Henry Booth House Boys' department.
University of Chicago Settlement Social Center for Boys.
Christopher House Boys' department.
Duncan House Y. M. C. A.
Division Street Y. M. C. A.
Central Y. M. C. A. of Chicago.
Sopth Side Boys' club.

X-RAY REVEALS BONE SPLINTER IN BERGER'S FINGER

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—[Special.]—Wally Berger, New York Giant outfielder, learned today that a bone splinter in his right index finger has been responsible for his recent inability to take his customary batting grip. An X-ray examination revealed the nature of his injury.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland, St. Louis Cardinal club physician, who made the examination, told Berger that it was unnecessary to undergo an immediate operation. He said the injury may heal to such an extent that it will no longer interfere with Berger's batting. Berger had fractured the finger earlier in the season.

YALE DEFEATS HARVARD, 13 TO 3, TO TAKE SERIES

New London, Conn., June 25.—(AP)—The Yale baseball team beat Harvard, 13 to 3, today, winning the deciding contest of a three game series as Larry Kelley starred in a farewell to his Yale sports career. Larry, making his final appearance in an Eli uniform, was the second man up in the ninth. He hit the first ball pitched him to the center field wall for a double. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored Yale's 13th run on a single by Eddie Collins Jr. Score:

FUTURITY ENDS WASHINGTON PK. SEASON TODAY

Field of Nine Named to Run in $38,730 Stake.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Washington Park's annual summer racing season comes to a close this afternoon with the running of the richest race programmed there this year, the Washington Park Futurity, which will have a gross value of $38,730 in the event all nine named in the overnight field go to the post.

Temporarily at least the race will clear up the 2 year old title situation, for all the juvenile stars uncovered so far this season are in the select field. By a strange coincidence all are representatives of western and middle western turf establishments.

While it is figured that Mrs. Ethel V. Mars and Hal Price Headley will send the favored entries to the post, there also will be backing for the thoroughbreds representing Warren Wright's Calumet farm and Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina farm. So powerful are the midwestern racing establishments in the juvenile division that no easterners were anxious to take a chance with them right now.

Distinct Western Flavor.

Since Mrs. Mars, Mr. Wright, and Mr. Woodward dominated the Saratoga sales last August, it is only natural for the Washington Park Futurity to have a distinct western flavor.

Tiger and Mountain Ridge will be confidently backed when they go to the post sporting the silks of Mrs. Mars. Kentuckians will string with Hal Price Headley's Bourbon King and Menow. Both showed enough at Washington Park to warant backing.

As for the Valdina hope, Lassator, he already is a stake winner, having captured the Prairie State stakes earlier in the meeting from a field that included Tiger. Lassator, by virtue of his stake victory, must pack the top weight of the field, 119 pounds. The others get in at 117 and 114 for the nonwinners.

Tiger, which many believe the fastest juvenile seen any place this year, is a son of Bulldog and Starless Moment. He was far from being the most expensive of Mrs. Mars' many purchases. Tiger cost just $4,600 and is favored to win about seven times that amount this afternoon.

Shows Tendency to Bolt.

In his first start, made at Churchill Downs, Tiger was an easy winner by three lengths. Then he came to Washington Park, was made an odds-on choice for the Prairie State, only to lose because of his only bad tendency shown so far. Tiger was leading at the turn for home when he bolted far out. Before Jocky Al Robertson could get him back into stride he was far back and had no chance.

Since then the youngster has raced once and won easily at 5 furlongs, run in only a fraction off the track mark. As for his stablemate, Mountain Ridge's first start was a failure in the Bashford Manor stakes, in which he had bad luck. His next start brought an easy victory at Washington Park.

It is believed that Bourbon King may prove the one Tiger must conquer in order to carry away the rich prize. The son of Which One-Ancient Queen raced second to The Chief in his debut. He was a victim of bad racing luck in the National Stallion stakes. Coming west, he whipped a good field by five lengths here to prove he is sharp now for his best race.

Horse.	Wt.	Jocky.	Prob. odds.
Bobber Bold	114	G. Woolf	15-1
Pharacase	114	L. Anderson	8-1
*Tiger	117	A. Robertson	7-5
†Bourbon King	117	L. Balaski	2-1
†Menow	117	J. Westrope	2-1
Lassator	119	G. Woolf	4-1
Joe Schenck	117	L. Haas	10-1
*Mountain Ridge	117	No boy	7-5
Garry	114	C. Corbett	20-1

*Milky Way farm entry.
†Hal Prince Headley entry.

Cardinals Release Siebert to Columbus on Option

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—(AP)—In order to make room on the club roster for a new pitcher, Southpaw Abe White, the St. Louis Cardinals today released First Baseman Dick Siebert to Columbus on option.

Yankee Whips Rainbow by a Record Margin

Newport, R. I., June 25.—(AP)—Yankee today defeated Rainbow by 12 minutes 36 seconds, the widest margin of victory to date in the trials to select a defender of the America's cup against the challenge of T. O. M. Sopwith, British sportsman.

In 1934, Yankee, now owned and sailed by Gerard B. Lambert, lost the defense nomination in a one second finish to Rainbow, then skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt, but now owned and sailed by Chandler Hovey.

The course was over a 26.3 mile triangle. Hovey won the start, putting Rainbow over the line half a minute ahead of her opponent, but three-quarters of an hour later Yankee had worked through her lee and taken command.

The result of the race found a division of opinion among observers tonight. Some interpreted it as indicating an appreciable improvement in Yankee, while others held Rainbow has gone back.

Harvard Crew Beats Yale; Sets Record

New London, Conn., June 25.—(AP)—The Harvard varsity crew tonight whipped Yale by a length and a quarter over the upstream four mile course on the Thames in their 75th annual regatta.

Harvard set a new upstream course record of 20 minutes 2 seconds, which is 12 and 2-5 seconds under the mark established in 1926 by Yale. The beaten Elis also bettered the former mark with their performance of 20:06 2-5.

Yale Takes Lead.

Before a packed 32 car observation train on the west bank and a half empty 25 car train on the east shore, Yale broke away from the stakeboats with a slight margin which was increased to a full deck length at the half mile mark.

Down through the second half mile Harvard pulled up on even terms, until at the three-quarters the sixteen men, viewed from the side, were pulling their oars stroke for stroke and looking like only eight. It was Harvard by no more than a foot at one mile, Harvard by just short of a deck at one and a half, and Harvard showing open water on the alternate strokes as they drove down to the half-way point off the submarine base.

A foot of open water showed between the two as they slid past that point, but in the next half mile Yale pulled up again, to be three-quarters of a length shy at two and a half miles. There the Crimson began pulling away a bit, to make it a length at three miles, only to lose that gain once more as the Elis raised their beat to 36.

Make Strong Finish.

As they slammed into the last half mile, with a crowd of several thousand banked opposite the finish and spectators thick on the anchored yachts, Coxswain Eddie Bennett called for more power and the Harvard oarsmen responded until, as they crossed the final mark, they were pulling away at a beat of 40.

The varsity victory was ample compensation to the Harvard oarsmen, who had seen their combination, or substitute, crew lose by a length yesterday, their freshmen and junior varsity eights defeated this morning and their baseball team routed this afternoon, 13-3.

TIE FOR SECOND PLACE WITH 4TH STRAIGHT

Brown's Relief Job Stops Senators.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—The White Sox reared up today with something resembling their customary power and halted the march of the turbulent Wes Ferrell who had captured three straight since landing with the Senators. After a stormy afternoon the Chicagoans triumphed by 7 to 6 but the finish came only when a lightning double play wiped out a full house. The outcome also snapped a winning streak of five games for the Senators who might have carried it farther if their own manager hadn't flagged down the tying run at third in the final inning.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's defeat by the Yankees, gave the Sox a tie for second place in the American league standings with the Tigers.

Hayes' Single Wins Game.

In the first four innings Ferrell was blasted for six runs, two of them due to a homer by Mike Kreevich and others to three singles by Zeke Bonura as well as contributions from Luke Appling, Merv Shea, Dixie Walker and John Whitehead. But the run that eventually won went across in the eighth on a single by Jack Hayes.

Whitehead, who started for the Sox, fared no better than his illustrious opponent. The Texan giant was hammered for three runs in three innings and in the next he was out of the picture. This was the inning in which the Sox began a series of sickening errors eventually reaching a total of five.

They erred in the fourth when Sugar Cain was trying to do a rescue job. Two runs resulted. In the next three innings they erred some more and Cain was painfully wild but he dodged disaster until the eighth. Altogether eleven men reached base during Cain's three inning workout but until the eighth, when he vanished, none of them scored.

Wes Has Some Trouble.

Clint Brown was called to rescue Cain in the eighth. One of the two runners Cain left him scored, but that was all.

The first happening of the opening inning must have been highly aggravating for the illustrious W. Ferrell. Travis perpetrated a two base wild throw on Radcliff's grounder. The next item didn't sooth the fiery southerner. Kreevich thumped his No. 5 homer into the left field bleacher, which is a long way off. Walker then singled to center and Bonura to right. They advanced on Appling's bunt. Walker scored the third run of the inning on Hayes' roller to Kuhel.

There also were three hits off Whitehead in the home first but they were singles, so only one scored. Lewis hit safely to left with one out and Kuhel flied to Kreevich. Stone banged a single into center, Lewis taking third. Sington's liner slipped off Piet's glove for a single to score Lewis.

Senators Keep Going.

Two more hits off Whitehead in the second whittled another run from his lead. R. Ferrell scratched a single off Piet's shin with one out and after two were out scored on Almada's triple to left.

The Sox got to Wesley for a run in the third, thereby recapturing a two run edge for a few minutes. After Walker had been thrown out

CARDINALS DRUB GIANTS; TIGHTEN GRIP ON SECOND

Triumph, 9 to 4, Behind Warneke.

St. Louis, Mo., June 25.—(AP)—The Cardinals drew first blood today in the National league battle for second place, walloping the New York Giants, 9 to 4, in the opener of their series.

The victory, gained through a fourteen hit attack and effective pitching by Lon Warneke, left St. Louis only a game out of first place, two full games in front of the Giants, and marked the seventeenth victory for the Cardinals in their last twenty starts.

Joe Medwick, with his 16th home run and a double, and Don Padgett with a homer and single led the Card attack, but every man in the lineup, including Warneke with a double and single, hit safely at least once.

Clyde Castleman, who has been the Giants' most dependable pitcher in recent weeks, was knocked out in less than three innings, and Al Smith, who relieved him, had little better luck until the sixth, when he gave way to young Tom Baker.

Warneke, winning his ninth game of the season and his third over the Giants, was virtually untouchable with men on the bases. Although the New Yorkers collected twelve hits, including eight doubles, they left ten men on the bases, compared to one for the Cardinals.

Offer Louis $100,000 to Box Buddy Baer in England

LONDON, June 25. — (AP) — Sydney Hulls, London boxing promoter, said today he was willing to guarantee Joe Louis £20,000 [approximately $100,000] for a fight with Buddy Baer in England. If Louis beats Baer, Hulls said he would negotiate for a bout between Louis and the winner of the proposed Max Schmeling-Tommy Farr engagement.

Yanks Crush Tigers, 8-1; Stretch Lead

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The Yankees took a four game lead in the American league race today by drubbing the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 1, behind the six hit pitching of Charley Ruffing.

The Yankees clinched the game in the first inning when Bill Dickey's sixth home run in five days drove in three runs off Tommy Bridges. The only Tiger run off Ruffing, who fanned four, was produced by Charley Gehringer's homer in the fourth.

Kennedy to Try to Find Plate for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 25.—Vernon Kennedy, who because of his seemingly incurable wild streak hasn't been given any work by the White Sox since June 15 at Boston, will be restored to starting service tomorrow in the second of the series with the Senators, Carl Fischer probably will be the home nominee.

Coach Billy Webb's 43d birthday was a painful occasion for him. He tripped over the ball box yesterday at the Athletics' park, pulled a leg muscle and today could barely hobble the few feet between the dugout and his trafic post in the third base coaching box.

The American league office is doing a swell job of keeping Umpire Lew Kolls beyond reach of Manager Jim Dykes' oratory. The Sox have encountered him only once since Dykes gave him a blast at Philadelphia a month ago. Kolls was working here yesterday. Today he was elsewhere.

All grandstand and box seats for the annual major league All-Star game here July 7 have been disposed of. Some of the bleacher space, also reserved, is still available.

RALPH METCALFE ENTERS SQUAD IN MILWAUKEE MEET

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—[Special.]—Now retired from competition, Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university's one time sprinting star, will return to his alma mater next week in the rôle of coach.

Metcalfe, a member of the athletic staf of Xavier university, New Orleans, La., today entered several of his stars in the National A. A. U. track and field championship at Marquette stadium July 2 and 3.

Among the Xavier trackmen competing will be Enos Hicks, sprinter; Lilburn Williams, weight man; Lloyd Thompson, high jumper; Charles Ducre, 400 meter runner, and a sprint relay team.

The New York Athletic club today indicated it will make a strong bid to retain its national team championship by entering a squad of 33 men. Olympic men on the N. Y. A. C. roster inclue Joe McCluskey, Gene Venzke, Eino Pentti, Pete Zaremba, Henry Dreyer, and Bill Rowe.

A squad also was entered today by the New England association of the A. A. U. of Cambridge, Mass.

COURT IS TOLD GARDEN RULES NEW YORK BOXING

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—The New York state Supreme court today heard charges that the state athletic commission was permitting Madison Square Garden to control boxing. The charges were made by Cornelius P. Whalen, unlicensed boxing manager, through Whalen's attorney, Joseph E. Stearns, before the court which is hearing Heavyweight Bob Pastor's suit for an injunction to void his contract with Whalen. Pastor is now managed by Jimmy Johnston Jr., son of the garden's matchmaker.

"Madison Square Garden corporation controls the commission and it controls everybody in the game, practically," said Attorney Stearns. "Whalen has no license because he wouldn't let Pastor play ball with the garden. It is a question of sign with the garden and do it's bidding or else."

The court reserved decision.

Maxwell of Princeton Wins College Golf Title

Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., June 25.—(AP)—Lee Maxwell of Princeton won the Middle Atlantic intercollegiate golf championship today with a 4 and 3 victory over Howard Hoon of the University of Southern California. University of Southern California won the team championship with a four man score of 640, beating Pittsburgh by one stroke.

Sox Defeat Senators, 7-6; Tie for 2d

Bonura singled to left for his second hit and tore to third when Appling dribbled a single past Lewis. Hayes grounded to Travis, who tossed to Mihalic to get Appling at second, but Luke arrived ahead of the throw. Hayes, however, was out at first on the relay, Bonura scoring.

Double Play Helps John.

A double play assisted Whitehead in the third. Kuhel led off by beating out a bunt to Hayes. Stone looped a single into center, Kuhel going to third. Sington furnished the double play ball on a smash to Appling, Kuhel going home. Appling also threw out Travis.

Shea opened the fourth with a single to center and Whitehead did the same. They moved up on Radcliff's sacrifice and a pass to Kreevich loaded the bases. Walker spanked a fly to Almada and Shea arrived at the plate ahead of the throw. Bonura then singled to left for his third hit and Whitehead scored, but Kreevich was run down between second and third.

The home fourth began with Bonura dropping a throw from Piet on Mihalic's bunt after the runner had been called out. R. Ferrell singled to left to mark Whitehead's exit. Cain came in and coaxed W. Ferrell into a fly to Kreevich. Cain then experienced a sudden wild streak and passed both Almada and Lewis, Mihalic being forced to score. Kuhel popped to Piet. Then Stone lifted an easy fly over short and Appling dropped it, R. Ferrell scoring.

Mihalic Is Injured.

A slight mishap enabled the Sox to score in the eighth. Hayes cracked the first pitch for a single through short. Piet bunted to Lewis, and Mihalic, who covered on the play, straddled the bag as he took the throw. Piet crashed into him and Mihalic dropped the ball, Hayes going to third. Mihalic retired with a bruised knee, Myer replacing him. Shea grounded to Myer, who touched second to force Piet and then threw to the plate but not in time to head off Hayes.

Cain met his finish in the home eighth when Lewis singled and went to third on a single by Kuhel. Brown started his rescue act impressively on Stone's force of Kuhel, Piet to Hayes. Lewis scored on the play. Sington was erased on a pop to Hayes and Piet threw out Travis.

O, These Errors!

The home ninth started with Piet's fumble of Myer's grounder. R. Ferrell sacrificed and Brother Wes walked. Almada singled and Myer, who could have scored the tying run unnoticed, was waved down at third by Manager Harris. The affair ended on a double play, Hayes to Appling to Bonura.

Lee Will Pitch for Cubs Today; Hoyt Opponent

Bill Lee will pitch for the Cubs against the Dodgers this afternoon. He will be opposed by a foxy old gentleman named Waite Hoyt.

Bill Herman was the first batsman to hit the scenic wall thrown up in left field as a preliminary to the construction of a new continuous bleacher from the left foul line to the right foul line. Herman's shot went for a double and might have been a triple but for the test fence.

Owner P. K. Wrigley has instructed Charley Drake, his confidential assistant, to conduct a symposium to determine what fans and authors think of the bleacher reconstruction plan which calls for a shortened left field area and shortened center field and a larger right field. Aside from the 5,000 increase in bargain seats, the main advantage of the project appears to be that the green 9½ foot wall in front of the entire new bleacher plant will improve visibility for the batsmen and end the old squawk about the white shirt curse.

The first Sunday double-header of the season at Wrigley field will be played against the Dodgers tomorrow. It will be only the second double-header at Wrigley field, the first having been on a Saturday, May 29, against Cincinnati.

NEW FISH, GAME CODE GOES TO GOV. HORNER

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—[Special.]—The new fish and game code covered by two bills received final approval by the house of representatives today and now is ready for consideration by Gov. Horner. Hunting and fishing laws of the state are recodified in the measures.

Increases in licenses are provided with hunting raised from $1 to $1.50 and fishing boosted from 50 to 75 cents. Amendments approved yesterday would prohibit set lines on any fish preserve in the state, which means practically all lakes and rivers.

The code is sponsored by Director of Conservation Charles F. Thompson and it is expected that the governor will sign it.

LOYOLA, PURDUE TO CLASH AGAIN IN BASKETBALL

A renewal of athletic relationship with Purdue university and a game with Carnegie Tech were announced yesterday by Leonard D. Sachs, athletic director and basketball coach of Loyola university. Both games will be played at Loyola, Purdue coming to Chicago on Dec. 20 and Carnegie Tech on Jan. 1. The Purdue game will mark the first meeting between the two schools since 1930, when the Big Ten representatives won a 25 to 20 overtime battle to end Loyola's 34 game winning streak.

Patricia Henry Wins 2d College Girls' Net Title

Brookline, Mass., June 25.—[Special.]—Miss Patricia Henry, Occidental college, California, scored two victories today to capture her second straight college girls' invitational tennis tournament. In the semi-finals Miss Henry defeated Virginia Hitt, Lake Erie college, 6-2, 6-2, and in the final round triumphed over Peggy Kerr, University of California, 8-6, 6-1.

Chizar to Make Pro Debut in Marigold Ring

Joe Chizar, 1937 South Bend, Ind., sectional Golden Gloves champion, will make his professional debut in a four round bout against Harry Ward at Marigold Gardens Monday. The agreed weight is 126 pounds. Another contest at four rounds will bring together Emil Campagna, undefeated heavyweight from the west side, and Johnny Brown of the south side. Johnny Barbara, also a Golden Gloves product, clashes with Henry Schaft, St. Paul welterweight, in a six round semi-windup. Eddie Wenstob and Art Oliver are contestants in the ten round windup. Izzy Kline, Golden Gloves trainer, who recently returned from England where he handled Max Baer in the former champion's conquest of Ben Foord, is supervising Wenstob's training program, which included two rounds yesterday with Chet Le Vere.

Max Marek, heavyweight representative of the Catholic Youth organization, who became the father of a baby girl Wednesday, may make his next appearance against Tiger Warrington at Boston July 20 under the auspices of Eddie Mack. . . . Sam Plan and Benny Ray left yesterday for New Orleans, La., where they will help Art Winch second Barney Ross in a ten round overweight scrap with Jackie Burke tomorrow afternoon. . . . Knute Franklin and Ray Ryan have been signed to meet in a supporting encounter to the wrestling headliner involving George Mansor and Mike Kilonis at White City Monday.

Frankie Talaber, 24 year old light heavyweight and a son of Lou Talaber, has agreed to wrestle Mike Kilonis in the semi-final to the main event between his father and Ali Baba at Rainbo Fronton Wednesday. . . . Johnny Erjavec, Duluth heavyweight, has opened drills for a return encounter with Jimmy Adamick of Midland, Mich., at Detroit July 1.

TWO BREAK 100 TARGETS IN STATE TRAPSHOOT MEET

Hiestand and Lilly Record Perfect Scores.

Two perfect scores were recorded in the first half of the class championship event as the second day of trapshooting in the Illinois state meet was completed at the Lincoln Park Gun club yesterday.

Wind Handicaps Shooters.

A strong wind off the lake handicapped the field of 100 and scores generally were lower in both the preliminary 100 handicap targets and 25 pair double target events.

H. C. Jones, East Alton, Ill., C. A. Young, Springfield, O., Art Stiefal, Casey, Ill., and Harrison Kennicott, Des Plaines, each finished with 98 to tie for the class A lead. F. E. Shaw of Joliet led class B with 97 and Ed Rosche, Oak Park, topped class C with 92.

Jones Is Leader.

Hale Jones of East Alton, Ill., finished first in the opening half of the doubles [25 pair double targets], breaking 49. H. H. Holbrook of Sorento, Ill., took first place in the preliminary 100 handicap targets division on a 97 total. Yardage leaders in the handicap targets event follow:

17 YARDS—Aeneas Mac Donald, Evanston, 89; 18 YARDS—D. F. Rice, Wheaton, 86; 19 YARDS—W. C. Peacock, Chicago, 86; L. L. Michael, Rockford, 86; 20 YARDS—E. F. COAST LOSES 2D ATHLETE ON EVE OF BIG TEN MEET

Stanford Discus Thrower Withdraws.

Hugh Gribbin, Stanford discus thrower, is the second coast man to withdraw from the meet. Like Loren Benke, Washington State quarter miler, who stepped out yesterday, his absence means the loss of an almost certain second place and an increase of Big Ten points, since Bill Watson of Michigan is expected to move up into Gribbin's place.

Special Match Race.

Additional interest was given the meet today when plans were completed for the appearance of Johnny Woodruff, Pittsburgh colored runner, in an exhibition 440 yard match against Al Fitch, former University of Southern California star. The two also will be timed for 400 meters. An as yet unnamed contestant will run with them to give the race legal status in case Woodruff or Fitch sets a new world record. Woodruff is capable of :47 in the 440. Fitch's best time is :47.1. The world record of :46.4 is held by Ben Eastman. Fitch now is competing for the Olympic club of San Francisco, and has been training for the A. A. U. championships at Milwaukee.

Possibilities of new world records loom in several events. Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton of the University of Southern California might pick tomorrow to flirt with fifteen feet in the pole vault. Both tied at 14 feet 11 inches here less than a month ago.

Lash Faces Operation.

Don Lash, the Indiana miler, is here admittedly for a world record in the mile after placing behind Archie San Romani at Princeton last Saturday in the world's second fastest mile. Lash's competition in the two mile run from his own teammate, Thomas Deckard, makes this race another possible source of a new world mark. The latter has been timed in 9:02. Lash has a record of 8:58.4 in the event.

Lash will retire from the track temporarily after tomorrow's meet to have his appendix removed. The operation will keep him from summer meets in Japan and Europe.

HINSDALE HORSE SHOW OPENS AT OAK BROOK FIELD

The green hunters class, in which 17 horses are entered, will open the Hinsdale horse show at 10 o'clock this morning at the Oak Brook Polo field. Other events on the morning's card are: Saddle horses, three gaited open; children's saddle horses, hunters, thoroughbred; hunter hack, and the family class.

In the afternoon, the following events are scheduled: open jumpers, figure eight; open jumpers, touch and out; saddle horses, open; hunters, and ladies' hunters; five gaited saddle horses, fine harness class; children's ponies, and children's pairs. The junior horsemanship and girls' and boys' novice seat and hands class also will be held this afternoon.

Tomorrow's program, which also will open at 10 o'clock in the morning, includes the corinthian, the knock-down and skyscraper jumpers, the children's saddle horse classes, the Chicago Equestrian association horsemanship class, and the stake classes in the gaited horses, hunters and jumpers divisions.

In all, 114 horses are entered in the show in 34 events. The saddle horse class, to be ridden by amateurs, drew 24 entries, the largest number for any one division.

McGonagill, Texas Golfer, Is Dead; Believed Suicide

Dallas, Tex., June 25.—(AP)—Francis McGonagill, 30, outstanding southwestern professional golfer, died late today of a bullet wound in the head. He was found critically wounded at his home, where he had been ill, an automatic pistol on the bed beside him. Police said there would be no inquest. McGonagill was former champion of the Texas Professional Golfers' association. His brother, Jimmie McGonagill, is a well-known amateur golfer.

Phalen Wins Bond Traders Golf Tourney

Ralph Phalen won his second tournament of the season yesterday at Olympia Fields by shooting 41—40—81 for low gross in the Municipal Bond Traders annual tournament. Play was over No. 1 course. J. S. Weatherstone, with 42—44—86, had second low gross.

The low net winners were: W. N. Murray, 90—21—69, first. All net scores under par reverted to 72 and low handicap decided the ties. Under this arrangement C. J. Robertson, 88—22—66, was given second and J. W. Clarke, 95—23—72, third. Other low net winners were J. G. La Forge, 100—28—72; Al Clark, 101—30—71, and William Channer, 97—30—67.

John McMillan, with 41, won low gross on the first nine holes and Carl Blomberg, with 42, won on the second nine. The low gross winners on the par three holes were C. J. Robertson, D. E. Gowland, L. H. Ostranger, L. M. Richoff, Emil Schmit, George Osborne and Jack Culbertson.

The Glen Flora Country club of Waukegan will hold its annual invitational tournament, the Wau-kee-waug-an, today. Two pro-amateur events, matching members of the Chicago District Golf association and the Illinois section of the P. G. A., will be held tomorrow and Monday. They will gather at La Grange tomorrow and at Onwentsia Monday. Professionals are requested not to bring their own amateurs. These will be supplied by Eddie Garre of La Grange and George Smith of Onwentsia.

HINES LEADS IN GOLF TOURNEY AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25.—(AP)—Jimmy Hines, Metropolitan Open champion from Garden City, N. Y., came to the front of a fast field today in the True Temper Golf tourney, carding a second par-shattering round of 36—34—70, for a total of 140, four strokes under par at the halfway mark.

Hines overhauled Wiffy Cox, of Washington, D. C., who led the first day with 69 and remained in front until the 17th hole. Wiffy ran into a fistful of trouble when his second shot was bunkered. He took a six and went out of first place at 69—72—141.

Clarence Clarke, from Bloomfield, N. J., turned in another sub-par 71 and stood alone in next place at 71—71—142.

J. DAWSON GAINS TRANSMISSISSIPPI GOLF SEMI-FINALS

Denver, Colo., June 25.—(AP)—Defending Champion John Dawson of Chicago defeated Arthur L. Doering, also of Chicago, 6 and 4, today in the quarter finals of the trans-Mississippi golf tournament. The match was held up for more than an hour by a downpour which sent players scampering for shelter.

In a battle of former champions, Eddie Held, St. Louis, whipped Gus Moreland, Peoria, Ill., 4 and 3. Ed C. Kingsley, Salt Lake City, defeated Frank J. English, Denver, 7 and 6, and Don Schumacher eliminated Medalist Reynolds Smith, 3 and 1, in an all-Dallas quarter final.

Outdoor Puppy Match Scheduled for Tomorrow

The first outdoor puppy match of the season to be sponsored by the Midwest Puppy Match association will be held tomorrow at the Suburban club, on Ogden avenue two miles west of Hinsdale. The match will begin at 2:30 p. m. and entries will not be accepted after 2:15.

The competition is open to all pure bred puppies which are less than 1 year old. Dog owners who want more information about this match should communicate with Mrs. Harry Lowenbach, club secretary, Northbrook, Ill.

E. S. Holmes Jr., Bloomington, sporting dogs, hounds, and litters; Dr. Noel S. Young, Lake Forest, terriers, and Alfred Mitchell, Libertyville, nonsporting dogs, toys, working dogs, and best in match.

The children's handling classes will be judged by Miss Nancy Rosenthal, Highland Park. There will be a handling class for girls between the ages of 8 and 14 and one for boys of the same ages. The children will be judged solely on their ability to handle their dogs, not on the quality of the dogs. Only children belonging to the family of an association member may enter.

G. DAWSON WINS IN ILLINI CLUB GOLF TOURNEY

George Dawson established a new amateur record of 70 for the Woodridge course, where the Illini club of Chicago held its golf tournament yesterday. He was out in 35, three under par, and played the second nine in par 35 to win a leg on the club's trophy. The old amateur record of 72 was held by Warren Dawson, brother of George.

Bob Zuppke, Illinois football coach, won the blind bogey prize with 90-5-85. Low net honors went to Leo T. Johnson, Illinois' new track coach, with 90-33-57. C. Olson was second with 95-33-62. About 75 participated.

Chicago Firemen Lose to Studebaker Athletics, 10-2

South Bend, Ind., June 25.—[Special.]—The Studebaker Athletics defeated the Chicago Firemen, 10 to 2, here tonight. Walter Szynski, Studebaker hurler, held the Firemen to five hits and struck out sixteen men.

Sing a Song in Praise of Black Bass

BY BOB BECKER.

The black bass that swim in the Paint river of the upper peninsula of Michigan will take a bow from their public tomorrow when the town of Crystal Falls holds its anual black bass festival. The town will celebrate this day with a trip on the Paint river, speech making, barbecue dinner and other festivities to show how much it appreciates the small mouthed bass that provide so much fun for residents in and near Crystal Falls.

We have watched the development of smelt festivals in both Michigan and Wisconsin. Every year there are parties held on the opening day of the trout season. Oshkosh, Wis., and towns along the Wolf river celebrate the annual run of the white bass. But this is the first time that we have heard of a black bass day in the north country.

It's About Time.

Thousands of fishermen who consider the black bass one of our most satisfactory and gamest fresh water species doubtless will feel that it is about time some north woods community put on a party to honor this species.

The Paint river offers the fisherman and canoeist a delightful outing. Even if the outdoor fan foregoes the canoe in favor of a flat bottomed boat the river trip is a lot of fun. The river is well stocked with bass as well as other species of game fish.

Some Other Good Bets.

The upper peninsula of Michigan has a lot of good bets for the bass and the trout fisherman besides the Paint river. When we traveled through the Porcupine mountains along the south shore of Lake Superior we found a beautiful little lake well stocked with brook trout. In the Hiawatha national forest north of Manistique are a number of wild bass lakes that provide good fishing.

One of our best evenings with a fly rod was on a lake in the Hiawatha forest. It was small mouthed bass fishing and the fish hit flies beautifully around sundown.

What are pan fish? How do you catch them? Can you make an effective mosquito dope? These questions are answered in Bob Becker's helpful handbook, "The Fisherman's Guide." Get a copy today at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower. Price 25 cents. Postpaid, 30 cents.

Central A.A.U. to Hold Track Meet Today

All events in the 36th annual Central A. A. U. outdoor track and field meet, which will be held this afternoon at 1:30 in Ogden Park, 65th and Racine avenue, will be measured in yards and not meters, it was announced yesterday by Herman J. Fischer, chairman of the track and field committee. This matter of measurement is in accordance with the recent decision of the National A. A. U. not to hold American meets according to metric distances.

Spirited competition for the team trophy is assured between the Olde Tymers club, headed by John Brooks, Olympic broad jumper, and teams from Ogden Park, Lake Shore playground and La Follette park.

Among the outstanding athletes who will compete are: George C. McElroy of the University of Chicago, who will attempt to defeat John Brooks in the broad jump; Aquilla Austin, all-round athlete, entered in six events including the high jump and hurdles; Herman Carr, winner of the 600 meter race last year in the sectional Olympic tryouts; Clayborn Chisum, high jump; William Dreyer, distance runner and winner of the steeplechase in the Olympic tryouts last year.

SIR EMERSON IS FIRST IN DASH AT HOMEWOOD

Late Rally Gains Decision Over Silverette.

Most of the track scorchers at Washington Park came together in the Prospect purse at six furlongs which occupied the post of honor on yesterday's program.

Such early speedsters as Silverette, Hastinola, and Foyot ran each other into submission in the early stages. When they became exhausted Sir Emerson, owned by Valdina farm stable of Texas, came along in the stretch to conquer them all.

Carrying top weight of 120 pounds, he ran great guns through the last furlongs to win by a length. Silverette was second and Hastinola third. In the betting Sir Emerson had been slighted, returning $10 to those who backed him for as much as two dollars. He was ridden by R. Dotter.

Woolford Farm stable from Missouri uncovered a fast running 2 year old filly in yesterday's first race when Dolly Val carried the maroon and white dotted jacket to an easy victory by nearly half a dozen lengths. It was the first start of her career and Woolford farm didn't keep her long. She was claimed out of the race by R. Emery of Chicago Heights for $1,500.

Two stables have taken a call on Jocky George Woolf's services for the Futurity today. Cleaveland Putnam and John Flanigan are desirous of getting the veteran to handle their Robber Bold and Lassator, respectively. Woolf came here from Rockingham Park.

Seven of the nine Futurity candidates took final brief trials yesterday morning. All but Pharacase and Mountain Ridge were sent three furlongs. Their times were, Bourbon King, :35 handily; Garry, :35 4-5, handily; Joe Schenck, :35 3-5, handily; Lassator, :35 3-5, handily; Menow, :36 2-5, breezing, and Tiger, :37 1-5, breezing.

Jocky Charlie Kurtsinger again will commute to Detroit today to handle War Minstrel in the Frontier stakes.

LOUIS IS TOLD MISSING FATHER IS STILL ALIVE

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—[Special.]—Joe Louis, world's boxing champion, said today that he is investigating a report that an inmate of the Alabama state asylum at Mount Vernon, Ala., is his father, Monroe Barrow, whom he has never seen.

Louis is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Lily Brooks, in this city. Mrs. Brooks said today that Barrow, her first husband, disappeared about twenty-two years ago, and that she had believed him to be dead.

Authorities at the state asylum at Mount Vernon stated that a Monroe Barrow has been a ward at that institution since 1915. Several days ago Sherif J. W. Lane of Chambers county said that he remembered bringing Barrow to the institution at that time and he identified him as Louis' father. The institution then got in touch with Louis, seeking contributions to Barrow's support.

Louis said today that if it is established that the man is his father he will take care of him.

PICK LINEUPS FOR POLO TITLE PLAY TOMORROW

Starting lineups were named yesterday for the Oak Brook and Rising Sun Ranch polo teams which will meet tomorrow afternoon for the Central league championship at the Oak Brook stadium, York road and 22d street.

Led by Paul Butler the Rising Sun Ranch lineup will include Capt. Roy D. Keehn Jr., J. B. Gilmore, and Hershell Crites, with Joe Bell as alternate.

Oak Brook, captained by James A. Hannah, will ride also with Jack Armstrong, Earl Shaw, and Steve Hammond. Cecil Childers will be in reserve.

DOLLY VAL, away slowly, secured room between horses when beginning to work her way up on the turn, took the lead with a rush after reaching the stretch and won with speed in reserve. ARACHINE, a strong factor from the start, bore out badly when entering the stretch and came in resolute fashion when straightened. GREEN COUNTRY, away in a tangle bettered position gradually and was going well at the end.

CHIPETA away slowly and under strong restraint early began to move up fast when racing wide entering the stretch was directed between horses approaching the final eighth and wearing down LADY BRIAR held AUTOGRAPH safe. Latter, quick to begin, was racing prominently when crowded back leaving the backstretch, worked her way through on the inside in the stretch and while tiring outstayed LADY BRIAR. Latter, under steady restraint for a half mile, came away under pressure in the stretch but weakened in the late stages.

SPICE BOX, hustled into a short lead and steadied on the turn, quickly shook off MISS DOLLY KAY in the stretch, and holding on gamely, though bearing out, held BESTEST safe. MR. GRIEF, observed off the pace in the early stages, closed fast entering the stretch, went to the inside while holding on well under pressure but did not seriously menace the winner. SUNBERRA, away fast but unable to hold the advantage, rallied only mildly after going three-eighths.

MORE NEWS, well up from the start and raced wide, responded to strong urging when wearing down PANIC RELIEF, and holding on well withstood the rush of WISE DUKE. Latter, away fast but lacking speed necessary to keep up, continued to drive back for a half mile, came to the extreme outside in the stretch, and closing with a rush was rapidly getting to the winner. PANIC RELIEF displaying keen speed from the start, increased his advantage on the stretch turn and continued with good courage.

SIR EMERSON, raced wide and favored by the pace, came strongly when called upon and wearing down SILVERETTE drew clear before reaching final thirty yards where he was taken in hand but probably had little left. SILVERETTE, on the inside throughout and hustled from the start, drew into a good lead when entering the stretch and held on in improved fashion but was not good enough. HASTINOLA, on the inside early but taken out after a quarter was under stout pressure after three-eighths swerved out entering the stretch and went evenly when straight in the final three-sixteenths.

SIXTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $675; second, $125; third, $75; fourth, $25.

GOSUM forced the early pace under restraint, placed SHATTERPROOF in somewhat close quarters when racing to the front on the stretch turn, weakened badly after drawing into a good lead and but for forcing SHATTERPROOF wide in the last sixteenth might have been beaten. SHATTERPROOF had fine speed from the start, failed to withstand the winner on the stretch turn but held on well, and coming to the outside in the final eighth, moved up steadily and but for being carried out by GOSUM might have got up. SUNSET TRAIL II., under stout restraint for about five-eighths, failed to rally when placed to light pressure yet held on fairly well.

ALSANG, improved and allowed to remain out of it early, began to work his way up after about five-eighths, easily disposed of the leaders and won with something left. HARDWARE, under steady restraint for about seven-eighths, held on with determination. BIOGRAPHY, much used to race WATERCURE into submission, began to weaken after reaching the last five-sixteenths but outstayed STAR BUD.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile and one-quarter. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $675; second, $125; third, $75; fourth, $25.

FANDAN, under steady restraint for seven-eighths, responded well when called upon and taking command in the stretch, was only lightly shaken up to hold MALIMOU safe. PEGGYS PEGGY, under reserve early, opened up a good lead on the stretch turn but weakened in the drive.

NATION'S FINEST OPEN ARLINGTON MEETING MONDAY

Champion Jockies Booked for 30 Day Season.

The Arlington Park Jocky club, which will open one of America's most notable race meetings at its course north of Chicago on Monday afternoon, is waiting for the entries to be made this morning for the first day's program.

With horses here from every part of the country, Racing Secretary Charles McLennan believed the program might be the best first day card ever offered.

It is at Arlington Park, built in a setting of natural beauty characteristic of the pleasant Illinois countryside, where a group of wealthy Chicago sportsmen have made plans for a "Golden Thirty Days" of racing that promise to outdo the efforts of any other racing association in the country.

Nation's Finest to Compete.

The meeting, indeed, will be a testing ground of great horses, the best stables, horsemen, and jockies.

Meeting the invasion of the leading eastern jockies who will come to Arlington with their stables or for special stake engagements will be the strongest riding colony that has graced midwestern racing in many years.

When Washington park closes this afternoon the valets will pack and ship the tack of the following seasoned jockies to Arlington: Charley Kurtsinger, who rode War Admiral; Alfred Robertson, developed under the Whitney banner and now riding for the Milky Way stable; Lester Balaski, the Hertz rider who won the 1937 American Derby with King ranch's Dawn Play; Irving Anderson, contract rider for Warren Wright's Calumet stable; Bobby Dotter, sensation of the California winter campaign; Sammy Roberts, fighting now for the American leadership; Jack Westrope, who in 1933 led the American jockies with a modern record score of 301 winners; Sidney Hebert, veteran with Mrs. Emil Denemark's stable; Leon [Buddy] Haas, Charley Landolt, Charley Corbett, Henry Hauer, and a score of others.

Stevenson Rides for Dixiana.

JACKSON PARK SAIL YACHTS RACE 12 MILES TODAY

Sail yachts of the Jackson Park Yacht club's fleet will compete today in the annual 12 mile Calumet Gas buoy race, starting at 3 p. m. Entries will be in two divisions, racing [Universal] and cruising.

Safara, the new R class sloop; John O'Rourke's 8-meter racer Shamrock, and the Jedzrykowski-Kallgren syndicate Q class sloop, Princess, are the largest entries in the racing class. The J.P.Y.C. Star boats will conduct their third race for the first series, while the larger craft are sailing to the Calumet Gas buoy and back to Jackson park.

Three races will be held today and tomorrow to determine a representative Star class sloop of the Southern Lake Michigan Star fleet. The series of elimination races will be sailed off Belmont harbor under the auspices of the Chicago Yacht club. The first event is scheduled to start at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. The second race is set for 9:30 a. m., and the third at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow.

R, S, and Tumlaren class sloops of the Chicago Yacht club will hold their regular races at 2:15 p. m. today off Belmont harbor. The first race of the C.Y.C. annual Commodore's Cup race, for Universal division sloops, will

PUBLIC SERVICE, EDISON REPORT RISE IN PROFITS

Other Firms Reveal Better Earnings.

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and the Commonwealth Edison company yesterday reported sharp gains in earnings for May and the first five months of 1937. Other companies also reported results for the 1937 months.

James Simpson.

Directors of both utility companies also declared the regular dividends on the common and preferred stocks. James Simpson is chairman of the boards of directors of both companies.

Public Service reported May net income of $390,132, or 46 cents a common share ,against $255,060, or 27 cents a share, in May, 1936. Operating revenues were $3,387,839, against $3,177,454.

Gas Purchases Adjusted.

An increase of $97,000, or 14 cents a share on the common stock, in net earnings during May, was due largely to an adjustment made for gas purchases from Dec. 1, 1936, to April 30, 1937,the report explained. Interest declined about $26,300, equal to almost 4 cents a share on the common stock, through redemption of the 5½ per cent debentures.

In the first five months of the year net income amounted to $2,326,822, or $2.84 a common share, against $1,660,289, or $1.97 a share, in the first five months of 1936. Operating revenues were $17,879,792, against $16,662,189.

Electricity Sales Increase.

The increase in operating revenues for the first five months was due principally to substantially increased use of electricity by residential, commercial, and industrial customers, as well as increased sales of gas to large industrial customers.

A rise of $495,000 in net earnings was due partly to a decline of $178,000 in interest deductions and a temporary decrease of $96,475 in payments under the 3 per cent state tax on electricity and gas. Figures on earnings are after estimated provision for surtax on undistributed earnings.

Edison Earnings Rise.

Net income of Commonwealth Edison in May amounted to $858,004, or 53 cents a share, compared with $753,766, or 47 cents a share, in May, 1936. Operating revenues were $6,926,354 against $6,572,927.

"Net earnings from utility operations for May, 1937, increased almost $300,000, or 19 cents a share, over May, 1936, said the report of the company.

Income from investments, however, declined approximately $210,500, or 13 cents a share, principally because of the receipt of dividends in May, 1936, received or receivable in other months this year. Of the 19 cents a share increase in net earnings from utility operations, 11 cents a share is the net effect of the policy of capitalizing certain indirect construction expenditures.

Earnings for Five Months.

In the first five months of 1937 the company and subsidiaries had net income of $6,525,519, or $4.05 a share, compared with $4,364,518, or $2.71 a share, in the first five months of 1936 as adjusted. Operating revenues were $36,488,214, against $34,743,027.

"The increase in gross earnings for the first five months of 1937 over a year ago," says the report, "is due principally to substantially increased use of electricity by industrial customers.

"Kilowatt-hour sales to residential customers increased 8.8 per cent, whereas revenues from such sales declined 0.7 per cent owing to the recent rate reduction."

The company said that 54 cents of the $1.19 a share increase in net earnings is the net effect of the policy of capitalizing certain indirect construction expenditures. Income from investments increased $180,500, or 11 cents a share. The figures are after estimated surtax on undistributed profits.

Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates was among other companies reporting eanrings—showing net income of $2,905,035 for the twelve months ended May 31, against $2,949,431 in the preceding twelve months.

Rail Earnings Show Decline During May

The first eighteen class one railroads to report operating results for May suffered a decline of 10.7 per cent in net operating income, while gross revenues rose 10.2 per cent, a survey disclosed yesterday. In April these same carriers had an increase of 12 per cent in gross and a decline of 7 per cent in net operating income. These roads account for about 35 per cent of total operating revenues of the country's railroad systems.

Additional reports on May results yesterday were more favorable than earlier reports. Yesterday's reports included the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, Great Northern, and the Northern Pacific.

Santa Fe Has Gain.

The Santa Fe reported net operating income for May of $424,501, compared with an operating deficit of $139,478 for May, 1936. Gross revenues were $13,418,516, against $11,411,442, or 17.59 per cent higher. Operating expenses were $11,886,016, an increase of $1,386,774, or 13.21 per cent.

In Washington yesterday, S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Santa Fe, said that reports of rust damage to the wheat crop had been greatly exaggerated, adding that the Atchison loaded 1,100 cars of wheat on Wednesday and that this movement now was beginning to be a big factor in the road's trafic. Current loadings are maintaining a fair rate of increase over a year ago, he said.

The New York Central railroad reported net railway operating income for May of $3,956,380, compared with $3,280,984 in May, 1936. Passenger revenues for the month were $5,123,112, compared with $4,519,172 in May, 1936.

Milwaukee Reports Upturn.

The Milwaukee road reported net operating income of $21,793 for May, against an operating deficit of $310,265 in May of last year. Gross revenues were $8,660,724, against $8,425,613. In the first five months of the year the road earned net operating income of $2,361,494, against $1,806,389 in the corresponding months of 1936. Gross revenues were $42,690,714, compared with $41,078,300.

The Great Northern reported net income of $1,269,398 for May after all charges, compared with net of $528,790 in May, 1936.

Northern Pacific had net operating income of $335,667 in May, against $215,013 a year earlier. Gross revenues were $5,082,128, compared with $4,646,091. For the five months ended May 31 net operating income amounted to $2,574,902, against $909,835 in the corresponding months of last year. Gross revenues were $24,931,934, against $21,248,922.

Western Pacific Operates at Loss.

Western Pacific reported net operating loss of $135,976 for May, against a loss of $52,121 in the corresponding month of 1936. Gross revenues were $1,388,631, against $1,162,505.

Net operating income of the Wabash railroad in May amounted to $238,016, compared with $403,241 in May, 1936. Total operating revenues were $3,693,215, against $3,714,202.

Railway analysts yesterday pointed out that railroads are finding it more difficult to translate gains in gross revenues into proportionate gains in net operating income.

The chief causes are: Higher cost of labor and materials; increased taxes; greater expense of handling an enlarged trafic volume, and desire of managements to bring maintenance programs up to date.

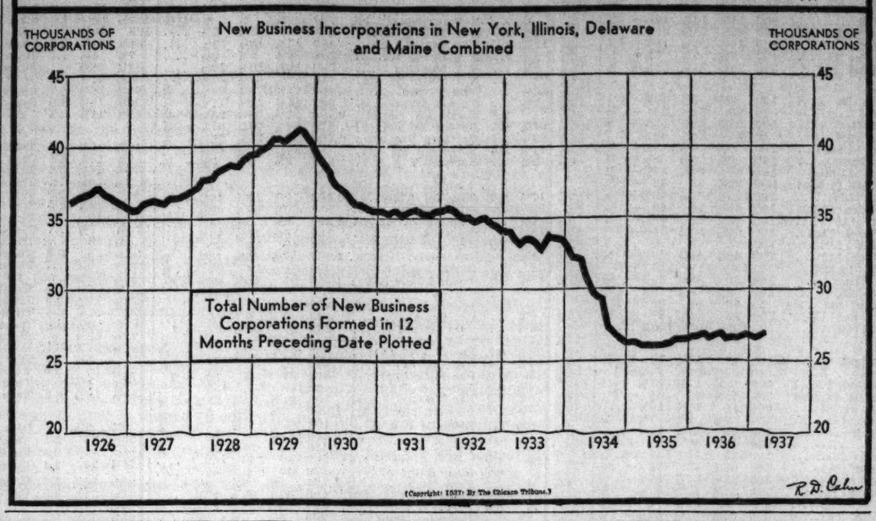
STRIKE RELIEF RESULTS IN RISE IN AUTO OUTPUT

An increase in automobile production this week over the preceding week was reported yesterday by Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc. The agency estimated the total output of American and Canadian factories this week at 121,032 vehicles, compared with 104,473 in the corresponding 1936 period and 111,620 units in the preceding week.

Relief from strikes which have hampered production in recent weeks was said to be largely responsible for the increase.

General Motor's output for the current week was placed at 46,190 units, against 37,169 in the preceding week. Chrysler output was estimated at 28,775, compared with 28,375, and Ford production was reported at 28,890 against 29,665.

Number of New Corporations Formed in Four Leading States



New Financing Shrinks; Still Over Average

New financing in the week ended June 24 totaled $110,000,000, a sharp decline from the $149,614,000 of the preceding week and the $138,602,750 in the corresponding 1936 period, but still an improvement over most weeks which in the last two months consistently failed until a week ago to touch the $100,000,000 mark.

Municipals again led the new issues with a total of $54,615,000, against $89,029,000 in the preceding week and only $12,184,000 in the corresponding 1936 period. New stock issues with offerings totaling $19,395,000 were the only classification to expand sharply over the preceding week, when the total was only $6,445,000.

Comparisons by Groups.

	1937.	1936.
Public utilities	25,000,000	22,241,000
Railroads	10,410,000	2,020,000
Miscellaneous	580,000	1,429,000
Stocks	19,395,000	28,728,750
Industrials		72,000,000
Total	$110,000,000	$138,602,750

Preliminary estimates of new financing scheduled for next week by one state and fifty-nine municipalities total $16,376,659, the Daily Bond Buyer said in New York. The weekly average of municipal financing this year to dat estands at $32,749,360.

The Union Electric company of Illinois yesterday obtained authorization from the Illinois commerce commission to issue $22,000,000 in 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds.

The company comprises the recently merged East St. Louis Light and Power, Union Electric Light and Power, Alton Light and Power, and several other concerns, all subsidiaries of the Union company of Missouri.

More Utility Issues.

The Ohio Edison company petitioned the Ohio utilities commission in Columbus, O., for permission to sell $10,000,000 of first mortgage bonds with maximum maturity of twenty-five years and interest rate not to exceed 4 per cent. The proposed issue would capitalize additions to plant and other improvements contemplated during the current year totaling $14,507,141.

The public service commission of New York authorized the New York State Electric and Gas corporation to issue $8,507,800 of 5 per cent cumulative preferred, $100 par value, stock not to be sold at less than par and accrued dividends.

Warns Security Dealers Must Register by June 30

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—(AP)—Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes said today Illinois brokers and security dealers who do not reregister with his department by June 30 will be liable to penalties if they operate after that date.

STOCK FIRMS IN N. Y. WANT MARKET OPEN SATURDAY, JULY 3

Closing of security markets in Chicago July 3, for the Fourth of July week-end, depends on the outcome of the controversy in New York in regard to closing the New York Stock exchange that day, officials of Chicago exchanges said yesterday.

The Association of Stock Exchange Member Firms has written New York Stock exchange officials expressing opposition to closing the market any day on which banks are open, but a petition asking for the July 3 holiday has more than 500 signatures of traders. A decision will be made Wednesday. Of the 1,375 members of the exchange 533 had signed a petition yesterday to close the market July 3.

All security and commodity exchanges in North America, with the possible exception of the Winnipeg grain market, will be closed Monday, July 5. Most grain markets, including the Chicago Board of Trade, will be open Saturday, but other commodity markets, including the Chicago Mercantile exchange, are closing on Saturdays during the summer.

RAILROAD FREIGHT TRAFIC RISES; GAIN IS ABOVE NORMAL

Railroad freight car loadings during the week ended June 19 totaled 756,289 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This is a gain of 1,939 cars, or .3 per cent, over the preceding week's total of 754,360 cars, and an increase of 65,622 cars, or 9.5 per cent, over the same week of 1936.

Last week's loadings were 189,240 cars, or 33.4 per cent above the corresponding week of 1935. The rise over the preceding week was slightly more than seasonal, but loadings remained far below this year's high of 794,855 cars, set during the last week of May.

Only three classifications of freight showed gains over the week ended June 12, but the upturn of 3,884 cars in grain shipments more than offset losses in other classifications.

	Wk. ended June 19.	—Change from— Prec. wk.	Yr. ago.
Miscellaneous	312,201	+ 52	+25,315
Merchandise	168,03[illegible]	—1,498	+ 7,145

Ore	72,915	— 811	+21,600
Coke	9,7[illegible]	— 334	+ 1,480

The Dow-Jones seasonally adjusted index [100 equals average weekly loadings of the last fifteen years] advanced to 90.4 from 90.7 for the preceding week.

TAX BOARD RULES ON PLEAS MADE BY CHICAGOANS

NAME RECEIVER FOR CALUMET BOND COMPANY

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday appointed Leslie H. Klawans, trust officer of the American National Bank and Trust company, as receiver for the Calumet Bond and Investment company, a south side investment concern.

The action followed representations by attorneys for Harry E. Hallenbeck, receiver for the Calumet National bank, that the assets of the investment company are in danger of being dissipated pending disposition of a suit in which Hallenbeck is seeking to recover assets of the bank from the investment company and 31 other defendants.

Judge Holly was informed yesterday that federal deputy marshals have been unable to serve Mrs. Fern North Gishwiller and Richard Cramer, two of the principal defendants, with notice of the filing of the suit.

General Motors Produces Millionth Car for Year

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—The millionth motor vehicle of the calendar year 1937 was built on Thursday by the General Motors corporation, including both United States and Canadian factories, according to production reports received by William S. Knudsen, president. The millionth car of 1936 was produced on June 15, just seven working days earlier than it was built this year.

Middle West Units to Pay on Arrears

Dividends to apply against accumulations were declared yesterday by the Michigan Gas and Electric and Michigan Public Service companies, both subsidiaries of Middle West corporation.

Michigan Gas declared a payment of $1.40 on its 7 per cent prior lien stock and a dividend of $1.20 on the $6 prior lien issue.

Payments Still Due.

On March 31 accumulations amounted to $18.56 on the 7 per cent stock and $15.92½ on the $6. The last payment was on Dec. 15, 1936.

Michigan Public Service company declared dividends of $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred stock and $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred. Although these disbursements are at the regular quarterly rate, there are accumulations on the 7 per cent stock amounting to $13.71 and on the 6 per cent to $11.75.

6 MONTH PROFIT OF PURE OIL SET AT SIX MILLIONS

The Pure Oil company will earn approximately $6,000,000 in the six months ending June 30, the company estimated yesterday. Earnings in the first five months of this year were placed at slightly under $5,000,000, compared with $7,658,372 in all of 1936.

Per share earnings in the first six months would be around $1.30 on approximately 3,700,000 shares of common stock now outstanding after allowance for preferred dividend requirements on the basis of estimated earnings for the first half of the year. No comparison is available with last year, as the concern does not issue interim reports.

The company announced it has drilled six wells on its Illinois properties consisting of around 300,000 acres. Four of the wells are now producing,

Structural Steel Orders Show Gain Over Year Ago

New orders for fabricated structural steel during the first five months of this year were 16 per cent ahead of the same period of 1936, the American Institute of Steel Construction reported yesterday. New orders declined during May. May bookings were 50.8 per cent of normal and for the five months were 62.3 per cent of normal. May shipments were 55.9 per cent of normal and for five months 52.3 per cent. The 1928-'31 average is used by the institute as normal.

American Airlines Trafic Sets New Record in May

American Airlines during May carried a new high monthly record by carrying a total of 13,084 revenue passengers in and out of New York City. Previous record was 11,284 in October, 1936.

GRAINS ZOOM AS DROUTH HITS CANADIAN CROP

Prices Top Highest Level in Month.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.16⅞	$1.13⅞	$0.94¼
Corn	1.08¼	1.04½	.64½
Oats	.37⅝	.36¾	.30⅝
Rye	.84¼	.81	.63⅛
Soy beans	1.13	1.10¼	.....

Drouth damage reports from the Canadian northwest sent the price of grains for future delivery up sharply yesterday in North American markets. Wheat, corn, and other grains reached the highest level in nearly a month. Winnipeg wheat and rye led the upturn, both soaring 5 cents a bushel, the permissible limit for one day, while September corn and July soy beans on the Chicago Board of Trade closed 4 cents higher, the maximum permitted under exchange regulations. It was the third successive day that soy beans advanced the limit.

While profit taking developed on the advance pressure was not great and net gains on wheat and rye on the Chicago exchange ranged up to 3⅝ cents a bushel. Oats climbed a cent or more.

Damage Sudden and Severe.

Not in years has there been such a sudden and complete collapse in the crop outlook of the three western Canadian provinces. Official and trade reports yesterday indicated that unless rain is received immediately heavier damage will result. Already, it is estimated, drouth has destroyed over 5,000,000 acres of spring wheat, or 20 per cent of the total area in the prairie provinces.

While the Canadian National railway weekly crop summary said good conditions continue in Manitoba, southern Saskatchewan needs rain in order that seed and feed may be secured in a number of districts. The western part of Alberta requires more moisture, according to the report, and the southern part of the province needs rain immediately.

Black Rust Spreading.

Continued reports of black rust in the spring wheat fields of the American northwest and claims of damage to late wheat in the winter wheat belt added to the bullish enthusiasm of traders. Many operators who recently had been on the selling side on the belief that the movement of the new winter wheat crop would have a depressing effect on prices, were active yesterday. At the top wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade showed an advance of 10⅜ to 12¼ cents a bushel from the low point on Monday.

July corn advanced to $1.23¼ a bushel yesterday, up 3⅞ cents a bushel from Thursday. Lack of actual grain for delivery on July contracts was said to have been largely responsible for the upturn. Oats and rye were affected by the action of other grains.

CONTINUE HEAVY TRADING IN HIDES ON CHICAGO MART

Heavy trading in hides continued in the Chicago market yesterday with sales totaling approximately 100,000 hides. Total sales this week exceed 300,000 hides after several weeks in which practically no transactions were made because of failure of the big packers and lether consumers to agree on a price.

The stalemate between buyers and sellers was thawed out early in the week when packers agreed to sell on a basis of 16½ cents a pound for native steer hides with price variations each way for differences in grades. The price was a decline of about ½ cent a pound.

Stagnation of the Chicago market became so complete that packers were said to have accumulated approximately 900,000 hides. Hides generally weigh between 40 and 60 pounds each.

Shoe manufacturers have been heavy buyers of hides here this week, traders said.

Enjoin Pennsylvania 'Full Crew' Railroad Act

Injunctions against enforcement of Pennsylvania's new "full crew" law were obtained in Dauphin County court at Harrisburg, Pa., today by the East Broad Top Railroad and Coal company and New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad. The court granted injunctions during argument by twenty-eight railroads contesting constitutionality of the act.

NOTICE OF CALL FOR REDEMPTION

To the Holders of Skokie Country Club First Mortgage Six Per Cent Gold Bonds due July 1, 1943, issued under and secured by Indenture of Trust from Skokie Country Club to The Northern Trust Company, Trustee, dated July 1, 1913, as amended by Extension Agreement dated as of February 1, 1933.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned, pursuant to the provisions of said bonds and said trust deed, has elected to pay and redeem on July 1, 1937, at par plus a premium of 5% and accrued interest, all of the outstanding and unpaid bonds issued under said indenture.

Upon presentation of said bonds on or after July 1, 1937, together with July 1, 1937, and all subsequent unmatured interest coupons attached, and in case of registered bonds accompanied by duly executed instruments of assignment or transfer, at the office of the trustee, The Northern Trust Company, 50 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois, said bonds will be redeemed and paid at the principal amount thereof and a premium on said principal amount of 5% of such principal plus accrued interest. Interest on said bonds so called for redemption will cease to accrue on July 1, 1937.

Boost Gives British Biggest Control Fund

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—The increase of £200,000,000 [about $1,000,000,000], in the British equalization account will make it by far the largest exchange control fund in the world.

Having begun operations in the spring of 1932 with resources of £175,000,000, consisting of £150,000,000 of treasury securities and £25,000,000 of dollar balances left over from the old post-war stabilization fund, the fund has now been increased twice and totals £550,000,000 [about $2,750,000,000]. This figure makes no allowances for either profits or losses.

How U. S. Fund Is Used.

Our own stabilization fund amounts nominally to $2,000,000,000, but of this amount only 10 per cent, or $200,000,000, has been actively mobilized for use, the remaining $1,800,000,000 being held in the form of gold by the treasury.

The French stabilization fund, which was established last September, following the suspension of the gold standard in France, amounts to 10,000,000,000 francs gold, or about $496,000,000 on the basis of the figure at which the gold reserves of the Bank of France from which the fund was taken were temporarily revalued.

This fund, however, has lately been reported as having exhausted its holdings of gold and foreign exchange, and been reduced to holdings of francs which are useless to it in its present requirements of supporting French exchange.

Other Nations Have Funds.

The Swiss fund, set up at about the same time as the French fund, amounted originally to about $133,000,000 and the Netherlands fund, also established last fall, came to about $159,000,000. Italy's exchange institute, which is oldest of the funds now in operation, having been continually employed since the post-war days, has undisclosed resources. A number of smaller funds, either operated directly by the central banks of the countries involved or as separate institutions, are in existence.

The total of these funds now engaged in efforts to stabilize the movements of world currencies is probably about $6,000,000,000.

In banking quarters here the decision of the British to increase the size of the equalization account was viewed as a reassuring sign of determination to continue stabilization efforts under the tripartite agreement, regardless of what might eventuate in France.

OLD DAWES BANK STOCKHOLDERS GRANTED APPEAL

Stockholders of the Central Republic Trust company yesterday were allowed to appeal the recent decision of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson holding them liable for an assessment of approximately $10,500,000 on their holdings in a suit brought by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the purpose of making up a deficiency in a loan of $90,000,000 to the bank.

The appeal was allowed by Federal Judge William H. Holly, acting in the absence of Judge Wilkerson, who is in the Passavant hospital. Attorneys for the stockholders are basing their appeal on 91 errors alleged to have been committed by Judge Wilkerson in entering the decree.

Under the court order allowing the appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, those stockholders who pay their judgments will merely schedule a cost bond of $1,000, and those who obtain a supersedeas must post a bond equaling the judgment against them.

BRITISH FUND TO STABILIZE MONEY RAISED

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 25.—The British government decided today to put another £200,000,000 [about 1 billion dollars] into its exchange equalization fund, bringing the fund's resources up to £550,000,000 [about 2 billion 750 million dollars]. An announcement of the step was made in the house of commons this afternoon by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Sir John Simon.

Simon asked to be excused from giving the exact reasons for the step, but promised he would give a full account of the situation next week when parliament will debate the resolution to grant the government the necessary authorization.

The exchange fund presumably will buy more gold immediately and this was taken as an indication that no change in the gold policy of the British government may be anticipated now.

Refers to Gold Flow.

Although he would not give a detailed explanation of his move Simon referred in his announcement to recent dishoarding of gold, together with the financial disturbance on the continent and the general tendency of capital funds to move to London at present.

That some uneasiness is latent here over the chancellor's move, however, was indicated by questions addressed to him in the house and also in the financial quarter's comment, where demands are made that there be a public statement of how the account now stands.

Tonight the Evening Standard said, for instance:

"Latterly the account is understood to have purchased very large amounts of gold which previously belonged to continental hoarders, but who prefer to hold pounds lest the price of gold should fall.

Gold Holdings Estimated.

"The decision to increase the account's sterling borrowing powers to £550,000,000 suggests on the face of it that the account now holds approximately £550,000,000 [about 1 billion 750 million dollars] worth of gold and foreign currencies, as countervailing a reserve against foreign 'hot money' in London.

"If the authorities anticipate that the volume of migratory foreign money here will ncrease further as a result of continued sales in this market, either of dishorded gold or foreign currencies, it is appropriate that the exchange account should be proportionately enlarged. It would be unwise to allow such part of the influx as takes the form of gold to ferm part of the Bank of England's

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, June 25.—Stock prices drifted aimlessly lower today, with steels, coppers, and rails dropping from fractions to around 3 points. Utilities were a shade firmer. Trading continued light, sales for the session totaling 574,570 shares.

After early firmness during which leading steel and metal issues advanced, light selling attributed to evening-up transactions which usually develops toward the week-end forced prices steadily downward.

U. S. Steel common started the day ⅝ point higher on a transaction of 2,000 shares. Other steel shares followed suit. Subsequent pressure reduced that gain and toward the close of the session forced the stock over a point lower. Bethlehem, down 2; Inland, down 1; Youngstown, down 1, and Republic down ⅝, joined in the downswing.

Railroad issues were the poorest performers, suffering from the cumulative effect of reports showing that the rise in net income for the last two years has come to a halt.

Atchison was an outstandingly weak issue, losing 3 points. New York Central dipped over a point. Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Railway and Baltimore and Ohio each dropped over a point.

Carrier equipment shares were buoyant, Pullman adding 1⅝ points and American Car and Foundry improving a fraction.

The slight increase in interest for some leading utilities was traced to a feeling that the extremists in Washington are due for a setback. Western Union enjoyed considerable demand and climbed 1¼ points.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 25.—Prices of high grade bonds softened today without much increase in the volume of trading. Treasury issues were irregular, varying little from their previous closings. Closing prices ranged from losses of ⅛ point to gains of the same amount.

Among the new features was the sharp advance in obligations of the province of Buenos Aires. The 4½-4⅝s climbed 3 points to 82.

Declines in high grade domestic corporation bonds were fractional, but they were spread over a broader list. There were some exceptions to the trend in this class.

Two of the Western Union bonds continued under selling pressure and broke through their old lows for the year.

Chicago Stocks.

Leading issues on the Chicago Stock exchange were weak yesterday and trading fell off to 17,000 shares from 27,000 shares on Thursday. The most active issue, Katz Drug at 1,100 shares, was unchanged. Middle West, General Finance, Berghoff Brewing, and Utah Radio Products declined fractionally. Of 87 issues traded, 24 advanced, 31 declined, and 32 remained unchanged.

The exchange announced that trading will begin today in Aro Equipment corporation $1 par common, Dodge Manufacturing corporation no par common, Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply company $5 par common, and Consumers Company of Illinois voting trust certificates for $50 par preferred participating shares, $50 par class A common participating shares, and no par class B common participating shares.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were unchanged to slightly lower yesterday. Continental Illinois and First National each dipped $2 a share, and losses of $5 a share were recorded for National Boulevard, National Builders, and Northern Trust. Other issues were steady.

TVA TO INVADE TERRITORY WEST OF MISSISSIPPI

Agrees to Sell Power to Arkansas Utility.

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—The Tennessee Valley Authority today announced the conclusion of negotiations for a contract with the Arkansas Power and Light company which will send its electricity west of the Mississippi for the first time. For TVA's surplus power the concern will pay about $750,000 annually after the first five years, it was estimated.

This is the second private power concern with which TVA had negotiated a contract. The first was on the other side of the Mississippi. The Arkansas contract will not be signed until the federal power commission and the Arkansas public utilities commission have approved it.

Seeks to Reduce Rates.

"With the beginning of this new source of supply," said the TVA announcement, "the company has indicated its intention of reducing rates in Arkansas."

Representative John E. Rankin, coauthor of the original TVA bill, when informed of the new contract, insisted it should have contained a written agreement by the power company to "resell this power to the ultimate consumers at TVA yardstick rates." In the absence of such a provision, he said the contract should be "for the shortest period possible." Unless the power is sold at yardstick rates, Rankin asserted, it would be the last contract between TVA and a private company "If I can have my way." He said he believed a majority of the members of the house felt the same way.

Rates Up to Commissions

A spokesman for TVA stated that the authority had no power under the act to dictate resale rates outside of the Tennessee valley area and that the matter of rates would rest entirely with the federal and state commissions having such regulatory authority.

In the TVA area, he said, the authority could "suggest" resale rates, and it was stated that the rates of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation power companies which buy TVA electricity have continually decreased, largely owing to competition with public electrical consumer groups which use the same power in nearby areas.

ASK COURT TO ACCEPT SETTLEMENT OFFER OF HARRIMAN BANK HEADS

Joseph W. Harriman.

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—The United States District court was asked today to authorize settlement of a $6,800,000 suit against the former directors of the defunct Harriman National Bank and Trust company for $1,026,739. The suit charged the directors with having failed to exercise reasonable prudence in managing the bank's affairs.

Judge Vincent L. Leibell signed an order bringing up the proposal for a hearing next Friday. Accompanying the order was a recommending petition by Frederick V. Goess, who had filed the suit as receiver of the bank.

The Harriman bank closed March 3, 1933, with gross liabilities of about $25,000,000. It had about 10,000 depositors. Joseph W. Harriman served a term in prison following his conviction for falsifying the bank's records and misapplication of its funds.

Controler Approves Offer.

Washington, D. C., June 25.—[Special.]—Approval of an offer by seventeen former directors of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company to settle a suit brought against them for common law and statutory negligence as directors was announced late this afternoon by J. F. T. O'Connor, controler of the currency.

"This will mean," said O'Connor, "that including the sums realized from settlements with the clearing house banks heretofore made, the depositors who have consented to such settlements will receive substantially 100 cents on the dollar."

VISIONS PRICES AS WARNING OF NEW DEPRESSION

New Brunswick, N. J., June 25.—(AP)—Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland [O.] Trust company, told 600 bank executives from 46 states tonight that present price movements corresponded closely with the warning signals of a business depression. They probably do not presage more serious developments, however, he said, because general business "is not in true prosperity."

Ayres, who is chairman of the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association, spoke at a seminar of the graduate school of banking conducted by the association and Rutgers university.

Indications of a depression, he said in an address prepared for delivery to the banker-students, were generally the continued downward trend of stock and bond prices; the stiffening of interest rates from month to month in a period of prosperity; and the downward movement of wholesale prices.

FINDS CONTEST OF ELECTRICAL, DIESEL TRAINS

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—(AP)—Prof. John M. Bryant of the University of Minnesota told the annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers today that the "battle between electrically propelled trains and the Diesels" is on in earnest.

"The electrical engineering industry has settled to the task of developing a locomotive that will compete in speed and economy with Diesel driven streamline trains that have helped to put new life into railroading," he said.

Bryant, speaking of experimental electrically propelled locomotives now being built at Erie, Pa., said steam turbines operate electric generators which give the locomotives power and speed and do away with third rails or overhead electric wire systems.

The Price of Gold.

When your grocer takes a 10 cent price tag off a can of tomatoes and puts on a 12 cent price tag any interested customer readily understands what has happened. The price of tomatoes has gone up 2 cents, or 20 per cent. Something has happened to tomatoes.

When a government raises the price of gold per ounce the change is not so clear, because when such a development occurs something happens to the value of money as well as the price of gold as a metal.

For many centuries gold has been regarded by the people of the world as the one great element of stability. For that reason they have more faith in the yellow metal than in any kind of money other than gold.

When governments alter the price of gold the people immediately view the change as altering not the value of gold but rather the value of the currency used to measure the price of gold.

Within the boundaries of any single nation the raising or lowering of the price of an ounce of gold may seem, for the time being, to have little effect on the value of money. The true significance of the change, however, can immediately be detected in the movement in foreign exchange of the currency of the nation which has made the change.

When the French government last year reduced by about a third the gold content of its unit of currency the franc—the value of the franc in foreign exchange immediately dropped correspondingly. The debased franc, being worth less gold, simultaneously became worth fewer American cents and fewer British pence. An ounce of French gold, however, continued to be worth $35 in American money, the same value it had possessed prior to the debasement.

Thus it was clear that in the world's opinion the action of the French government in reducing the gold content of the franc which is another way of saying that it raised the price of gold in terms of francs—had altered the value of the franc rather than the value of gold.

Tomorrow: Gold production.

COTTON

Cotton markets showed a firm undertone yesterday. Buying by houses with Wall street connections, the spinning trade and Liverpool lifted prices sharply in the early trading but continued favorable weather and crop reports from the south caused a reaction from the best prices with the close showing net gains of .01 to .14 cent a pound.

Deliveries of over 11,000 bales of cotton on July contracts in New York and New Orleans failed to have any material effect on the market. Spot cotton closed unchanged to 15 cents higher with New Orleans 12.50 cents; New York, 12.75 cents and Houston and Galveston at 12.45 cents a pound. Prices follow:

N. Y. SUN DOESN'T THINK IT'S A TAX DODGING CONCERN

Ridicule Personal Holding Company Charge.

New York, June 25.—[Special.]—Denial that the New York Sun, Inc., is a personal holding company was made today by the newspaper in a statement explaining the status of the company and ridiculing the intelligence of treasury department experts. The statement said:

"The treasury department yesterday publicly listed the New York Sun, Inc., as a personal holding company used for the avoidance of taxation by Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dewart. Mr. Dewart is the president and publisher of the Sun.

Status Explained.

"If there are any readers who, like the treasury department, do not know what the New York Sun, Inc., is, the Sun is glad to inform them. There are no secrets to give away.

"The New York Sun, Inc., was incorporated at Albany on Oct. 16, 1926, with 30,000 shares of preferred [or A] stock, 20,000 shares of second preferred [or B] stock, all of the par value of $100 a share, and 100,000 shares of common stock of no par value. Mr. Dewart had bought the Sun from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, which inherited it from Frank A. Munsey, and he transferred the Sun to the New York Sun, Inc.

"The employés of the Sun were permitted to buy the preferred [or A] stock. This preferred stock then bore, and still bears, 8 per cent interest. This 8 per cent interest has been paid annually ever since to the holders of the preferred.

Stock Held by 350 Employés.

"This 8 per cent preferred [or A] stock is held by approximately 350 employés of the Sun. These stockholders include executives, editors, reporters, desk men, printers, stereotypers, pressmen, clerks, stenographers, employés, in fact, in every department of the Sun. They were rather amused to be told by the treasury department that they were stockholders in a personal holding company designed to avoid taxation. They had thought for nearly 11 years that they were stockholders in an ownership mutualized by Mr. Dewart and the steady recipients of 8 per cent a year, through prosperity and depression, on their investments.

"Neither the second preferred nor the common has ever paid a dividend. The distributed profits of the Sun have gone to the larger group of owners of the first preferred stock.

"These salient facts, including the financial setup of the New York Sun, Inc., were printed in the newspapers at the time the company was incorporated and were reprinted in a widely circulated book, 'The Story of the Sun,' published in 1928, a copy of which the treasury department undoubtedly can obtain in the Library of Congress. The facts are repeated here so simply that anybody with a greater intellectual capacity than a Mongolian idiot can understand them. Even a treasury expert should grasp the truth about the New York Sun, Inc."

Business Books

"A Program of Financial Research," vols. 1 and 2 [National Bureau of Economic Research, 1819 Broadway, New York City. Price each volume, $1.]

Volume one is the report of the bureau's exploratory committee on problems proposed for study in the field of finance. Volume two is a review of studies now being conducted in finance. Both volumes should be of interest to business concerns, institutions or individuals confronted with problems on which little research has been done.

"How Profitable Is Big Business," Alfred L. Bernheim [Twentieth Century Fund., Inc., New York].

This book is the second of a series of studies on "big business" by the Twentieth Century Fund. Bigness in business seems to be a stabilizing factor, according to the study. In a survey of operating results of many concerns the Twentieth Century Fund found that large corporations that made profits made them at lower rates than small ones, while large corporations that lost money also lost at lower rates.

In times of severe depression large corporations usually are safer than smaller ones because on the whole larger corporations get a larger proportion of their capital from stockholders and a smaller proportion from lenders than do small concerns. Borrowed capital carries interest charges that must be met as a part of the cost of doing business and heavy interest charges sometimes work a severe hardship during times of poor business.

"Easy Money," by Lionel D. Edie [Yale University press, New Haven, Conn., $2.].

The author of this book discusses the signals which must be observed during coming years by the investor, banker or business man in piloting his way through financial uncertainties caused by attempts of governments to maintain low interest rates and at the same time avoid a runaway boom.

Canada-Australia Line to Buy Two Fast Ships

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., June 25.—The Canadian Australasian Line is ready to spend in the neighborhood of $18,000,000 on two new fast ships to run between Canada and the Antipodes, and expects to be able to call for tenders in four weeks, Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, which operates Canadian Pacific steamships, said upon his return to Montreal today from England.

ACTIVE DEMAND LIFTS PRICES OF FRESH MEATS

Beef Rises 50 Cents; Veal Advances $1 Per 100.

Demand for live stock and meats continued active yesterday, with prices moving higher. Further advances of 50 cents were registered in wholesale dressed beef prices, while veal at some points sold $1 per hundred pounds higher. Demand for fresh pork, usually hampered by hot weather, was brisk, with quotations 50 cents to $1 higher.

The fact that pork and hog prices are relatively lower than beef and live cattle is stimulating retail buying of pork.

Hog Prices Advance.

Prices for live hogs under 240 pounds rose 10 to 15 cents yesterday, the day's top at $12.10 indicating a gain of 15 cents over Thursday. This was the second highest June level in eleven years. Heavier butchers, over 250 pounds in weight, and sows were slower sellers, and only steady to 5 cents higher.

The range of prices reached the widest point since last fall. The average for the session moved up 5 cents to $11.40, or 70 cents under the top, the widest spread since last October. Broadening eastern demand for hogs here indicates a growing shortage of supplies at principal eastern packing centers.

Shipments from Chicago yesterday totaled 2,500 head, the largest for a Friday since early February and 92 per cent larger than the average of the last five Fridays.

Lambs Move Higher.

Lambs were strong to 25 cents higher. City butchers gave the $12.50 top, while packers bought at $12.25 and under. New crop California shorn lambs that had been fattened in Nebraska sold for $10.25 without sorting. Yearlings sold at $9 or less, and old ewes brought $4.50 and below.

The scant supply of fed steers and yearlings cleared quickly, but there was a poorer clearance for plainer grassy stock and butcher cattle. Beef cows, grassy heifers, canners, cutters, stockers, and feeders were slow and steady to 25 cents lower. Calves and bulls held steady.

Hudson Motor May Sales Increase 45% Over April

New York, June 25.—Sales of the Hudson Motor Car company totaled 13,501 cars in May, a gain of nearly 45 per cent over sales in the preceding month, W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales announced today. Factory shipments for May were 15,331 cars, a gain of 64 per cent over April and 25 per cent above May last year.

Montana Power.

Answer: This utility company furnishes electric light, heat and power for municipal, industrial, and home use in most of the important cities of Montana, reaching 120 communities. It also supplies natural gas in fifteen cities, selling direct to several large industrial users such as Anaconda Copper. About five-sixths of gross revenue is obtained from sale of electricity.

The company is controled by the American Power and Light company, an important holding company of the Electric Bond and Share system, which owns practically all of the common stock. Other capitalization outstanding consists of 159,416 shares of $6 dividend preferred stock. Funded debt consists principally of $48,000,000 of first and refunding mortgage bonds sold in November, 1936, to replace $44,000,000 of 5 and 6 per cent obligations, and $10,589,500 of 5 per cent debentures issued to a subsidiary.

A favorable record of earnings has been made, income covering payment of interest and preferred dividends throughout the depression. In the twelve months ended March 31, 1937, gross revenues were $13,593,000 and net income was $3,567,000, or $22.38 per preferred share. Interest and other fixed charges were covered 2.42 times. The record since the depression low follows:

	Gross.	Net income.	Inc. per pfd. shr.
1936	$12,802,000	$3,306,000	$20.73
1935	11,236,000	2,608,000	16.36
1934	9,001,000	1,316,000	8.27
1933	8,936,000	1,410,000	8.86
1932	7,653,000	1,731,000	10.90

Ajax Tire and Rubber.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate knowing if the Ajax Tire and Rubber corporation is still in business or has been taken over by another company. If so, what title?—J. S. W.

Answer: Property securing the Ajax Rubber company's first sinking fund 6s, due Dec. 1, 1936, was sold at foreclosure sale in May, 1934, and bondholders received in April, 1935, a first and final distribution of $84.7817 per $1,000 bond, and $3.3912 on each $40 face value of coupons due Dec. 1, 1930. The committee formed to represent the bonds purchased certain stocks pledged under mortgage securing bonds in order to protect the name "Ajax" in corporate titles. The common stock was wiped out.
